Street Widening Contract Awarded

Swimming Season To Open June 12

A "JACK AND JILL HOUSE" is the latest type of playground equipment to be acquired for the Arlington Heights park system. This sample was installed at Evergreen park on the east side of the village several weeks ago and is receiving plenty of use from neighborhood youngsters. Several others will be purchased.

The swimming season will open in Arlington Heights six weeks from today.

For youngsters and parents counting the days until the end of school and the start of the outdoor fun season, a green brochure distributed by the Arlington Heights park system this week offers exciting prospects.

FOR THE FIRST time there will be two pools ready for use on opening day. Pioneer park pool on the south side did not open until August 10 last year. The pools will open June 12 and close Labor day, September 1.

A change in the price structure for season tickets to the pool will bring more patrons to the pool this year, hopes park superintendent Thomas Thornton.

A flat rate of $14 per family will be charged, regardless of the number of children in the family. For the past two years the family rate varied according to the size of the family. Rates unchanged are adult, $7, child, $5 and wader, $2.

Non-residents previously paid double these rates but this year they will pay the same as persons living within the park district.

"THE PARK BOARD approved the change last week because we will need about $10,000 more to operate the two pools this year," noted Thornton. He said the number of non-resident tickets may be limited if residents sign up in sufficient numbers to provide the needed $30,000 in operating funds.

Last year a total of 2,318 season passes were sold.

Another change will be a new $2 fee for swimming classes and tennis and handicraft instruction. Swimming instruction will be offered five days a week for three weeks instead of three times a week for eight weeks.

There will be no fee for swimming instruction for handicapped children, life saving classes, swimming team or water ballet or for supervised recreation activities at Recreation and Pioneer parks and the Arlington high school grounds.

NEW ACTIVITIES to be available include a tumbling class for grade schoolers at the Recreation park gymnasium, a men's 16-inch softball league, two square dances and a women's physical conditioning class three mornings a week at Pioneer park.

Application for participation in any park activities may be made in person or mailed to the park district administration office, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights.

The Editor's Column

by STUART R. PADDOCK

A lot can happen in 20 years. This week's Way Back When reports that new homes are being built in Sherwood to sell for $7,500. The big boom in Scarsdale was also in progress.

Today the home that sold for $18,000 in Scarsdale brings $30,000 to $35,000. That is not out of line, considering the worth of today's dollar.

When this editor read the Palatine Enterprise edition last week, he realized that the assistant editor who wrote the headline story is a brave man. He published the names of some prominent residents against whom the county has, or is about, to take judgments for unpaid personal property bills.

One thing is certain, there will not be so many personal property bills in Palatine township thrown into the waste basket as in other years. The collection activity will bring additional delinquent taxes to our schools.

One of the local tax collectors is receiving so many calls about tax bills he has cut off his residence phone.

He explained, "It is bad enough to get the complaints during the office hours. I want to enjoy the little time I have at home."

Car owners in Cook county do not know how fortunate they are assessmentwise. The Cook county assessor asks that township assessors assess a 1958 Ford or Chevrolet at $544. In McHenry county, the figure is nearly $1400. In Cook county cars only remain on the assessor's books five years. In McHenry county, cars eight years old are still being assessed.

The Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook county reports that receipts of the Christmas Seal sale this year were overwhelmingly larger than any other year. It attributes much of the increase to the aid given by newspapers.

We would not dare to criticize womankind, but a member of that sex in this week's Fence Post speaks some rather strong words about the part they take in Suburbia. We quote one paragraph:

"The attitude of the housewife today is what is wrong with Suburbia! Where is the understanding, love and muscle our grandmothers demonstrated? . . . Some of the women today only have the strength to handle a cup of coffee and a cigarette."

A paragraph in this week's Way Back When has several lines in the German language. It was originally published 50 years ago when a large part of our subscribers could read and speak German.

We apologize if the German reprint contains anything objectionable according to today's standards.

We think we should explain to our readers that the girl (Judy Glaser) who last Saturday distributed free dollar "bills" in the Heart of Arlington Heights, is not as crazy as she looked. In every day life she is a senior, studying dramatics in Arlington high school.

The previous week she was a clown; last week a Greta Garbo; next week, who knows?

Neither the state nor Cook county highway departments could answer our query Wednesday on how an autoist could travel south without the confusion of crisscrossing on various highways.

They agreed with the reporter that it is "some mess." Ambulances and fire departments would lose many minutes trying to negotiate the road detours which go in two directions at the same time.

Both departments promised cooperation but did not have the answer.

Evading arrest by speeding caused the death of a Palatine boy Tuesday evening. It all started when police clocked two motorcyclists traveling over 50 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone on Chicago ave., Palatine.

THIS PICTURESQUE little Okinawan family group, to be seen tonight, Friday and Saturday, in the Village Theatre Inc. production of "Teahouse of the August Moon," is also one happy family in real life. At the wheel of the jeep, hitching a ride to the village of Tobiki, is Al Wilcox, 210 S. Brighton, portraying an ancient man. Mrs. Marcelle Wilcox, seen as the old woman on top of the vehicle, is surrounded by her children, appearing in the show as her grandchildren. They are, left to right, Gregory, George, Michelle and Joan. The goat, Suki, however, is not a member of their family but one of the elaborate props for the play. The jeep was made especially for the drama by Ken De Celles.

'Bargain' Prices for Program

Widening of one mile of "model T-size" streets in downtown Arlington Heights will be done this summer — and at bargain prices.

The widening program moved out of the "proposal" stage Thursday with the awarding of a contract to the Arcole Midwest corporation of Skokie. The firm will improve 2,725 linear feet of south side streets for a bid figure of $81,368.67.

FOR VILLAGE trustees and board of local improvement members who planned for the project for years and nursed it through a series of heated public hearings in 1957, awarding of the first of three contracts was a rewarding occasion.

The delays over the months turned out to have been for the best because the cost is considerably lower than could have been obtained in summer or fall, 1957. North side bids are expected to be equally favorable.

"The contractors are competing hard for jobs and this has lowered prices on blacktop work to the 1950 figure," noted village engineer Norman Tobermann.

Tobermann said that Arcole—one of the firms working on the Northwest toll road—has not decided on a definite starting date but that it should be no more than a "few weeks" away.

THE SECOND phase of the downtown modernization program, widening of north side streets, is also moving ahead quickly at long last. Construction firms are now pouring over specifications and will enter bids in time for bid opening May 22.

With an estimated cost of $226,000, the north side project is twice as costly as on the south side, where the estimate was $115,000.

The savings melon—the winning bid was $34,000 under the engineer's estimate — will be shared by the village and private property owners.

Hugo Thal, attorney for the board of local improvements, said the public and owners of property facing streets to be widened will split the cost evenly.

The village contribution is to come from motor fuel tax funds.

ON THE SOUTH side the contractor will have to remove about 35 trees and move two traffic signals.

Vail and Evergreen aves. will be made into 48-feet-wide boulevards from Northwest highway to Sigwalt st. while Highland ave. still mostly residential, will become a 38-foot street. A section of Evergreen ave. now is 40 feet wide but the others are only 20 feet from curb to curb.

First Residential 'Y' Drive Report

Mount Prospect is leading seven communities in the current Northwest Suburban YMCA residential fund drive being conducted in this area. Announcing a total of $6,330 for Mount Prospect, Stanley C. Amren, town chairman, brought a round of loud applause at the first report meeting held last week in Prospect high school cafeteria.

Total contributions and pledges reported by all town chairmen for the residential drive was $11,039. Three communities besides Mount Prospect made reports: Arlington Heights, $1,322; Des Plaines, $2,652; Prospect Heights, $735.

WITH 1,000 volunteers calling on families in Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Inverness, Mt. Prospect, Palatine, Prospect Heights and Rolling Meadows, the campaign is in its second week and getting up steam for a comprehensive residential drive.

Several outstanding reports of division chairmen and captains were made at the meeting last week. Division chairman William K. Hunter announced a total of $2,840; Lowell Ackman, $933; Walter Clements, $881; Charles Kimball, $735; John Gobeille, $711. Mt. Prospect captain Chester Sipiora was recognized for his team total of $1,076 contributions thus far.

Arlington Heights had an individual high producer in Byron Sayre who reported $1,000 and will be honored with a 'Y' plaque.

PALATINE, INVERNESS and Rolling Meadows are not included in the $11,000 figure, as the three communities are just getting under way in their drive. Town meetings will be held this evening, Thursday, in each of the seven areas to report additional progress.

Residents are being asked to pledge on a 3-year basis a generous amount ($15-$100 per year) in order that the goal of an $878,000 'Y' building may be reached in this campaign. Already $500,000 has been pledged by local business, industry and the Metropolitan Chicago YMCA.

THE YOUNG MENS Christian Association is one of the voluntary (non-governmental) organizations of the community. The state legislature chartered the YMCA as a non-sectarian nonprofit association in 1858 to offer community programs of free-time activities and other services to meet individual and group needs. The 'Y' encourages each person in full loyalty to his own church. No more than 20 per cent of any denomination may be elected to the voting member policy group. 'Y' members and participants are boys, girls, men and women of all Christian confessions and other faiths as well.

Evanstonian, 25, Fined $100 on '56 Check Charge

An Evanston man who was served with a bad check arrest warrant when he walked out of jail last week pleaded guilty and was fined $100 in Arlington Heights magistrate court Wednesday.

Robert D. Miehls, 25, of Evanston, who completed two years in prison only last week, was charged by Arlington Heights police with passing a bad check for $42.95 in Lingren's mens wear, 17 W. Davis, in February, 1956.

HE PLEADED guilty before Magistrate William F. Neumann to a reduced charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $100 and $14 costs. He made restitution on the check. Charges are pending on him in Evanston and Winnetka.

Two Arlington Heights youths, Thomas Henry, 18, of 909 W. Campbell, and David Collignon, also 18, of 722 N. Pine, pleaded guilty to a charge of purchase or acceptance of alcoholic beverage by an under-age youth.

Police officer Maurice English testified he saw their car suddenly reverse direction while eastbound on Sigwalt st. April 19 and stopped the car. Under a towel, continued English, there were 30 cans of "Glueck Stite," a malt liquor.

IN COURT the boys stuck with the story they told police: that they had asked a man they met at McDonald's drive-in to buy the beverage for them. They said they did not know his name. Magistrate Neumann offered to reduce the charge if they would furnish a name or description of the man but the boys declined.

They had not drunk any of the extra-potent beer, said police.

Both were fined the maximum of $100 and $5 costs.

Fined $14 and costs for speeding were William T. Jablonski, 48, of 1815 N. Clarence, Arlington Heights, and James Bell, 18, of 1515 W. St. James st., Arlington Heights. Bell will pay the balance of a $50 fine if convicted of another moving traffic violation within six months.

Cyclist Killed In Police Chase

A 21-year-old Palatine cyclist attempting to outrun local police met his death Tuesday night when his borrowed motorcycle crashed into the rear of a semi-trailer at a toll road detour.

Monty E. Kacenek, 21, of 1136 S. Plum Grove rd., Palatine, a service station employee, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident on Meacham rd. a quarter mile south of Algonquin at a point where Meacham detoured around the northwest toll road.

THE DEATH was the ninth this year in the six northwest Cook county townships and the first in more than a year in Schaumburg township.

Palatine Police Officer Robert Centner clocked Kacenek and a friend Harold Sand, 243 S. Plum Grove rd., Palatine, doing 50 m.p.h. in a 30 m.p.h. zone on Northwest highway in the village. In an attempt to elude arrest, Kacenek led police on a chase through the east portion of Palatine before he headed south.

Kacanek, who failed to heed a stop sign on Meacham at Algonquin rd., had his driver's license suspended last Dec. 9 for being unable to satisfy a judgment and financial responsibility. The suspension was due to have been lifted May 9.

Council To Hear Leaders

Members of The Opportunity Council will hear national leaders of the League of United Latin American Citizens Wednesday night.

The Opportunity Council is a citizen group organized last month in an effort to meet needs of Mexican-American residents in northwest suburbs. LULAC, a national organization for Latin American citizens, recently formed a chapter in the northwest area and is working with the Council on local problems.

SPEAKERS WILL be Val Hernandez, national organizer; Robert Alaniz, district officer; and Honoratus Lopez, LULAC attorney. They will discuss some of the problems Mexican-Americans face in suburbia.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. in Pioneer Park, Arlington Heights. Public is welcome.

Progress reports from Opportunity Council working committees will also be made. John F. Sicks, Wheeling, will serve as chairman for the meeting.

Remainder is Idaho

The irregular shape of Idaho came about because all of the surrounding states had established boundaries before Idaho was created; Idaho was the remainder.

Eight Juveniles Seized In Suburban Burglaries

Delinquency petitions were filed Tuesday against eight juveniles, one from Arlington Heights and seven from Rolling Meadows, who admitted to police they were involved in a series of burglaries and break-ins.

Police believed apprehension of the boys, all aged 14 to 17, cleared up 12 burglaries and one break-in in the northwest suburbs.

A HEARING on the delinquency petitions is set for Family court in Chicago May 16. The boys were released to the custody of their parents.

Value of the cash and goods taken over a period of 19 months was estimated at more than $400, almost all of it cash, said police. One of the burglaries was committed in September, 1956, according to police, several in 1957 and the majority since January 1, 1958.

POLICE CHIEF Cecil Campbell of Rolling Meadows questioned one boy Monday and he implicated the others. Parents were called and requested to come to the station with their boys. Questioning of suspects began at 8 p.m. Monday and continued until early morning hours Tuesday. Arlington Heights, Palatine and Des Plaines police joined in the questioning.

Chief Campbell said one of the boys was involved in only one of the burglaries and none in all.

"THE BOYS worked in pairs and most of the entries were made between 6 and 11 p.m.," he added. It was not an organized "gang," noted Campbell. The boys were only "friends."

By town, the following thefts were admitted to officers: Palatine: Wood st. school, $13; Rolling Meadows, Salk school, $25 according to the school, about half that according to the boys; Arlington Heights, Webber Paint co., about $30 in 1956 and $25 in 1957; Curtis auto service, $40; St. Peter Lutheran school, $160, and Hill-Behan Lumber co., a battery charger; Des Plaines: Immanuel Lutheran church and school, $70; Des Plaines Beauty salon, $30, and St. Mary Catholic church, $15.

IN THE unincorporated area near Arlington Heights, the loss from a break-in at Gabrielsen's service station at Rand rd. and Euclid ave. reportedly amounted to $50 worth of goods and no loss was reported in a break-in at Central school in Des Plaines.

The chief said none of the parents knew of the alleged criminal activities. One of the boys attends grade school; the others are in high school.

Sidewalk Issue 'Explodes' Again

A group of northwest side Arlington Heights residents next week will circulate petitions urging the village board to require installation of sidewalks throughout the village.

At a meeting Thursday some 40 residents from the Ridge Park area overwhelmingly favored the plan for city-wide sidewalks. Many of the persons at the meeting will have to pay special assessments of several hundred dollars for installation of walks on W. Elm, W. Oakton and Vine sts. in the neighborhood.

Also included in the current program are sidewalks on W. Euclid ave. between the railway and Wilke rd. and walks on the east side of N. Ridge ave., adjoining the Arlington high school football field.

THE RIDGE-PARK Community association requested the village to install the walks on east-west streets in the area.

Hitting out at the village board policy of putting in walks in one section of the village at a time, the northwest siders' resolution asks the board to pass an ordinance requiring installation of walks everywhere within a year.

The group also criticized a policy not to enforce installation of walks at new homes where there are no other walks within a mile. In such cases the owner must indicate his willingness to construct walks when so requested in the future.

A SPOKESMAN for the petitioners, Wallace B. Daughtry, 715 W. Elm, asked: "Will a new owner or a new owner twice removed respect such an affidavit?"

The owners will meet again tonight to lay plans for the circulating of petitions.

Swipe Wheel, Tire From Parking Lot

Mrs. Vernon Scharringhausen, 1020 N. Ridge, reported to Arlington Heights police a wheel and tire were removed from her auto while it was parked outside Beverly lanes bowling alley last Wednesday evening.

A citizen, Thomas C. Pray, 1510 N. Harvard, helped police apprehend an Arlington Heights grade school pupil who was in the process of stealing his fourth auto last week. All had been left with ignition keys in.

Fire Siren's Wail Starts 'Operation Alert' Tuesday

Arlington Heights fire siren will sound its wail for three minutes at 12:45 p.m. Tuesday to signal the start of "Operation Alert-1958" a civil defense test exercise.

For the first time, all elementary and high schools in the Arlington Heights area will participate in the exercise. The only other group to participate will be the local Ground Observer corps, which will operate out of its skywatch post atop a garage at Arlington high school.

LOCAL CIVIL DEFENSE director Mrs. Albert C. Peters urged residents to learn the meaning of the wailing tone: "Take cover immediately in the best available shelter." The signal is also authorized for severe storm warnings.

When the siren goes off at 12:45 p.m., pupils in public and parochial schools will be marched into buildings from playgrounds. Where possible, pupils will march into basements. At schools without basements the students will crouch in a double line against an interior wall on the first floor.

As there will be no "all clear" signal, the duration of the test will be left to school authorities.

Thirteen nurses from the Arlington Heights Nurses club have volunteered to be at local schools for the exercise. All schools within the village and three outside the village, Forest View, and Wilson grade schools and Prospect high school, will have a nurse standing by.

THE "ATTACK PERIOD" for the nation-wide exercise is May 6-7.

Arlington Heights residents who find themselves in Palatine next Wednesday may find themselves involuntarily participating in that community's test.

When the alert siren blows in Palatine (time not announced), a 35-man corps of volunteers, including police and firemen and public works employees, will put an elaborate plan into operation.

AN EXPRESSWAY traffic system will be set up on Northwest hwy., between Chicago ave. and Baldwin rd. Southbound and cross traffic will be halted for five minutes and only northbound traffic will be permitted on the highway. Village equipment will block off side streets to prevent detours. Plans are to establish a field hospital in Paddock school with simulated injury cases.

The time of attack, expected location and size and type of bomb burst and other pertinent information will be placed in the hands of local civil defense directors in sealed envelopes, to be opened at a time specified on the envelope.

In Palatine a five-minute steady blast is the alert signal and a wailing tone for three minutes is the take-cover signal. (AF

JUDY GLASER has had a good time giving away "dollar bills" in the Heart of Arlington Heights the past two Saturdays. The "bills" are worth $1.00 on the purchase of any article in the stores named upon them. The Give Away is becoming very popular, but she will make her last appearance this Saturday.

Her costume including cigarette holder is a takeoff of Greta Garbo. Beneath the mink coat is a sack dress made out of potato sacks. The woman with the smile is Mrs. Fisher, Arlington Heights.

'Junior Populace' Keeps Arlington Society Lively

The junior populace of Arlington Heights kept the social picture alive and lively in our village during the past week with confirmation parties and birthday celebrations. Families gathered in many local homes Sunday following services at the First Methodist church of Arlington Heights where 45 children confirmed their faith and were later honored by relatives and friends.

Lynn Mathews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mathews, was the honor guest Sunday at a family dinner party for 15 in her home at 711 N. Dunton following her confirmation. Among the family members offering their blessings were Lynn's grandmother, Mrs. Eva Mathews of Minocqua, Wis., who has been visiting here with her son and family in recent weeks.

THE M. R. KEPHART family, 801 S. Evergreen, enjoyed dinner at Landl's in Morton Grove to celebrate Mirrel's confirmation.

The Lester R. Klotz family of McHenry were Sunday guests at the James Rice home, 1551 N. George, after attending Douglas' confirmation. Mrs. Klotz serves as her nephew's godmother.

Confirmand Ian Bartholomew, son of the Harvey Bartholomews, 534 S. Mitchell, received the congratulations of 35 family members at an afternoon gathering and buffet supper in his home. Among the guests was Ian's maternal grandmother, Mrs. James Stewart of Kilmarnock, Scotland, who has been visiting relatives in the Chicago area in recent months.

SEVENTEEN relatives and friends honored Gilbert La Croix, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond La Croix, 309 E. Euclid, at a late afternoon buffet in the home of his parents. His grandmother, Mrs. Pauline La Croix, was among those extending congratulations and blessings.

Sheryl Crittenden, daughter of the James Crittendens, 311 S. Dunton, was among the class of confirmands and following church services celebrated the impressive occasion at a family luncheon in the home of her parents. Eighteen Libertyville members of the family, among them Sheryl's grandmother, Mrs. H. W. Hubbard, were here to honor the young lady.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wiegand Sr. of Chicago were Sunday guests at the junior Wiegand home, 909 N. Beverly, to commemorate the occasion of their granddaughter, Mary Jane's, confirmation.

LATE APRIL birthdays and the resultant celebrations made for a gay and sometimes hilarious finale to the month. According to the guests, one of the most hilarious was a surprise birthday party given last Wednesday at the Newell Crockett home. 802 S. Chestnut, for Mary Jane Heberling on her 13th birthday.

Miss Chris Crockett and Miss Alene Posselt, class mates of Mary Jane, planned and executed the after school affair with dancing and refreshments for the 16 girls in their seventh grade class. Even the boys, who were not included in the all-girl party, helped to keep the secret and as proof that they were honorable to a man, the hostesses report the surprise was complete and hysterical.

SIX OF PATTY COOBS' fellow 4-year-olds helped her celebrate her fourth birthday Friday at an 11:30 luncheon in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Coobs, 1145 N. Mitchell.

When twins celebrate their birthday it should be twice and Sandra and Susan Nesheim, twin daughters of the Robert Nesheims, 737 S. Chestnut, were 6 years old last Friday. They enjoyed the family's congratulations at home Friday and shared the spotlight again Sunday with relatives in Lindenwood.

ERIC JOHN RADLOFF, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Radloff, Linnemann rd., was christened Sunday at St. Peter Lutheran church of Arlington Heights, with his uncle, Richard Klages, and Mary Vormittag, both of Arlington Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice English of Palatine, serving as sponsors. Friends and relatives gathered at the Radloff home following the church services to add their blessings to the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stumpf, 513 S. Highland, are home again after successive weekends out of town, visiting with relatives in Dubuque and with friends in Indianapolis. The Dubuque trip was an especially happy one that enabled the Stumpfs to be part of a family celebration honoring Mrs. Stumpf's father, Mathias Kimmich, on his 90th birthday.

RECENT GUESTS at the LeRoy Monti home, 1012 N. Highland, were Mrs. Monti's mother, Mrs. E. J. Foley, and her sister, Mrs. Robert Barrett, both of Bay City, Mich., who enjoyed a week's visit here.

Mrs. Elbert Kamp, 1119 N. Drury, out-going presidentof the woman's guild of the St. James Catholic church of Arlington Heights, was the guest of honor Monday night at a social hour in the church following the guild board meeting. Fellow board members planned the surprise get-together and presented Mrs. Kamp with a gift of appreciation.

Mrs. William Mees of Oshkosh, Wis., arrived Friday for a 2-week visit with her daughter and family, the H.O. Youngbergs, 500 S. Dunton. She motored here with a friend of her daughter's, Mrs. Lloyd Buhler also of Oshkosh, who remained with the Youngbergs for a weekend visit.

MR. AND MRS. Kenneth Gerler and Linda, 808 S. Highland, returned Saturday after two weeks in Sarasota, Fla., and a picturesque return trip through the Smoky mountains. They report ideal weather throughout their vacation and springtime scenery in the mountains that was exquisite.

Mrs. Fred Marks, 520 S. Mitchell, was the thoroughly surprised guest of honor yesterday afternoon at a bon voyage luncheon at the Old Orchard country club. Twenty-one friends and fellow members of the League of Women Voters met for luncheon and an afternoon of cards and wishing Mrs. Marks a safe and happy trip to England. Mrs. Marks, Bonnie and Peggy plan to leave for England in about two weeks to visit Mrs. Marks' family there and they will be joined by Mr. Marks early in the summer. The family will then tour the continent before returning to the states sometime in August.

Since Paris will be on the Marks' itinerary, Mrs. Marks' friends guaranteed her a Parisian hat as a farewell gift. On hand at the luncheon and marked, "Fore Joyce's Parisian Hat" was a gayly decorated hat box into which guests deposited the wherewithal for the hat. They are reported to expect a style show and a modelling of the hat by Mrs. Marks upon her return.

DOUG BURGESS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burgess, 517 S. Evergreen, is home and ready to go back to school following an operation on an infected foot early last week at Resurrection hospital.

Weekend visitors at the William Bledsoe home, 724 Fernandez, were Mrs. Bledsoe's father and his bride of three weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Kohn, who were returning from a wedding trip to Florida. They were accompanied here by Mrs. Kohn's son, Martin Migdall, a senior student at the University of Columbia. Mr. Kohn, who resided here with his daughter for several years, returned Monday with his wife to St. Louis where the couple will make its home.

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Baumann, 416 E. Euclid, have received word from their daughter, Barbara, that she has been appointed editor of the 1959 "Nugget," the year book of Colorado college, where Barbara is completing her junior year. Miss Baumann is serving this year as assistant editor of the year book in addition to her many other campus activities that include the office of corresponding secretary of the Kappa Alpha Theta society and membership on the foreign student committee, the publications board and the hall council.

WORD HAS BEEN received of the death last week of G. E. Gustafson of River Forest, husband of the former Norma Melitzer who resided in Arlington Heights for many years.

Miss Nancy Lonergan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lonergan, 1002 W. Mayfair, recently was invested with the Dominican habit at St. Catherine of Siena convent, St. Catherine, Ky. Miss Lonergan entered St. Catherine postulate last spring from Our Lady of the Wayside parish, Arlington Heights, the first vocation from her parish. Her religious name is Sister Maria della Strada.

Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Hunter of Streater were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Stahnke, 110 S. Brighton. They helped Mr. Stahnke celebrate his birthday.

WILLIAM ELKJER, 1001 Mayfair, and Allan Hutchinson, 1218 Woodford, are two Stonegate boys who are members of the Choralier group of Arlington high school which won first place award in the state music contest. Bill will graduate in June and will attend Miami university in Oxford, Ohio. Allan will also graduate in June and will attend DePauw university in Greencastle, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Rasmussen and their children, Babs and Dick, 202 Windsor, just returned from a trip to the east. They stopped to visit their son, Robert, a student at Cornell university, and then went on to Scarsdale, N. Y., to visit the family of Robert's fiancee, Miss Lynn West. Miss West is also a student at Cornell.

The Rasmussens then went on to see New York City. They watched the Pat Boone show which was a very special event for Babs, as she is an ardent Pat Boone fan and president of the Pat Boone club of Arlington Heights. From New York they went on to visit friends in Philadelphia and Easton, Pa.

MR. AND MRS. H. W. Dotts, 600 Banbury, have just returned from a trip to Europe. They traveled extensively, visiting England, France, Germany, Switzerland, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Norway, Sweden and Italy. While in London the Dotts visited and had dinner with Rev. and Mrs. P. C. Clarke. Mrs. Clarke was the former Nancy Hough of Arlington Heights. The Dotts flew back to the United States, stopping off briefly at Iceland.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Shuart Jr., 214 Stratford, April 23, at Evanston hospital.

Miss Mary Jane Kleisner, 602 E. Park, celebrated her 16th birthday on Sunday with a sweet sixteen party. Sixteen girls were invited, all classmates of Mary Jane from St. Patrick's academy, Des Plaines. All the girls wore the new chemise dresses.

MRS. T. Kleisner, 602 E. Park, held a dessert coffee on Thursday for 10 neighbors who came to bid farewell to Mrs. R. Holding, who is moving.

Mrs. H. E. Miles, 102 S. Brighton, attended a kickoff luncheon at the Saddle and Cycle for the United Charities annual benefit, Riverview Ramble. It was a gala affair, given for the ticket sellers of the various communities, by the executive board of the womens auxiliary of which Mrs. Miles is vice president.

Theme of the luncheon was "Up in the clouds" and the decorations were little angels on white clouds and parachute jumps. There was a treasure hunt in which guests searched for clues which were hidden in clouds. The treasures were handbags.

MR. AND MRS. R. Campbell, 406 S. Belmont, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ball, 454 Banbury, spent a recent weekend at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton, where they celebrated Mrs. Campbell's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Hodgkinson, 710 S. Beverly, recently returned from a 17-day trip to Florida. They spent a week at Treasure Island at St. Petersburg, four days at the Boca Raton Club and the rest of their stay at Miami Beach. The weather was very pleasant during their entire stay and they were able to do a lot of swimming and golfing.

Miss Andrea Rogozinski, 1219 Woodford, recently had a slumber party for eight classmates from St. James school.

MRS. ELMER [illegible]LIN, formerly of Arlington Heights, and now living in Connecticut was a recent guest of Mrs. J. G. Johnson, 1223 Woodford.

C. W. Tackett, who developed and built many of the homes in Stonegate and Scarsdale, died Sunday, April 28, at his home in Palm Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Skinner, 721 S. Beverly, recently returned from Lincoln, Neb. where they attended a business convention. On the way home they stopped in Keystone, Iowa and visited Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wiese.

MR. AND MRS. Steward Bohn and their daughter, Nancy, 921 S. Beverly, are back in Arlington Heights after spending the winter at their home in Florida. Their elder daughter, Barbara, a student at Clark college in Dubuque, went to Florida during the Easter vacation to be with her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jurco, 217 Windsor, attended the Lake Bluff Service League benefit at Orchestra hall. They entertained 12 friends for dinner at Kungsholm restaurant before the performance.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Livingston and their son, John, 301 Windsor, are back from a 3-month stay in Miami Beach. Mr. Livingston, who suffered with a heart ailment before he left, came back in much better health.

ROBERT WITTENBURG, 715 S. Beverly, celebrated his 14th birthday Sunday. He was also confirmed in the Methodist faith, making it an especially memorable day for him. His family celebrated with a buffet supper for 16 relatives and friends. Robert's cousin, Ricky Buesing of Palatine, who was one of the guests, also celebrated his sixth birthday.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Langout, 103 Derbyshire, April 28 at Evanston hospital. The Langouts have two other sons, John, 8, and Michael, 7. (A

Adamowski Urges Gambling Drive

(CNS) — Village presidents and police chiefs across Cook county are pondering the latest ultimatum by State's Attorney Adamowski on gambling.

In letters dispatched to the village presidents and Mayor Daley of Chicago, Adamowski urged they suspend the liquor licenses of saloons and clubs that have purchased federal gambling tax stamps.

"THE VERY purchase of a gambling stamp is prima facie evidence of an intent to violate the laws of the state of Illinois, and to protect the 'welfare of the community' you can immediately order a suspension of the liquor license of the establishments which purchased gambling stamps from the federal government," Adamowski told the mayors and village presidents, who are the local liquor control commissioners in their municipalities.

Search warrants are not necessary in such cases, Adamowski said. This procedure doesn't involve raids.

The state's attorney lashed out at gambling raids conducted without search warrants as "shadow boxing" and "so basically inept as to shock the conscience of any right-thinking citizen." School children, he said, know that "no law enforcement officials have the right to invade the sacred precincts of a citizen's home or business without a proper search warrant."

Adamowski warned he would prosecute on malfeasance charges any officials persisting in such illegal raids.

HOW PREVALENT such raids are by suburban officials wasn't disclosed by Adamowski. But it's well known downtown that Chicago police and the sheriff's office have conducted many gambling raids without search warrants for years.

Many of the 112 village presidents in Cook county were puzzled for being included on Adamowski's mailing list.

Internal Revenue Service records in Chicago show that a majority of suburbs do not pop up on lists of addresses of gambling stamp purchasers.

The federal list shows Chicago leads with 20 locations on gaming or slot machine stamps. The suburban leader in this category is Chicago Heights with 12.

On federal wagering stamps, purchased mainly by policy operators and race horse bookies, Cicero tops the list with 40, followed by Blue Island with 38 and Chicago with 24.

HERE'S HOW other suburbs rank in number of wagering stamps purchased by their residents: Chicago Heights 7, Riverdale 7, Stickney 4, and Calumet Park 4. With three each are Clearing, Berwyn, Franklin Park, Oak Park, Niles and Norwood Park township. Calumet City and Matteson have two each. With one apiece are Tinley Park, South Chicago Heights, Bellwood, Schiller Park and Bartlett.

In the gaming or slot machine stamps the standings are rounded out with Palatine 6, Calumet City 6, Berwyn 5, Des Plaines 4, and Forest Park 3. With two each are Lansing, Blue Island, Riverdale, and Cicero. With one each are Melrose Park, Maywood, Bellwood, Lyons, Park Forest, Matteson, Steger, Hazel Crest, Lemont, Thornton, and South Chicago Heights.

In some cases, the locations are in unincorporated areas but the licensee gave the nearest town as his or her mailing address.

RECORDS AT THE Chicago regional office of the Internal Revenue Service show current outstanding $250 federal gaming tax stamps in the Northwest suburbs have been purchased by the following or their representatives.

Catholic Charity Appeal May 11

Catholic Charities' Crusades of Information will go into action next week in nearly 100 parishes of the Archdiocese of Chicago.

Their objective will be to alert Catholics to the work and the needs of 87 local Catholic charitable agencies and institutions, in advance of the collection to be taken up for the Catholic Charities in all parishes on May 11.

ORGANIZED PARISH chairmen appointed by the pastors, an estimated 15,000 crusaders will visit the homes of their fellow-parishioners during the week, distribute specially-prepared literature about the Charities, and urge Catholics to give generously to the collection.

The crusades have been formed only with the pastor's consent. The crusaders themselves will not accept contributions, but will urge Catholics to give in their parish churches.

A letter from His Eminence, Samuel Cardinal Stritch, appealing for contributions to the Catholic Charities will be read to Catholics in more than 400 local parish churches next Sunday, May 4.

The letter was written before the Cardinal departed for his new assignment in Rome as head of the Catholic Church's missionary activities throughout the world. It asks Catholics to give more activities throughout the world. It asks Catholics to give more generously than ever before to the local Catholic charitable agencies in Cook and Lake counties.

THE ANNUAL collection for the Catholic Charities will be taken up the following Sunday, among the nearly two million Catholics of the Archdiocese of Chicago. Proceeds will help to defray the operating costs of the Charities' agencies and institutions for children, families, the aged, and those—such as the blind and deaf—in need of specialized services.

According to its annual report published April 10, the Catholic Charities spent $8,618,905 in 1957 to provide care and service to more than 400,000 men, women and children. An additional $2,204,645 was spent for new facilities, remodeling and major repairs, bringing total expenditures to more than $10,800,000.

Eastwood Events

Attention Eastwooders! Anyone interested in the assessment of streets and sidewalks for Miner st. should attend a meeting for that purpose at the Arlington Heights Village hall tonight; Thursday, May 1 at 8 p.m.

Mary Lou Aspengren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Aspengren, 618 N. Dryden, and Mary Elizabeth Cockrell, 905 E. Euclid, attended a pajama party with six other girls at the home of Andrea Rogozinski Friday.

Mike and Micky McDermott of Chicago spent last weekend visiting at the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Loftus, 616 N. Dryden.

The William Grashorns gave a dinner party April 27 in honor of Mrs. Grashorn's brother, Bob Brookman and his family. The evening was spent showing pictures of the Brookmans recent trip to Cuba.

GERARD ORGLER and his daughter, Barbara, 732 N. Dryden, attended a girl scout father and daughter dinner. The girls and their fathers enjoyed an evening of square dancing.

The weekend of April 19 Dee Fellows, 13, formerly of Eastwood and now of Detroit, visited Mary Elizabeth Cockrell at her home. Dee Dee was in town to attend a wedding.

A combined birthday party was attended by Mrs. LeBon of Euclid ave. and her daughters, Kris and Cathy, at the home of the girls' cousin, David Hall, 3, in Park Ridge. The party was also in honor of Kris, who, will celebrate her third birthday in May.

ST. MATTHEW Lutheran church, Barrington, was the scene of Beverly Magnussen's marriage to James Henderson. The wedding took place at 4 o'clock, April 12, which was also Mr. Magnussen's birthday. A reception for 125 people was held at Hartman's reataurant. The couple honeymooned in Niagara Falls, and is now at home in Rolling Meadows. Beverly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Magnussen, 622 N. Dryden.

Denny Moore, freshman at Bradley University, Peoria, spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Pownall, Euclid ave., for the weekend were Carol Dunn of Lake Forest and JoAnne Freeman of Lake Bluff, from the Presbyterian church of Lake Forest. The girls were in Arlington Heights for an Older Girl's conference of the Chicago Presbytery which met at the First Presbyterian church in the village. Discussions were held and officers elected for next year.

Mrs. Virginia Heitz, 219 N. Beverly, and her mother, Mrs. Irene Beauchamp, with Mrs. Robert Clark Sr. and Mrs. Robert Clark Jr. of Portage Park traveled to Champaign to visit Robert Clark III, who is attending the University of Illinois.

A FAMILY dinner party was held in honor of the 11th birthday of Susan Heitz April 27.

Entertaining Eastwood bridge tournament for April were Marguerite and Bob Scott. The other couples attending were the Dick Vlaches, the Homer Nielsens and the Ken Dougans.

Rusty Walters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Walters, 425 N. Douglas, was confirmed Sunday in the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights. After the services, a party for friends and relatives was given in Rusty's honor.

The next Eastwood association meeting will be held Tuesday, May 6, at 8 p.m., at Recreation Park field house. (A

Publishers Tour Illinois' Parks

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Paddock got a good look at Illinois' natural beauty last weekend. The vice-president of Paddock Publications and his wife were part of a group of newspaper editors and publishers who were given a two day tour of Illinois' state parks.

Sponsored by the Department of Conservation, in cooperation with the Chicago Motor club, the group saw a large section of the state. Tour was sponsored to acquaint newspapermen with public recreational facilities and historic centers of interest in Illinois.

THE TRIP began at 8 a.m. Saturday, April 26, when the tourists boarded a bus in Aurora. A continental breakfast was served before departure via U. S. 30 to U. S. 66.

Leaving Springfield, the travelers headed for their main objective, Pere Marquette State Park, near Grafton. Pere Marquette, largest of all Illinois State parks, served as overnight headquarters.

After dinner in the lodge dining room, the editors and publishers were greeted by officials of the Illinois Department of Conservation and were shown the State Parks motion picture.

AN ENJOYABLE part of the stay at Pere Marquette was an automobile tour of park's 5,180 acres.

Following church and breakfast Sunday morning the bus, again laden with passengers, made its way to Siloam Springs State Park in Adams county. After a tour of the park, the group enjoyed an outdoor lunch where lunch was served in the Fleetwood restaurant. Refreshed, the newsmen and their wives toured the state capital, visiting Lincoln's Home and viewing the beautiful Lincoln Monument and Oak Ridge Cemetery.

Back in their seats again, the journalists were taken to newest undertaking of the Illinois Conservation department, the new Illinois Lake State Park, now under construction following 1955 legislature. Although a newcomer, the park site was not found lacking in natural beauty. Located north of Kewanee, the novice will be initiated this summer.

Having been converted into a busload of naturalists, the publishers returned to Aurora, completing a junket of over 600 miles. (B8

Lutherans Choose New Church Name

Members of Our Saviour Lutheran church, Schoenbeck and Palatine rds. Prospect Heights, last week agreed to change the name of the church to Our Redeemer Lutheran.

The name was chosen after the church membership was polled for suggestions and afterwards presented with a list of the most popular ones.

The change was made necessary by the proximity of Our Saviour Lutheran church, Arlington Heights. A group in Prospect Heights selected the same name a short time after Lutherans in Arlington Heights had named their church.

DURING THE SHORT history of the two churches, considerable confusion in identity has developed, according to the Rev. Paul F. Goetting, pastor of Our Redeemer Lutheran church.

Within the next few months Our Redeemer plans to break ground for the construction of a church and social-Sunday school hall, Schoenbeck and Palatine rds.

Until the new church is completed, services will continue to be held at Prospect Heights public school. (ACM

Suburban Garden Council Proposed

A group of active members of the Chicago Horticultural society is leading a movement to establish a suburban garden council in this area.

Purpose is to provide year-round garden service and information especially tailored by the society for the convenience and needs of residents of the northwest suburbs. All residents of Palatine, Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows, Mt. Prospect, Barrington, Des Plaines, Park Ridge, and neighboring suburbs are invited to join.

AMONG ACTIVITIES contemplated are garden sessions in spring and fall, led by recognized specialists in the subjects to be discussed, and including interchange of ideas and experiences among the members. There will also be visits to neighboring gardens distinguished for their excellence and the lessons they provide for others.

An organization committee has been formed to complete initial plans for setting up the Northwest Suburban council and for recruiting members. This committee held its first meeting on Wednesday, April 30, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald V. Walters, 305 Lonsdale rd., Prospect Heights.

All events and services of the council will be free of charge to those who now are, or who later become, active members of the Chicago Horticultural society.

FRED G. HEUCHLING, executive secretary of the Chicago society, explained that "The council is not being formed to replace the excellent garden clubs that exist in some of the northwest suburbs; instead it is intended to use its influence to strengthen them by increasing garden activity and interest."

The council will spread over all the territory and conduct events and services for the whole area, without relation to individual towns or villages and without social implications.

Members of the organization committee, which is being enlarged, are Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph J. Mohr, 602 E. Chicago, Palatine; Joseph Babs, 507 N. Douglas, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Louis Brabec, 409 Go-Wando, Mt. Prospect; Thomas F. Fussell, 331 S. Forrest, Arlington Heights; N. M. Graves, 106 E. Clarendon, Prospect Heights; W. R. Greene, 909 Highland rd., Mundelein;

OTTO KOPP, 9 Kenilworth, Prospect Heights; Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Scharringhausen, 396 N. Quentins rd., Palatine; Mrs. Florence Selke, 3708 Oriole ln., Rolling Meadows; and Mrs. D. V. Walters, 305 Lonsdale rd., Prospect Heights.

A phone call to any one of these members will bring full information to anyone wishing to join the council and the society.

Doll Collection Highlights Mother-Daughter Banquet

Mrs. E. H. Hildebrandt of Wilmette, will speak and display some of her collection of 300 dolls at the annual mother and daughter banquet of the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free church Saturday, May 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Hildebrandt have recently returned from the Near East where they travelled throughout the Holy Land and many other places of interest, including Egypt, Lebanon, Syria and Iraq. Mr. Hildebrandt, associate professor of mathematics at Northwestern university was awarded a Fulbright lectureship of Iraq for 1956-57, where he taught at the Higher Teachers Training college at the University of Baghdad.

MRS. HILDEBRANDT was particularly interested in the condition of women and children in Arab lands and during the trip she added to her collection of dolls.

The mother of four children, Mrs. Hildebrandt spoke from experience when she recently presented a series on "Teenage Problems" over radio station WMBI. She is now engaged in a series on "Lesser Known Women of the Bible" over this same station.

Mrs. John Holt will be toastmistress. Musical numbers will include: a piano solo by Miss Gayle Travers, a tribute to mothers by a girls' chorus, a tribute to daughters by the Ladies' Trio and instrumental music by a stringed ensemble with Mrs. Merwyn Reis, soloist. (AMP

Along the Camp Fire Trail

by Dorothy Schomburg — CLearbrook 3-7017

Camp Rally

Mt. Prospect district of Camp Fire Girls will be host to the Arlington, Mt. Prospect and Palatine communities at a combined camp rally May 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the South Community Baptist church, 501 S. Emerson, Mt. Prospect.

Colored movies and slides of Camp Tiyalaka, Camp Fire Girls resident camp at Westfield, Wis. will be shown and registrations for the various sessions will be taken. All Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls and their parents are invited. Four one-week camping sessions, two 2-week sessions and a family camping week will be offered during the 1958 season which begins June 28 and extends to August 30.

Otyokwa Camp Fire Girls entertained at a mother-dad party Friday evening, April 18, at Central school. Fifteen girls participated in the program which consisted of a talent show and group singing. The girls served punch and cup cakes which they had prepared. The party fulfilled a requirement for wood gatherer's rank. Mrs. Paul Almy and Mrs. H. Lars Bjorklund are co-guardians of the fifth grade group.

Participating in the project were Cynthia Almy, Linda Bailey, Beverly Bjorklund, Barbara Butkowski, Lael Cropper, Margaret Graham, Valerie Green, Sharon Hivon, Laurel Ibbotson, Linda Kadlec, Susan Kozlowski, Rosemary Lanzendorf, Carol Muller, Hope Spruance, Marjorie Stavinoga and Catherine Whitcomb.

MT. PROSPECT Camp Fire Girls' annual fashion show took place Friday, April 25, at 8 p.m. in the Central school. Spring and summer styles, presented by Mrs. Richard McMahon of McMahon dry goods store, were modeled by members of 14 Camp Fire groups. Describing costumes was Mrs. Herbert Herrmann, fashion commentator for Carson, Pirie, Scott and Co. and the young models were coached by Mrs. Robert Busse.

Mrs. James Viger, chairman of the affair, used international friendship as the theme of this year's presentation. Flags of all nations formed the background on stage and geraniums bordered the runway. Ushers dressed in costumes of the Orient, Holland, India and Hawaii. Several Blue Bird groups performed during intermission periods and Carter Music shop provided organ accompaniment for the showing of the latest fashions.

South Mount Prospect

Odakizu Camp Fire Girls held their final council fire Wednesday to receive honor beads and to reflect on the memories of their six years together under the leadership of Mrs. Walter Schroeder. For this impressive ceremony, a spring theme was used and tulips and candles decorated the table.

Mrs. Edward Poulson conducted the ceremony and Mrs. W. Stanton Deming presented honor beads earned in the seven crafts. Mrs. Poulson and Mrs. Deming are co-guardians of the seventh grade girls. Mrs. Schroeder, guardian of the group, spoke to the girls, expressing her delight in having been able to walk with them "along the Camp Fire trail" and of the many pleasures enjoyed together in their three years of Blue Birds and the ensuing three years in Camp Fire.

JOYCE DEMING and Dottie Schroeder were guests of the Chicago Area council at the annual dinner meeting held April 15 in Henrici's in the Merchandise Mart. Both girls were cited for exceptional work in attaining their torch bearer's ranks in business and aviation.

Joyce, in addition to receiving the national honor in business, earned the national thrift honor. Dottie received the national thrift honor and the national honor in aviation. Patty Poulson's Indian lore rank and Fleury Viger's art rank have also been presented for national honors.

Forest View

Cheekata Camp Fire Girls made May baskets at their last group meeting. Small milk cartons lined with foil, decorated with crepe paper and filled with pansies will be delivered today, May day, to shut-ins in the Forest View area.

North Arlington Hts —10 x ital

At their Tuesday meeting, the Minnetonka Blue Birds prepared gifts to be distributed on May day. Sachet bags of pastel colors were made and placed in miniature baskets. Tiny artificial flowers were also put in the baskets which were tied with pink satin bows. A cupcake treat was brought by Kathy Lyons and games were played.

South Arlington Heights

Merry Blue Birds meeting at Pioneer Park fieldhouse on April 21, selected the following new officers: president, Sandy Ormsbee; vice president, Jo Ellen Ottengheime; secretary, Bonnie Marks; treasurer, Candy Ormsbee; helpers, Ann Olsen and Linda Lorenz. Linda provided the treat and the girls began their handicraft project of making oilcloth sit-upons.

TWENTY CAMP FIRE and Blue Bird groups are engaged in their annual service project of making and delivering May baskets to the community's shutins in hospitals, nursing homes and old peoples homes. The girls are also remembering the many individuals and organizations who have so generously aided the Camp Fire program.

It is the girls' way of saying "thanks" for all they have derived from a wonderful leisure-time activity program and it is hoped that their small gesture will brighten the day for all who receive their small parcels of spring.

DAY CAMP training course and a forest preserve field trip have been in the offing during the past two weeks with 45 leaders, co-leaders, sponsors and interested mothers taking advantage of the basic outdoor training to qualify them as counselors and aides in the summer camping program. Day camp training was held in two sessions at Pioneer Park April 16 and 23 and covered basic knowledge of camp life as well as advanced cooking and campcraft.

A special outdoor handicraft session will be held Wednesday, May 14, at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. M. R. Kephart, 801 S. Evergreen. (B8

Maywood Motorist, Eighth Traffic Fatality

A 53-year-old Maywood man became the eighth traffic fatality in northwest Cook county Saturday when he succumbed to injuries received when his auto left Algonquin rd. near Bateman rd. in Barrington township late Friday.

In addition, 14 other persons were injured in eight other automobile accidents throughout the six northwest suburban townships in Cook county.

GOTTLIEB LEHMING, 53, 208 S. 20th ave., Maywood, died in Sherman hospital, Elgin, Saturday afternoon, becoming the first traffic fatality in Barrington township this year.

According to state police, Lehming, who was headed east, may have gone to sleep at the wheel of his car. Lehming's dog, riding with him, was killed instantly.

Lehming was in severe shock when admitted to the hospital. He suffered numerous cuts about the head and face, a skull fracture, compound fracture of the right leg and other injuries.

Four persons, including two children, were rushed to Resurrection hospital following a collision at River rd. and Euclid Tuesday, April 22.

Admitted to Resurrection hospital were Paula Tokoph, 23, 8911 Niles Center rd., Skokie; La Vonne D. Klimes, 26, 6139 Archer ave., Summitt; Kerry Klimes, 4, and Kary Klimes, 3, both of the Summitt address.

COOK COUNTY sheriff's police report that the northbound Klimes auto hit the side of the Tokoph car which was westbound on Euclid. The Klimes vehicle, a 1955 model, was a total loss and damage to the Tokoph car was estimated at $2,000.

Joseph Meske, 49, and Celia Meske, 63, both of 1122 Kinyon, South Bend, Ind., were taken to Sherman hospital Tuesday, April 22, after their auto and another collided on Golf rd. about 3½ miles west of Higgins rd.

State police said a car driven by Claude W. Cully, 32, 1153 Iroquois rd., Elgin, stopped for a barricade on the road and was struck from the rear by a car driven by Joseph Meske. Meske was issued a ticket for following too close. Both cars had $300 damage.

THREE PERSONS were injured when two cars collided at Milwaukee ave. and Palatine rd. Saturday. Injured were George W. Grove, 36, 3755 W. Grove, Northbrook; Cornelius S. Ryan, 37, 1766 Grove st., Glenview; and Vera Jean James, 31, 3757 Grove, Northbrook.

Grove was issued a ticket by state police for disobeying a red light at the intersection. At the time of the mishap, Grove was eastbound on Palatine rd. and Ryan southbound on Milwaukee. Damage to each car was placed at $400.

Three days earlier and a block further south on Milwaukee ave., one person was slightly injured in a four-car collision. Injured was William C. Hatch, 28, 2106 Elsmoor drive, Deerfield.

Cars driven by Anna Trowbridge, 58, 172 Eagle Point rd., Fox Lake, Arthur G. Arispe, 28, 31 S. Lincoln, Mundelein, and Hatch, and a parked car belonging to Norman Granceltz, 43, Box 358, Wheeling, were involved in a rear end collision. Damage to the Trowbridge car was estimated at $500, to the Hatch vehicle at $300, and to the Arispe and Cranceltz autos at $50 each.

BETTY J. FLETCHER, 24, 1420 Greenwood, Evanston, was taken to Resurrection hospital following a collision of a car she was driving with one driven by Carroll L. Knudson, 27, 107 E. Golf rd., Mt. Prospect Sunday on Golf rd. 200 feet west of Mt. Prospect rd.

According to state police, the Fletcher car was proceeding west on Golf rd. when it stopped for a turning vehicle and was hit in the side by the Knudson car. Damage to the Fletcher auto was placed at $100.

Robert H. Lutz, 19, Hagers Bend, Algonquin, was to see his own doctor, for injuries received when his car left Milwaukee rd. a quarter mile south of Central rd. and hit an abutment. Lutz' 1951 model car was a total loss.

Mae Camile Doak, 31, 5920 Carpenter, Downers Grove, was to see her own doctor following a collision on Northwest hwy. near Quentin rd.

STATE POLICE said a car driven by Gordon A. Doak, 35, of the Downers Grove address, was headed west on Northwest hwy. when struck by one driven by Jack J. Cook, 51, 263 Quentin rd., Palatine, which was pulling onto the highway.

Cook was charged with driving while intoxicated. Damage to the Doak car was set at $400 and the Cook car was declared a total loss.

Annette E. Sheldon, 7835 S. Bishop, Chicago, was to have seen her own doctor following a collision on Higgins rd. 75 feet east of Oakton st.

State police reported that a car driven by William Sheldon, 34, 7835 S. Bishop, Chicago, was struck in the side by one driven by Nathan M. Manning, 18, 303 York rd., Bensenville, which was pulling out of a gas station driveway. Damage to the Sheldon car was placed at $300 and the Manning vehicle at $150. (B8

Tollway Financing Completed Monday

The additional financing needed to finish construction of the 187-mile Illinois Tollway on schedule was completed Monday with the sale of $64,000,000 in revenue bonds by the Illinois State Toll Highway commission.

The bonds, dated as of January 1, 1958, bear a coupon rate of 4 and ¾ per cent and mature in 40 years.

They were sold to a banking group comprised of 66 of the nation's leading investment banking firms headed by Glore, Forgan and company as manager and Halsey, Stuart and Co., Inc., as co-manager.

MEMBERS OF THE group invested their funds to buy the bonds at 95.90 per cent of par and are to re-offer them for public sale through dealers at $99.50 per $100 of face value.

Meeting in a special session this morning, the commission completed a contract with the banking group, delivered the bonds, and received payment in the amount of $62,364,000. Commission members present were Austin L. Wyman, chairman; Charles M. Burgess, and Orville Taylor.

The amount received by the commission represents $61,376,000 as principal of the issue at 95.90 per cent of par plus $988,000 as accumulated interest for the period of January 1 to date. Immediate re-investment of the funds in federal securities was authorized by the commission.

Wyman said that the banking group, in committing its own funds to assure the sale of the bonds, had demonstrated a strong feeling of obligation to the original investors and had confirmed their faith in the financial soundness of the project.

THE AMOUNT OF the bond issue is allocated as follows: $38,682,350 for project cost deficit, $11,477,936 as contingency reserve; $11,139,714 as funded interest for this issue as well as the previous bond issue through July 1, 1960; and $2,700,000 as bond discount and financing costs. The new issue will be on full parity with the bonds previously issued which amount of $377,279,000 and bear 3 and ¾ per cent interest.

Distribution of financing costs of the issue per $100 of value is as follows: Received by the commission, $95.90. The banking group is obligated to re-offer the bonds to dealers at a maximum compensation of $1.00 per $100 plus 60 cents as expenses and management fee. The dealers, offering the bonds for public sale at $99.50 per $100 value, receive $2.00 per $100 for their participation.

WYMAN SAID that the terms of the bond sale were recommended and approved by the commission's financial advisory committee consisting of Willis Gale, chairman of the board of Commonwealth Edison company; Mark A. Brown, former president, Harris Trust & Savings bank, and Clifford S. Young, former president, Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

Because of a requirement that the commission certify that there is no litigation pending that should affect the validity of the bonds, the meeting was convened at 7 a.m. this morning, prior to the opening of courts of record throughout the state. During the weekend, commission legal representatives checked the dockets of each of more than 150 courts of law to enable this certification to be provided. (B8

Two Catholic Youths Only Merit Scholars in Area

An Arlington Heights boy and a Roselle boy were recently named winners of National Merit Scholarships.

Michael Joseph Cummings, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cummings, 821 N. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, was awarded a scholarship sponsored by the National Merit foundation itself. Michael Dean Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sullivan, 472 W. Woodworth pl., Roselle, will be sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck foundation.

CUMMINGS, A SENIOR at Campion Jesuit high school, Prairie du Chien, Wis., plans to enter the University of Notre Dame, where he will major in physics and plan a career in commercial research.

Sullivan, a senior at St. Edward high school, also plans to enter Notre Dame. He will major in business administration and plans a career in business or teaching.

Announcement of over 1,000 scholarship winners climaxed an intensive academic talent hunt by the Merit foundation. Over 256,000 students, about 17 per cent of the country's high school seniors, entered the competition, representing 13,750 high schools. Winners achieved extremely high scores on two rigorous college aptitude tests, and displayed high personal achievement in winning the most sought-after awards available to high school students.

FUNDS PROVIDED with each scholarship depend upon the need of each individual winner, and the scholarships continue for the four undergraduate college years.

Michael Cummings has a long list of honors won at the Wisconsin Catholic high school. A member of the National Forensics League, he received the Highest Honors in Scholarship award, award for highest average maintained through the year (10th and 11th grades), served as president of the Campion Astronomical society, vice president of the Campion Music Appreciation society, worked on the school paper, and was a member of Science club.

"Mike" lists as his favorite hobbies, reading, writing and scientific projects.

MICHAEL SULLIVAN, a holder of a four year high school scholarship at St. Edward, is an officer in the National Honor Society, president of the Catholic Youth club, member of the football and basketball teams, and belongs to student council and Boy Scouts.

The Roselle youth's hobbies are sports, such as football, golf, baseball, and basketball.

WHY WONDER? PHONE.

This column keeps reminding people of questions to fire at LANDWEHR TV. We like it.

Here are two that could be important for television set owners.

"Can a TV antenna be painted to match the color of the house?"

"Should I turn the channel selector in only one direction?"

Yes, you can paint your antenna any color you wish, but please, not the insulator.

No, you can turn your channel selector in either direction. It doesn't matter, but too much changing of stations does eventually wear out the contacts.

And yes, we do specialize in all kinds of electronic services. Phone CLearbrook 5-0700. You'll like our methods as your neighbors do.

'You Can Count On Her'

by Betty Thackery — CLearbrook 3-1916

North Palatine

Troop 294 presented a skit entitled, "Project-Toy Cart" at the evening get-together at the First Methodist church in Palatine April 24. Cast members were Carol Dunlaney, Holly Collins, Sharon Klein, Karen Madsen and Pat Patarich.

Mrs. Robert Dunlaney soloed the theme song, "A Little Lamb Sought Shelter." Mrs. Charles Collins, troop committee chairman, played the part of a leader.

The troop has just finished working on the world trefoil badge incorporating travel folders, a trip through United Nations, pen pals and the history of scouting and guiding internationally.

Finale of the month will be a cook-out at the Collins' residence on Meacham rd.

South Mount Prospect

Girl Scout troop 235 held annual father and daughter dinner Tuesday, April 22, at the VFW club rooms in Mt. Prospect. Susan Wille welcomed the fathers and Kathy Strong asked the blessing.

After dinner, Gail Hendricks announced the program that consisted of a candlelight ceremony in which the promise and laws were reviewed. The presentation of badges and 5-year pins was the highlight of the program. A total of 60 badges were rewarded in addition to 16 5-year pins. The girls then completetely surprised their leader, Mrs. J. A. Torrens, when Holly Wieber, as the spokesman, presented her with a dozen roses.

FUN PART OF the program consisted of Name Bingo. The fathers entered into the fun of the evening when they donned head pieces their daughters had made for them representing their occupations. The winner was a miniature barbecue complete with weiners mounted on an old hat.

In preparation for making its 50th anniversary movie, the Girl Scout audio-visual Aids service is collecting old photographs and film footage taken from 1912 up to 1950. To make the movie complete historically, help is needed from everyone in scouting to find picture treasures.

PICTURES NEEDED: Treasure one . . . Find out which women in each community are "old scouts"—that is, girl scouts in the earlier years. Ask them to hunt up photographs taken during those years—pictures of their troops, their camp days, special events or parties, themselves in uniforms and with groups of friends. If a local paper carried a girl scout write-up with pictures sometime in the past, secure a copy of that.

TREASURE TWO . . . Second part of the treasure hunt is a search for a family with three living generations of scouts — grandmother, mother and daughter.

Neighborhood chairman should be contacted by any scout who finds any of these treasures. (B8

Annual Pan-Language Feast Delights Palates May 8

Language students at Arlington high school are all headed for the same place May 8, but seem a bit confused about where they're going.

Latin students claim an evening of "Panem et Circenses," German students assert "Essen und Trinken," Spanish speakers insist "Pan y vino al aire libre," and the French are holding out for "Poule au Pot tous les Dimanche."

REGARDLESS OF THE title, Arlington's annual Pan-Language banquet, which actually boils down to "Delighting the Palate and Enjoying Entertainment Outdoors," is the destination.

Sidewalk cafes, patios with flowers, and court yards with fountains will help create a "continental" atmosphere.

Students of foreign languages annually plan this event to spend an evening speaking their new-learned languages and enjoying "European" entertainment.

ON SCHEDULE FOR the program are various acts by the four linguistic clubs. After the skits the assemblage will join in a community sing. Bill Roosen, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Roosen 314 N. Elmhurst, Mt. Prospect, will be master of ceremonies.

Mr. and Mrs. Vitu, of the French Tourist bureau will be one pair of distinguished guests this year. Several foreign students at Northwestern university will also attend.

Students' dress will represent the country whose language they are studying. A dinner of foreign foods will be preceded by the traditional toasts by the presidents of the four clubs. (ACM

A NEW ARRIVAL at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shaw is David Matthew, who was born April 3 in St. Joseph hospital, Elgin. He weighed 7 pounds 2 ounces at birth. David has two brothers and two sisters and will be baptized Sunday, May 4, in St. James Catholic church.

David Jevne celebrated his 13th birthday a day early, Sunday, at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wood of Barrington. Also present were David's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jevne, his brother, Ricky, and an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Garry of Crystal Lake. (B8

Wilson School Youngsters In Operetta

"The Magic Piper," an operetta, will be presented by children of the first three grades in Wilson school on Friday afternoon, May 2, at 1 p.m. for the student assembly and on Sunday afternoon, May 4, at 3 p.m. for parents and friends.

The part of the Pied Piper will be sung by Jeffrey Nelsen ofthe second grade. Other solo parts will be sung by James Strobach, Cathleen Taylor, Dirk Christiansen, Thomas Nelsen, Carol Kuhl, Gary Altergott, Jane Hult and Christine Baker.

The operetta will be staged in the style of the "theatre in the round" with the stage placed in the center of the Wilson school multi-purpose room and the audience seated around it. Program announcer will be Henry Silver.

The operetta is being presented under the guidance of the primary teachers, Jean Angley, Bernice Gaul, Juanita Whiteside and Ridgely Jackson. (B8

Round 'n About Westgate

Mrs. Don Martinson, 1508 Miner, announces the organization of another Westgate Brownie troop which will become active this fall. Meetings will be held weekly and girls 7 to 9 years old are eligible. There is room for several more girls in this new troop and parents who are interested should call Mrs. Martinson, Cl 5-2418.

Most recent addition to the family of Diane and Harold Rothery, 1514 Fremont, is a daughter, as yet unnamed. She arrived April 28 in Elmhurst Memorial hospital and weighed 10 pounds two ounces. Sister, Kim, and brother, Chip, await her arrival home. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. David Stagg of Round Lake.

Their first child is a boy for Casey and Frank Minaglia, 1712 Fremont. Matthew John weighed nine pounds two ounces on his birth April 20 in Resurrection hospital.

FRAN AND BILL Johnston's daughter, Cissy, turned seven Monday and was feted at an after school party. Friends on hand for games and refreshments were Barbara and Michael Madden, Sheryl Smith, Kirk Verbeck and Renee, Kathy and Billy Johnston.

Newly four and proud of the fact is Pamela Graczyk, daughter of Bert and Andy Graczyk, 1417 Fremont. Guests at her Saturday luncheon party were Dennis Agnes, Candy and Blake Burkett, Maureen Callahan, Ricky Hebard, Raymond Herigodt, Linda Huster, Kim Rothery, Stephanie and Boppy Stein and Patricia Townsend.

Fun was the keynote at the mostly masculine party celebrating Bruce McMurry's eighth birthday Saturday. Luncheon guests included Michael Madden, F. J. Heinz, R. J. Collins, Timmie Timson, Tommy Winkler, Lee Brown, Vaughn Abbott and Sherry and Scott McMurry. Bruce is the son of Fern and Jean McMurry, 1415 Euclid.

THE POPULATION of Arlington swelled by 200 over the weekend when the Older Girls' Conference of the Chicago Presbytery held their meetings at First Presbyterian Church. Four of these young ladies were weekend guests in Westgate homes. With Lois and Vic Graham, 1420 St. James, were Lois' cousin, Carole Evans, and Bonnie Gross, both of the Chicago area. Sharing the home of Jay and John Vork, 415 Yale, were Jill Janssen of Downers Grove and Sue Webb of Hinsdale. Fourteen young people returned with Karen Vork to conclude a pleasant (?) evening viewing "shock theater." Both families enjoyed this experience and attest to the fun, fashion and fervor of life with teenagers.

The PTA Minstrel show has come and gone, yet some are still chucking and impressed with the talents of local thespians. Three Westgate couples—Louise and Ken Smith, Dorothy and Herb Stokes and Marion and Pete Keefer—attended the buffet supper for the cast and orchestra where they were entertained with colored slides taken during dress rehearsal.

RETURNED FROM two weeks in St. Petersburg, Fla., are Pat and John Witzig and youngsters, Susie, Jay and Cricket, 316 S. Yale. The family takes great delight in deep sea fishing and the gulf stream was especially good to them with a yield of 30 pounds of blue runners. They stayed with John's folks, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Witzig, who make their home in St. Petersburg.

Hosts recently at a buffet supper and bridge party were Ken and Louise Smith, 1515 Euclid. Their guests were Jane and Ed Quigley, Lois and Carl Anderson and Norma and Bill Thomas.

Enjoying an evening of pinochle with Estelle and Chuck Baranowski, 239 Yale, Saturday evening were Eleanor and Bud DeZonna, Elaine and Dick Hoppe and Elinor and Howard Huff.

They turned the clocks ahead Saturday night and the evening "got later quicker" for dinner and party guests of Dolly and Frank De Rosa, 235 Yale. Friends reluctant to see the evening end were Kay and Bob Alm and Jane and Ed Quigley.

Sincere sympathy is extended to Audrey Heidenson, 1421 St. James, on the recent death of her father.

JUNE 22 MIGHT seem a long time off, but reservations are now being accepted for the Sunday golf outing at Old Orchard. Tee offs start at 1:30, the course will accommodate just so many, so make reservations now by calling Dick Burkett at Cl 3-6217. Price per couple will include a buffet dinner and dancing at the club that evening.

This is your reporter's final column and future Westgate news will be handled by a capable and enthusiastic young lady. Miss Karen Lohr is a sophomore at Arlington high school and lives with her parents at 29 S. Yale in Westgate. 2. This has been a pleasant association and continued cooperation will make it so for Karen. Please call her with news items at Cl 3-5301. (A

Board OKs Option on Fifth High School Building Site

Arlington high school district 214 this week acquired option on a 40-acre plot of land in Elk Grove township to keep pace with its long range expansion plans.

The land is located on Goebbert rd., three quarters of a mile east of State rd., and a half mile north of the tollway.

BASED ON PRESENT policy of expansion, a school would be built to accommodate a four-year high school with enrollment of 2,500. The new school would serve Elk Grove township between the tollway and Central rd., Arlington Heights south of Central rd., and Rolling Meadows south of Kirchhoff rd.

The Arlington district 214 board of education approved a six-month option on the land. It is now owned by Louis Goebbert.

Centex Construction co., developers of Elk Grove Village, holds the option of another 40 acres in Elk Grove on the east side of State rd., at the intersection of Biesterfield, south of the tollway. This also is intended as a future high school site. The two schools would be three miles apart.

A FAR-REACHING survey made by the board, and a detailed study furnished by Northwestern university, indicated that the school district would have between 15,000 and 18,000 students of high school age by 1975.

To prepare for this phenomenal growth, the Arlington school district has been acquiring option on land, or buying land outright, before prices skyrocket to prohibitive proportions.

The ultimate plan is to operate six four-year high schools in the district, each with an enrollment of 2,500.

The Arlington high school is one, the Prospect high school is another and a third is planned on a Hintz road site owned in Wheeling township.

COMBINED with the Goebbert site and the Centex site, that gives the board five sites. A sixth site, now under consideration, will complete the expansion program.

The board's studies indicated that both of the present high schools — Arlington and Prospect —will reach capacity enrollment of 2,500 by the fall of 1960. (AF

Monthly News

A message from George Harris, "Your Pharmacist"

THERE ARE MANY SPECIAL EVENTS DURING MAY.

Beginning with May Day, which is also Child Health Day, there are national weeks for Correct Posture, Be Kind To Animals, Goodwill, Foot Health, Fishing, National Defense, Girls Clubs, Hospitals, Sunday Schools, Pickles and even Rabbits. May is United Cerebral Palsy Month and, of course, consecrates Memorial Day on the 30th.

MOTHER'S DAY, MAY 11th, IS ONE DAY EVERYBODY CELEBRATES.

Appropriately, we all remind ourselves that without Mothers, none of us would be here. We'll give Fathers a little credit next month, but this one day, at least, Mother is queen.

OUR PHARMACY IS MOTHER'S PERMANENT HELPER.

She visits us often to secure the many health-aids that keep her loved ones well. When sickness strikes a member of her flock, mother entrusts us with the compounding of the prescriptions her physician prescribes.

MOTHERS KNOW THAT PHARMACISTS ARE DEDICATED TO THEIR BETTER HEALTH.

We hope that they will come to us for any information or help a pharmacy can ethically supply.

CORA DORNAN

Thanks to the cooperation of a wonderful boss, George Harris, it has been my good fortune to build a large luncheon business at Harris Pharmacy.

We firmly believe, by catering to your demands, we have formed the "Secret of Our Success." We realize that many of you do not have a lot of time and do not wish to spend a lot of money at lunch time. Therefore, we are attempting to give you good, wholesome food at prices that everyone can afford. You can select most any sandwich you like, as well as a good substantial warm meal. Remember, we are attempting to bring you good food at moderate prices and, at the same time, give you excellent service.

If you haven't tried the Harris Pharmacy Fountain Luncheonette, please do, as we believe you will be more than satisfied. If we please you, kindly tell others; if you are not pleased, kindly tell us.

Arlington Greens

New residents of Arlington Greens are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Williamson and their daughters, Nancy, 18, Suzanne, 9, and Peggy, 7. The family, formerly of Chicago, moved into their new home at 602 E. Oakton last weekend. Mr. Williamson, who is employed by the Illinois Bell Telephone company in Chicago, is a brother of Harry Williamson of 706 Clarendon.

The George Robys of 1149 N. Beverly have just returned from a 10-day motor trip to Florida, which included stops at Jacksonville Beach, a tour of St. Augustine, Miami and up the gulf cost to St. Petersburg and a visit to Cypress Gardens. Although twice delayed when son, George, broke out with three-day measles, quickly followed by Robert, who did likewise, the family did manage to complete their vacation before Kevin broke out in spots.

House guest of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Kalkhoff, 909 E. Olive, is Mrs. Ethel Reed of Louisville, Ky., mother of Mrs. Kalkhoff, who has been visiting since Easter.

LAUREN SAGE 700 E. Oakton, celebrated her fourth birthday April 24 with an afternoon party. Guests included Linda Mensch, Carol Haldeman, Joan Zimmer, Mary Beth Shanahan, Bonnie Brown and Wendy Sage, her sister, who enjoyed playing records and games.

The square dance group met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Johnson, 709 E. Olive, for the April get-together last week. The dances, called by Floyd Birt, and the refreshments made it an enjoyable evening for the group.

Peter Bludeau, 11-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bludeau, 811 E. Olive, has been in Sherman hospital, Elgin, for almost a week and is expected to return home in a few days.

RUSSELL BROWN, 11, 608 E. Oakton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, was confirmed in the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights Sunday afternoon. A buffet supper for 22 relatives and friends followed the ceremony in honor of the occasion.

Present at the installation of officers of the Ladies Auxiliary of the VFW Saturday evening were Mrs. Stew Sage, Mrs. Charles Haldeman, Mrs. Fred Mensch and Mrs. Earl Nichols, who was selected to be a member of the color guard for the coming year.

The William Willy family of 807 E. Olive drove up to northern Michigan last weekend, where Mr. Willy joined his father, O. G. Willy, for some trout fishing near Grayling. Young David enjoyed fishing with the men while his younger brothers, Tom and Paul, stayed in Saginaw with their mother, visiting grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Roy Bricker. (A

You'll be happier with a new FAST Electric Water Heater

All the hot water a big family needs—automatically, electrically—24 hours a day!

This is the new kind of electric water heater. It is compact, economical to own and operate and is designed to deliver plenty of hot water fast. Enough for showers, shaves, big automatic washers, electric dishwashers and cooking needs.

Clean, foolproof, fully automatic.

Fast Electric Water Heaters are clean as electric light. No fumes, no flues, no dirt. No pilot to light, or blow out. You can go on a trip without turning it off. So you have hot water at the turn of a tap when you return.

Compact, easy to install, economical!

Because no flue is needed, a Fast Electric Water Heater fits easily in a closet, kitchen, utility room, bathroom—wherever you want. Takes no more space than a dishwasher. Shorter pipe runs mean less heat wasted by water cooling in pipes. Most makes have a 10-year warranty, even longer life expectancy.

Modern builders everywhere are featuring new Fast Electric Water Heaters

Tips for Whipping Evaporated Milk

A University of Illinois graduate student in home economics has come up with some tips for whipping undiluted evaporated milk. She is Mrs. Mary Hubbard of Urbana, who has just completed an experimental foods project.

Mrs. Hubbard reports that this milk whips best when chilled to 32 degrees F. If it freezes, it should stand at room temperature until partly thawed and only a few ice crystals remain. If the milk is colder, quality of the foam and volume are not good.

WHIP ONE CUP of milk at a time with an electric beater at high speed for about two minutes.

Once it's whipped, use it immediately or the foam will have to be stabilized. To stabilize, add two tablespoons of lemon juice or one teaspoon of gelatin dissolved in two tablespoons of water.

Consider consistency and flavor if you substitute whipped evaporated milk for whipped cream in a recipe. For each cup of whipping cream, substitute three-fourths cup of evaporated milk.

IN MRS. HUBBARD'S study, evaporated milk stabilized with gelatin seemed to have a consistency similar to that of whipped cream. The cooked flavor was not apparent in recipes using carmel, coffee, chocolate and orange and pineapple. (SH

Elk Grove, Wheeling Tax Bills Have Been Mailed

All tax bills in Elk Grove and Wheeling townships have been mailed, the collectors announced today.

Home owners who did not receive bills are urged to contact their township collector.

Arnold Scharringhausen is the Elk Grove township collector. His office is located in the Ryan Bros. Realty across from the Mt. Prospect bank. Office hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. daily except Wednesday when the office closes at noon. Hours are from 6 to 8 p.m. Friday.

THE WHEELING collector is William Annen whose telephone is CL. 3-0188. Bills may be paid starting May 8 through May 29 at the Arlington Heights National bank except May 16 and 26 at the Wheeling State bank; May 23 at Mt. Prospect State bank; May 10, 17, 24 and 31 at the Arlington Heights village hall.

The collectors note that the corrected penalty date for payment of the first installment is June 1.

Dates for filing complaints on 1958 valuations will be announced. (ACM

Tasty German Coffee Cake Week's Flavor Favorite

PREPARING TO SAMPLE her delicious German coffee cake is Mrs. Roman P. Demski of Mount Prospect. Food editor Lois Seiler offers this tasty recipe in this week's "Favorites for Flavor."

An authentic German recipe for a Blueberry Strussel Kuchen, meaning coffee cake, has been shared with us this week by Mrs. Roman P. Demski of Mt. Prospect.

Prepared in a nine-inch layer pan, this delicious coffee cake has a light textured dough which is covered with blueberries and a tasty cinnamon-flavored Streussel topping.

WHEN IN SEASON, Mrs. Demski uses fresh blueberries in this cake. Otherwise, frozen berries may be used and the amount of sugar lessened by two tablespoons.

Appealing in appearance, this coffee cake is moist and can be prepared a day in advance.

Mrs. Demski serves the kuchen warm, but not hot. It can be used as a coffee cake or as a dessert, and may be topped with whipped cream, if desired.

The Demskis live at 705 Dresser in Mt. Prospect. They have a daughter, Susan, who is 11 years old.

Mrs. Demski is a member of Rebecca circle of St. Mark's Lutheran church, and she also teaches Sunday school.

Blueberry Stueussel Kuchen

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
¾ cup milk
4 tablespoons melted butter
½ cup sugar
2½ cups blueberrries, washed and dried

Sift together twice the flour, baking powder and salt.

Beat the egg thoroughly and add milk, melted butter and sugar.

Combine the dry and liquid ingredients and pour batter into a buttered and floured 9-inch layer pan.

Cover batter with blueberries.

Stueussel Topping

1/3 cup flour
½ cup sugar
4 tablespoons softened butter
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Mix ingredients together to make crumbs.

Spread crumbs over the berries and bake cake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, 35 to 45 minutes or until done.

Serve warm but not hot, and top with whipped cream, if desired.

Educators To Hear Safety Chief

Guests at Arlington high school's annual cooperative education banquet will hear Frank R. Burrows, Jr., field service director of the Citizens Traffic Safety Board of Metropolitan Chicago. Burrows will speak on "Movies, Motors, and Magic" at the May 1 dinner.

Burrows will list the most dangerous misconceptions about safe driving and will demonstrate methods of avoiding traffic tragedies. Emphasized in his talk will be warnings of the three most dangerous actions of drivers who consider themselves to be expert.

The three are: stopping on a dime, trying to beat an amber light or race another car to an intersection, or trying to take right of way from another driver.

Friends' Night For Eastern Star

"Friends' night" for Arlington Heights Eastern Star chapter was held April 24 with friends of officers serving in the various stations.

Annabelle Coey of Palatine served as worthy matron; associate matron and patron were Dr. and Mrs. Mankenberg of Palatine. Others serving were Gerald Montgomery, Ruby Nelson, Mary Jane Byer, Lucy Boswell, Delores Montgomery, all of Palatine; Mrytle Frey, Cecil Mae Greenwood, Lydia Hausam, Inez Sharp, Ruth Lowden and Florence Mall of Arlington Heights; and Dorothy Drinkwater of Wheeling.

At the March 13 birthday night, George Volz, a charter member of the Arlington Heights chapter and an honorary member of the Palatine chapter, was given a 50-year pin commemorating his years of service to both chapters. Members report that this was a fitting climax to birthday night.

Pedestrian, 39, Killed by Train

Charles E. Kistner, 39, of 40 S. Evergreen, Arlington Heights, was struck by a southbound train and killed as he walked across the tracks at Evergreen ave. Sunday evening.

The death was ruled accidental by a coroner's jury which met in Arlington Heights Tuesday.

THE TRAIN engineer, William Kelly of Chicago, said he noticed Kistner approaching the crossing on foot when the locomotive was about 100 feet from the crossing and blew four blasts on the whistle.

"He never hesitated," said Kelly. Kistner was thrown 62 feet to the north by the impact and apparently died instantly. The accident occurred at 8:47 p.m. and a physician pronounced him dead at 8:55 p.m. The train was bound for Chicago on the north track and not scheduled to stop here.

Fireman Eugene F. Bougher, also in the engine cab, testified that the bells and flasher were operating at the crossing and that the automatic gates were lowered. The engineer said the train was traveling about 45 miles an hour.

KISTNER'S WIFE said the couple had separated last year and her husband had moved to a rooming house in Arlington Heights in the fall. He had been employed by the Charles Bruning co., since September, 1955, as a machine operator.

Mrs. Kistner, a Chicago resident, had divorce proceedings pending against her husband.

Arlington Heights police officer Harold Hildebrandt said police found a letter in Kistner's effects written to Harold R. Steger of Chicago, a friend.

THE LETTER SAID that Kistner was making Steger the beneficiary of an insurance policy. Steger could not recall receiving the letter and said he knew of no reason why Kisner should have left the money to him instead of to his (Kistner's) wife. The letter was undated.

The remains were shipped to the victim's birthplace, Middletown, Ohio, for the funeral today. (AF

Bakery Opening Slated Saturday

Danegger's bakery in Arlington Market shopping center will hold its grand opening Saturday.

The bake shop will specialize in Danish pastries and German coffee cakes. Dresden stollen, streusel and Swedish yulekaga, a Christmas delicacy which is delectable any time of year, are typical of the shop's specialties.

The bakery, which opened last week, is operated by Charles Danegger of Park Ridge and his son, Charles Jr. The senior Mrs. Danegger manages the sales force.

DELICIOUS baked goods are a tradition in the Danegger family. Son Charles Jr. is a third generation baker. His father owned a bakery in the Austin neighborhood of Chicago for 25 years before selling out six years ago and buying a Canadian resort.

All goods sold in the shop are baked on the premises and decorated cakes will be on hand at all times.

Hours of business are 6:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily except Friday, when the shop is open until 9 p.m.

Edison Seeks OK for New Power Center

Commonwealth Edison will ask Arlington Heights zoning authorities to allow construction of a power distribution station on Foundry rd. near the eastern village limits.

The utility wants a lot 66 by 132 feet rezoned from farmland to a commercial classification. The lot is on the north side of Foundry rd., about 750 feet east of Waterman ave. and 1000 feet west of Prospect high school. There is only one farm home within a block.

THE ZONING HEARING will be held at 8 p.m., May 19 in the village hall. Zoning board chairman Victor H. Beisler said the May 12 date was incorrectly given in a legal notice published last week.

Equipment would be fenced and landscaped, said the utility. (AF

Two-Store Building Is Slated

Expansion of the Arlington Heights business district to the south continues.

Announced this week were plans for construction of a small two-store building at the northwest corner of Evergreen ave. and Sigwalt. A home and barbershop now on the corner will be razed and a brick building with 1815 square feet will be built.

Cost of the building alone will be $15,000, according to a permit application filed with the building department. The brick structure will have a frontage of 33 feet on Evergreen and extend 55 feet along Sigwalt. It will have a glass, Roman brick and stone front. The owner and builder is John Traikoff, 25 N. Kennicott.

Illinois 53 Detour Is Bewildering to Motorists

WHICH WAY TO GO? This problem confronts almost every motorist who is unfamiliar with the northwest suburban area and who travels Illinois highway 53 as he approaches highway 62. A service station operator on the corner gets better than 50 information requests every day as a result.

by BOB BUCHANAN

You can't say toll road detours aren't well marked on Illinois highway 53. They sure are!

The trouble is which detour to take.

Most drivers who don't know the northwest suburban area "finally wind up by coming to me," one northwest suburban service station operator quipped.

THE CLASSIC example which frustrates many a Chicago motorist seeking to hurry home in the Sunday evening rush occurs on Rohlwing rd. (Route 53) as he approaches Algonquin rd. (Route 62).

The first sign is a huge "detour ahead" with a smaller one showing 53 detours to the left. Next he sees a sign showing 53 straight ahead.

The sign at the stop light throws him into a tizzy as he reads "53 straight ahead" and then sees a 53 sign pointing to the left. As he proceeds through the intersection he gives up in despair, seeing a 53 to the right sign.

WHICH WAY to turn? Sunday Driver Joe knows he can't go straight ahead. That's obvious. Barricades are up to prevent him from flying over the toll road after an approach take-off.

Generally, he does the next best thing. He pulls into the only service station on the corner.

And does he come! Operator Joe Jingles Sr. reports "Business is way off with the toll road detour but if I charged a quarter for everyone who asked how to detour, I'd close down my pumps and go into the tourist information business.

"Sunday I'd say we answered at least 300 queries as to which way to go. Once I had three motorists lined up seeking information.

"As the first one pulled away," Joe relates, "the second driver asked, 'I'd like to get the same answer he got.'

"On an average day we get about 50 inquiring motorists. We've had 'em asking from Ohio to Wisconsin and Oklahoma."

FOR MANY motorists who take the "left" detour down Algonquin rd. and west again on Golf rd. to the Rohlwing rd. cloverleaf, their agony still isn't over.

Only a small sign well hidden by the concrete piers of the overpass puts the weary traveller back on the beaten path.

Often he speeds westward passing by the inconspicuous sign. But he's still on 53. He's now headed north. Only he doesn't know it!

At Meacham rd. he sees a sign telling him to turn right. After bumping over the Meacham rd. detour, he sees a sign at Algonquin rd. telling him to turn right.

Thinking he's well on his way to Chicago, the motorist is dumbfounded to find himself back where he started, asking Joe Jingles "how in the -x-x* do I get to Chicago."

Joe says it took one driver three times to finally "hit it right." Another motorist, Joe reports, was still seeking the way out of the "road of mirror detours" an hour and a half after he began.

HERE'S HOW Illinois highway 53 got the way it is. State 53 was closed for the toll road cloverleaf construction. Traffic was detoured west over Algonquin, Meacham and Golf rds.

Then the Meacham rd. detour around the toll road became impassable. This, too, was blockaded and traffic detoured east along Algonquin rd. and west on Golf rd. to Rohlwing rd.

Meacham rd. was reopened. But nothing was done to take down or cover any of the signs. Thus, the motorist finds himself in a human puzzle with his auto.

However, Joe Jingles has hopes. He hears rumors that the Rohlwing rd. overpass will reopen about May 15 and all detours will be eliminated. Joe sure hopes so. Maybe then he could get back to work pumping gas instead of wearing his "tourist information" cap. (B-8

Arrington Blasts Court Opponents

Opponents of the judicial court reform proposal who have been circulating "erroneous information" were the target of a statement by Sen. W. Russell Arrington (R-Evanston).

Arrington, an attorney who has made a considerable study of the reform proposal, said:

"The statement that the erection of 12 courthouses in the suburban area will be required is pure hogwash," he said.

"Most of us believe that we have plenty of available facilities. For instance, in Oak Park and Evanston we now have courtroom facilities that are now being utilized by municipal courts of those two villages.

"I believe most of the other municipalities have facilities that will house any branches of the revised court."

ON THE COMPLAINT that the amendment would enlarge the number of sitting judges, Arrington said:

"The present number of sitting judges cannot be increased unless the General Assembly so provides."

Arrington also said:

"The statements by opponents of the judicial article that vast additional expenses will be required under the revised judicial organization are designed wholly to create a scare philosophy and are wholly insupportable in fact." (B-8

Annual PTA Meeting May 8

St. Andrew's church in Park Ridge will be the scene of the annual meeting of the northwest suburban council of PTA's from 9:30 a.m. to 2:45 p.m. Thursday, May 8.

During the morning session presidents will report on events of their units and Ralph Clabaugh, superintendent of Arlington Heights schools, and ICPT chairman of school education committees, will install new officers.

Following luncheon, 10 different workshops will be conducted including one on "treasurer and scholarship" by Mrs. M. Feltz, president of Prospect Heights PTA and one on legislation and school education by Mr. Clabaugh and a Des Plaines principal, W. Sulzbach. (B8

Church Attendance Crusade

Pastor Edgar H. Behrens, of Faith Lutheran church, S. State rd. at Park, Scarsdale, has announced that this Sunday, May 4, Cantata Sunday, the church attendance crusade will feature the choirs of Faith church under the direction of George A. Schrader, minister of music.

The Children's choir will sing at the 8 a.m. Matins service. At the 10:45 a.m. worship service the Faith Senior choir will sing. "The Gloria" from the "Twelfth Mass" by Mozart. At the same service the high school choir will chant the "Introit" and the junior choir will chant the "Gradual." At the singing of the senior choir anthem, Mrs. Schrader will accompany at the organ and Fred Oberhauser will be at the piano.

AT THE SAME service 32 students will be present from Valparaiso university. During the afternoon they will visit the homes of all church families as representatives of the university to explain how members may assist in educating young men and women at Valparaiso, the largest Lutheran university. The Ladies' society will serve these young guests a dinner at noontime and a lunch in the evening.

Mother-Daughter Tea Sun.

DOLLS, A SUBJECT dear to the hearts of daughters, young and old, will be used for the decorations and favors of the third annual mother and daughter tea Sunday afternoon. Sponsored by the women's guild of Our Saviour United Lutheran church, the affair will be held in Pioneer Park. On the planning committee are top row, Mrs. Earl Snodgrass, Mrs. Robert McReynolds, chairman, and Mrs. Albert Roggenbuck. Mrs. Irvin Slepicka, Mrs. William Stueber and Mrs. Louis Behrle are on the bottom row. (A

The women's guild of Our Saviour United Lutheran church is extending an invitation to members and friends to its third annual mother and daughter tea to be held Sunday afternoon at Pioneer Park, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Robert McReynolds, chairman, and her committee have planned an afternoon of entertainment beginning at 2.

Highlight of the program will be a style show presented by Heirs and Expectations of Arlington Heights using members of the congregation as models. Among those who will be on the list of models are Mrs. James Garrison, Mrs. W. R. Swenson, Laurie Wickstrom, Larie Miller, Greta Hermanson, Nancy Dwyer, Pam Meyer, Sue Heilig, Barbara Oliver, Lyn L Snodgrass, Dorothy Anderson, Robbie McReynolds and David Petersen.

A tribute to the daughters will be given by Mrs. Robert Wallace, and a tribute to mothers by Jeanne Stedry. (A

Arlington Developer Is Dead

William C. Tackett, 60, developer of Stonegate and Scarsdale subdivisions in Arlington Heights, died Sunday at Palm Springs, Calif.

Mr. Tackett moved to Palm Springs in 1952 where he set up another construction firm while still maintaining offices in Chicago at 231 S. La Salle. He formerly lived at 999 N. Lake Shore Dr. in Chicago.

BESIDES THE Stonegate and Scarsdale sections in Arlington Heights, Mr. Tackett built many homes in the north and northwest suburbs.

He was a member of the board of directors for the Rexall Drug Co.

Survivors include his widow, Vera; a daughter, Pamela, and two brothers. (A

Virginia Terrace News

Donald Drew Derrick, 1212 N. Illinois, was joined by his playmates at a luncheon party with a circus motif Monday in celebration of his fifth birthday. Guests were Jack Hult, Gary Johnston, Patty Henniman, Roxanne Kuhl, Jennifer and Jimmy Marshall, Robin Mills, Gary Hinden, Bradley Parkins, Barbara Warner, Laurie Miller, Tom and Bobby Sussiere and Mike Caprara. Games were played and prizes given. Donald's grandmother, Mrs. John Frenkel of Pensacola, was here to celebrate with him. She left Wednesday after a 2-week visit.

Jill Turner, 1525 W. Clarendon, celebrated her fifth birthday twice: Sunday with a visit to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leonard of Franklin Park, and Monday the family had a party at home.

Mrs. Lora B. Wolfe, 1247 N. Chicago, recently returned from a 6-week vacation in Miami Beach, where she stayed with two sisters and enjoyed sightseeing and balmy weather. Before going to Florida, she spent six weeks in Louisville with her daughter, Mrs. Jerome Lobred, and became acquainted with her new granddaughter, Beth Ann, born January 29.

MRS. ARNOLD Silver, 1247 N. Chicago, was joined by her daughter, Leslie, and her mother, Mrs. Lora Wolfe, at a luncheon Saturday at the Covenant club, given in honor of Harriette Rotberg of Chicago, who will soon be Mrs. Irving Wolfe.

The John Noerenbergs, 1235 N. Race, were host and hostess at a cocktail party Saturday evening prior to attending a dance at the Sportsman's club sponsored by the Junior Woman's club. Among other guests were the Gerald Brasks, William Townsends and Abe Townsends of Arlington Heights.

Another cocktail party Saturday evening before the dance was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hoover, 1239 N. Race, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hollister, 1211 N. Race, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, 922 N. Dryden.

THIS REPORTER has been asked to call to the attention of parents in Virginia Terrace that children reaching the age of six on or before December 1, 1958, will be eligible to enter first grade at Wilson school in September, 1958. Registration will be held at the school Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon and birth certificates are required.

Saturday Leslee Bang, 1315 N. Illinois, celebrated her seventh birthday with a party for playmates, Pat and Jeffrey Fairfield, Susan and Patty Friel, Mary Lynn and Susan Reese, Steven Dawson, Tony Incavo, Larry Lampasona and Carol Chupich. A scavenger hunt was a short affair in anticipation of refreshments.

Saturday evening the Kenneth Williams', Rex McBrides, Blaine Crouchs and Jack Griffiths were guests of the Lester Poklins in Mt. Prospect. The Poklins are former residents of the Terrace and the occasion was a surprise birthday party for Lester.

Crane to End Historic Vigil of Century-Old Boarding House

Picture, if you can, a cluster of log cabins and frame houses huddled together on the expanse of Illinois prairies. This was Arlington Heights over a century ago.

One of these first buildings, still standing on the southwest corner of Campbell avenue and Evergreen street, is reaching the last days of its century-old existence.

It will be torn down next week to make way for construction of the new Williamsburg colonial home for savings to be erected by the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association.

BARELY 10 YEARS after William H. Dunton, Arlington Heights' first settler, came from Oswego, New York, in 1845 and built a small frame house north of Hawthorne street and east of Pine avenue, the two-story structure at Evergreen and Campbell was in service.

Its first occupant was Stephen Briggs, who operated a hotel.

The same year, 1854, witnessed the extension of the railroad from Des Plaines (which it had reached a year earlier) to Barrington. The building occupied by Briggs looker over an expanse of mud streets and wooden walks to a single track and the railroad station.

BETWEEN THE TRACK and the street was a wide, four-foot-deep ditch, made when dirt was removed to raise the track level. In rainy seasons, the ditch was a pond; at other times, except for prolonged dry spells, it was a mud hole.

Albert F. Volz, who is probably Arlington Heights' oldest native-born resident, was recalling last week for Paul E. Collins, president of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, and Virgil K. Horath, one of the Association's directors, his memories of this old structure, known for many years as the "Wheeling House."

"The town was called Dunton in those days," said Volz, who was founder and longtime president of the Arlington Seating co. and now lives in retiirement at 6 E. Hawthorne. "It didn't get to be Arlington Heights until 1874."

VOLZ WAS BORN in 1871 in a two-story frame house at 17 E. Campbell, just a short distance from the Wheeling House. This structure, built by his father, Christian, in 1870, was torn down last year to provide a new store for Parkway Liquors, now located in the old Wheeling House.

"Back in the '70s, the Wheeling House was a combination tavern and boarding house run by a widow named Dettmer," Volz recalled for Collins and Horath. "She had previously married a man named Wuensch and, after his death, married Dettmer, a widower. So there were three families of children from different sets of parents residing in the Wheeling House.

"Mrs. Dettmer served the finest liquor in town," Volz said. "When anybody got sick, the thing to do was send down to Old Lady Dettmer's for 'medicine'."

FOR A TIME thereafter, the tavern was run by Al Cook, Mrs. Dettmer's son-in-law.

In addition to her husband and children, Mrs. Dettmer boarded men who worked at the Diamond Sewing Machine co. This firm occupied the same plant that the Sigwalt Mfg. co. had build in 1876. By 1880 Arlington Heights was a village of 995 persons.

"Room and board at the Wheeling House, I remember, was $3 a week," Volz chuckled.

He's not a bit nostalgic at the passing of old landmarks like the Wheeling House and his own father's building. "They served their purpose; this new Association building of yours," he told Collins and Horath, "is good for Arlington Heights—a real community asset." (AF

Nurses to Teach Home Care Course

Three registered nurses of Arlington Heights will soon start teaching homemakers of the northwest Cook County area safe and easy skills in caring for those in the home who may be sick and injured, Mrs. Huntly H. Gilbert, volunteer chairman of the Chicago Red Cross chapter, stated today.

Completing an instructor conference at the Evanston Red Cross Branch office recently, these nurses will soon be organizing classes among homemakers of Arlington Heights and neighboring communities to pass on simple nursing skills which will make sickness and injury easier to cope with should it strike the home.

THE NURSES who have completed the course, and are certificated to teach Red Cross Home Care of the Sick and Injured, are turning the bedridden patient. Mrs. Shirley Smith, R.N., 305 E. Euclid, Mrs. Edwina Ellifsen, R.N., 1221 S. Prairie, and Mrs. Betsy Ward, R.N., 309 S. Vail.

"The course which these nurses will teach," said Mrs. Gilbert, "is not planned in any way to prepare the students as practical nurses, nor to train them to work professionally in any capacity. Instead, it is designed to give ill members of the family better care and greater comfort during sickness or injury in the home."

THE SIMPLE NURSING skills, which the three nurses will pass on to their pupils, include the preparation of special diets as ordered by the physician, improvising sick room equipment from common household articles, such as a back rest from a cardboard carton, and lifting and Also taught in the class are the correct way of taking pulse and respiration, and how to give a bed bath. "NATURE'S LOVING PROXY, THE WATCHFUL MOTHER"

*(Author's Name Below)

Babies are little tots who need much loving care. Fortunately, God gives us Mothers to watch over them.

Mother's problems are difficult, but we can solve some of them. We supply special foods for baby's dietary needs, sterilizing utensils to prevent germ invasions, helpful baby-aids that insure more comfort and vitamin concentrates for extra energy.

Most important of all, Mothers can now have less fear should any attacking virus threaten baby's health. In our pharmacy are the wonderful antibiotics physicians prescribe, that often overnight bring back baby's health.

OPEN HOUSE SUNDAY, MAY 4th at our NEW
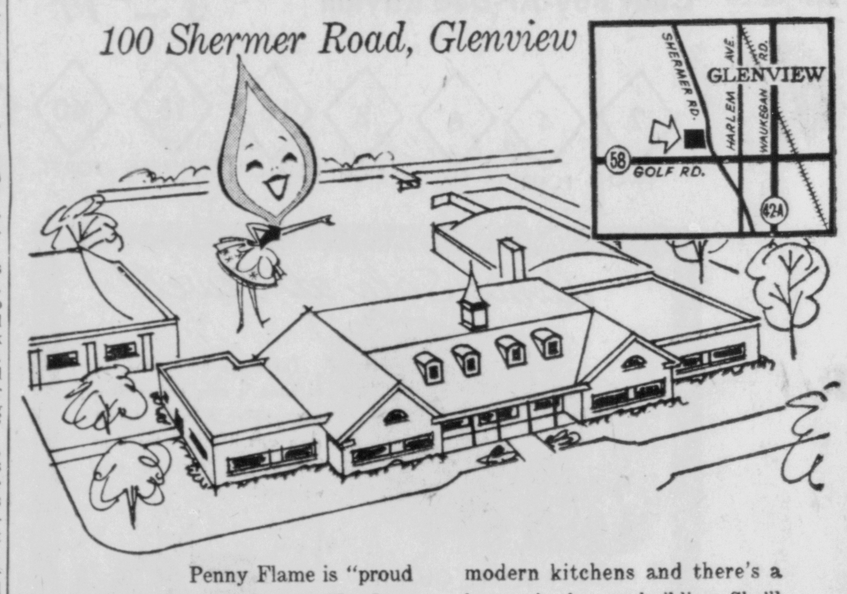
NORTHERN DIVISION HEADQUARTERS

100 Shermer Road, Glenview



Penny Flame is "proud as punch" over the new Northern Division Headquarters. She'd love to have you drop in at our open house Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 to go through the new building and see how well we're equipped to give even better service.

Bring the family, if you wish. Mom is undoubtedly interested in modern kitchens and there's a beauty in the new building. She'll also enjoy seeing the two attractive kitchen-laundry settings in the colorful Penny Flame trailer.

Plan to stop by next Sunday afternoon for a visit. The new Headquarters is in Glenview on Shermer Road, just north of Golf Road. (See map). We're looking forward to seeing you.

Suburbs' Explosive Growth Dooms Metropolitan Chicago 'Cornfields'

An expert on the subject intoned:

"Within 20 years there won't be an empty cornfield within 50 miles of State and Madison streets."

The 50 people assembled at Recreation Park fieldhouse for a meeting of the Northwest Suburban Planning Council weren't startled by that statement. But they did agree it was a forceful way of expressing suburban growth problems.

And where those cornstalks once proudly stood, there will be an "aglomeration," the speaker added.

THE BLUNT FACTS about the rapid helter-skelter growth were expressed by Earl Kribben, president of the Northwest Illinois Metropolitan Planning commission, commonly known as the Randolph commission.

"But we are powerless," said Kribben. "All we can do is assemble facts, interpret them and then distribute the information. We have no authority to tell you how to run the show."

The facts, as assembled by Kribben's group, are:

1. An "aglomeration" or metropolitan agrea will extend from Sheboygan around the bottom of Lake Michigan.

2. In the next 20 years the six-county Chicago area population of 5,750,000 will grow to between 8,000,000 and 8,500,000.

"More than 60 per cent of the people in the United States live in metropolitan areas," Kribben said.

"Many metropolitan areas are trying to find rational answers to the problem of growth as we become increasingly metropolitanized."

TO SHOW THE size of the development in the nation, Kribben said that between Boston and Richmond, Va., there are but two breaks in the urban pattern. One is 11 miles and the other two miles.

"This continuous string of cities creates problems for each other and is a aglomeration."

The Chicago metropolitan area is the second largest in the nation, Kribben said, and is certain to maintain that position.

The two big trends of rural to city and city to suburb will continue, he added.

Kribben said the Randolph commission found that "annexation" is an entirely unthinkable solution to the problem. In that, Chicago would annex the suburbs.

"These special purpose governments have been tried in some areas, but none of those now in use will meet Chicago's needs. Toronto's "federated metropolitan government" would not fit Chicago, he said. Miami tried giving the county government special powers, and it was found not feasible, he said.

"We need planning for such matters as drainage, water supply, transportation, land use and welfare services," he said.

"Too often planning is only in local terms, and planning is not correlated for the overall good of the community (Chicago region)."

A SECOND speaker, executive director of the Randolph commission, said the six-county area has a $17¼ billion valuation, is the richest and potentially the best place to live in the United States.

He foresaw great growth with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway and said careful planning is needed to provide good living for the people of the area. He said planning calls for intelligent placement of industry, recreation, a green belt, and good places to live.

Opperman, who was hired by the Randolph commission last month after serving nine years as planning director of San Francisco and county, said he was shocked to see the mistakes already made in the Chicago area.

He said no attempt will be made by Chicago to tell the surrounding areas what to do. He stressed the great advantage of cooperative effort.

IN DISCUSSING the task of the planner, Opperman quoted Henry Luce, published of Time, Life and Fortune magazines. Luce said "We have made a breakthrough to an economy of material abundance. Now we must have a breakthrough to an economy of abundant beauty as well."

"Today there is an emphasis on beauty and a good design that would have been criticized as recently as 10 or 15 years ago. Today our freeways, our schools and our public buildings must be beautiful. That is part of the task of the planner," Opperman said.

The Northwest Suburban Planning council is composed of 12 northwest communities from Deerfield to Schaumburg. It was organized last year to co-ordinate planning efforts in the area. Evan E. Olmstead, chairman of the Arlington Heights planning commission, was in charge of the meeting. (B8

New Social Security File Is Proposed

The Illinois system of establishing a positive identification number for the issuance of its drivers licenses for 5,000,000 motorists may be incorporated into the identification system of the Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance (Social Security) file of 160,000,000 names.

The Illinois system was devised by the office of Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier. It was installed recently in the part of the division's electronic data processing system. The system was studied recently in Springfield by national staff members of the BOASI.

THE ILLINOIS SYSTEM establishes a positive identification number of an individual through the permanent drivers license based on a mathematical formula using the individual's full name and date of birth. With these two factors a positive identification number is computed by an electronic computer.

The BOASI is interested in the system used by Secretary Carpentier's office because of the many common names which are contained in its voluminous files.

Legion and Auxiliary Dinner Dance May 3

Members and friends of the ninth District Council of the American Legion and Ladies Auxiliary will celebrate its 30th anniversary at a dinner dance in the grand ballroom of the Sheraton hotel May 3.

Committees have been appointed by the chairman, Arthur Surfleet, to make this an outstanding social event in the history of the district. Co-chairmen, Mrs. Walter Hoffman, 1032 S. Cresent st. Park Ridge and Joseph Bernhard, 5827 N. Cicero Ave., are in charge of reservations and arrangementts.

This is the opening of an important series of Legion events to take place in Chicago this summer. Chief among which are the state convention and the national convention to be held here over the Labor day holidays.

Superstition vs. Preparedness

The superstition that it's bad luck to make a will is just that—a superstition. Such an important document shows thoughtfulness and concern for one's family. Modern heads of family are applying the same logic to the planning of funeral arrangements—in advance of need.

This Week with PTA

Prepare the Pre-Schoolers

"Experiences Which Prepare the one to five Year Old For School" will be the topic discussed by a panel of teachers at the next meeting of the Pre-School Child Study group.

The meeting will be held May 6, at 8:15 p.m., at Westgate school, Dwyer and Grove sts.

Ralph E. Clabaugh, superintendent of schools, will act as moderator. Panelists include Mrs. Agnes Skadberg, reading consultant for elementary schools; Richard Hetke, principal of Ridge school; and Miss Angela Gould, a former kindergarten teacher who now teaches first grade at North school.

Parents of pre-school children are welcome to attend.

Gifted Children

The gifted child will be discussed by Dr. Herbert F. Boyd, chief psychologist for the Champaign Public schools, Champaign, Ill., at the next meeting of the Exceptional Child Study group.

DR. HERBERT F. BOYD

It will be noted that this meeting has been advanced to Thursday, May 8, at 8:15 p.m., in the South Junior high cafeteria. As usual, the meeting is open to the public, free of charge.

BESIDES SERVING in his present capacity as school psychologist, Dr. Boyd has taught elementary and high school, been assistant director of special education at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, done research at the Institute for Research on Exceptional Children, and been a visiting lecturer at University of Illinois summer sessions in 1957-58.

Dr. Boyd will describe his work as head of the Champaign program for the education of its gifted children. This is an experimental program now in its third year of operation and is part of a state-wide research project carried on in recent years.

Bicycle Inspection

Something new has been added! Children will be able to buy bicycle licenses at school if their bikes pass inspection next week.

For the first time, this year the new 1958-59 bicycle licenses will be available at school. If the child's bike is considered safe to ride, he may purchase his license for 50 cents immediately after the inspection, thus saving parents a trip to the village hall. Every bike must be licensed. Not only is this a village ordinance, but it will help the police to return the bike to its owner should it become lost.

THE POLICE department will inspect bikes for any mechanical fault that makes it unsafe to riding. Every bike should have a horn or bell and lights if nightriding is allowed. The National Safety council recommends using Scotchlite reflective tape as an additional safety precaution. PTA representatives will be at each school to apply this tape.

It is very important that bicycles be in good mechanical condition for safe, summer riding. It is imperative that children know "how" to ride a bike safely. In a few days notices will be sent home from school with a list of rules attached. Parents are urged to go over these rules with their child to be sure he understands them — it may save his life!

Inspection dates are listed in the PTA calendar.

They Loved It

Judging by the audience's reaction, the PTA Minstrel show was a howling success. Captain Mary Gaber and Impresario Hazel Petersen deserve hearty congratulations.

For those who are wondering what happened to Bob Campbell after he made a flying leap through the paper window in the schoolroom skit, he has this to say: "I owe it all to my physical education training plus a good tumbling mat."

Limits and Controls

The importance of limits and controls was stressed by Dr. Freda Kehm, director of the Association for Family Living, at the Miner school April PTA meeting.

A child wants parents and teachers to set limits, if fair. In that way, the responsibility is shared. Dr. Kehm described each age child and what the normal typical behavior might be, pointing out differences when they exist. A child needs successes as well as failures to develop confidence and assurance.

A WELL-ADJUSTED child develops when his behavior is socially acceptable and at the same time the behavior satisfies his own emotional needs. The child identifies or imitates the parent he loves, not the words he says but the acts he does.

Code of Ethics

An acceptable code of ethics for the young people in this community was the aim of students and parents at the South Junior high meeting.

It is gratifying to know that not only do the parents and teachers wish a high standard of rules for home and school, but the students themselves go one better and wish to impose a few rules on the parents.

SIXTH AND SEVENTH grade parents heard a panel of students which was most direct in expressing the teenagers' viewpoints concerning grooming, dating, curfews, chaperones, courtesy, television-viewing, allowances, home responsibilities and family projects.

A high school panel gave eighth grade parents a detailed picture of each field of activity offered in sports, music, journalism and drama fields. There is something for each student offered in the program as long as interest and effort are displayed.

More Outdoor Activity

At the Westgate meeting, David C. Stubbs, metropolitan physical director of YMCA, stressed the point that boys and girls should be encouraged to do more bicycling, swimming, walking and outdoor playing in general.

Tests made in the Chicago area have shown that suburban children are not as physically adept as boys and girls living in inner Chicago. There is also proof that children in this country are not as physically fit as the children of Europe Sedentary living is taking its toll in the United States, and parents need to be concerned with the physical well-being of their children.

Another speaker, Roland Eisenbeiss, director of conservation of the Forest Preserve district, told how this district is now working with the schools to interest children in nature and the history of the locale in which they live. Bulletins are sent to schools each week on various subjects in regard to nature and science for used by teachers in the classrooms.

Reminders

Send good, used clothing to school on Bundle Days, Thursday and Friday, May 1 and 2.

Final round robin bridge scores must be turned in to the chairman, Mrs. Peter Choporis, not later than May 10.

Mrs. Randolph Bieler, field consultant of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, will address a district 21 meeting at Miner school, May 13, at 7:45 p.m. The public is invited. (A

St. James Mothers To Meet May 8

Regular monthly meeting of the Mother's club of the St. James Catholic Women's guild will be held Thursday, May 8, at 8:15 p.m. Members and their friends are asked to make their reservations for the annual spring luncheon which will be held at Itasca country club on May 22. (A

Library Lists Children's Literature

The children's department of the Arlington Heights public library offers a variety of fascinating picture-story books for the very young. Not only the young-in-years but also the young-in-heart will find much pleasure and many a chuckle in the pages of books, says Edith L. Lindsey, children's librarian.

Among the newly arrived stories are: "Cow's Party" by Marie Hall Ets. It is a delightful story of a party in the pasture which was a great success until time for refreshments. Another is the "Acorn Tree" in which a greedy bluejay learns a valuable lesson at the expense of a big joke on himself. "Whiskers of Ho Ho," a Chinese legend, explains with charming text and pictures the origin of the custom of giving colored eggs to children at Easter.

CHILDREN and adults — even though the sight of any member of the reptile family sends them trembling — will find "Crictor," by Tomi Ungerer, one of the fascinating books of 1958. This story of a boa constrictor and the contribution he made to the life of the village in which he lived is cleverly told in amusing pictures and a brief, simple text.

Books on other subjects attractive to children include "I Can Fly," by Ruth Krauss, a colorful make-believe play book; the "Little Train" by Graham Greene, a charmingly written account of the experiences of a little English train that steamed out all alone into the big world only to find that the big world isn't so desirable a place to be as its own village; and "The Night When Mother Was Away," a picture of the way in which a father helps a little girl overcome all the loneliness which envelops her during the absence of her mother.

There is no charge for new library cards for children who live in the village limits. Children who live outside the village limits may obtain cards upon payment of five dollars per year registration fee, which covers all the family.

Sun. School Teacher Feted For 35 Years

The congregation of St. John United Church of Christ in Arlington Heights this month is congratulating Willard F. Landmeier for having completed 35 years of teaching in the church Sunday school.

During a recent morning worship service Landmeier, who lives at 219 W. Wing, was presented with a reproduction of Werner Sallman's painting of Christ as the Good Shepherd. In recent years Landmeier has taught in a room which contains another interpretation of the same theme by a different artist. Sunday School Superintendent Myron G. Kohlman made the presentation to Landmeier, who also serves on the church's building committee.

Landmeier was asked to serve as an apprentice teacher on April 13, 1923 by then pastor J. H. Ellerbrake. His regular attendance since and loyalty to the task were commended by the present pastor, Rev. J. G. Meiners. The pastor praised the teacher for his "humble efforts" on behalf of several generations of youth attending the church. (A

Solves Lawn Watering Problem

Years ago in case of prolonged droughts, spiritual meetings would be held or gunpowder would be shot off in the sky. Today the home owner can turn to underground watering systems.

Fred Hartman, 816 N. Gibbons, Arlington Heights, is one of those who is turning to that modern way of keeping his grass green. An advertisement in this week's issue tells how easy it can be done.

Wedgewood rummage sale netted an approximate profit of $155. Though it is believed there was less rummage this year and not as high a calibre as usual, thru the good efforts of those neighbors working so hard sorting, selling and cleaning-up, this is a tidy profit and will mean a lot to the Improvement association. Chairman was Mrs. Clyde House.

The pot luck supper previously planed for Saturday, May 3, has been cancelled. This decision was made by the committee last Monday evening, as it was found the number of couples planning attendance were so few it did not warrant cost of hiring the hall. Gwen Merritt was chairman of this project.

Sympathy is extended to George and Betty Krizek at the loss last week of their mother, Mrs. Albania Krizek.

THOMAS MERRITT, with his brother, Charles, flew to Detroit Sunday to be with their mother, Mrs. Thomas Merritt Sr., who was admitted to a hospital there for major surgery. Best wishes are extended to Mrs. Merritt for a speedy recovery.

Unexpected, but welcome guests Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Jenkins from New York visiting their neice, Gwen Merritt. Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins had not seen Tom, Gwen and the children for three years. Although the visit here was short, they did have time to catch up with the children's growth, and much family pleasure was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nierzwcki, who came to Wedgewood last December, entertained 50 guests Sunday, friends and family, at a house warming party. Mr. and Mrs. Nierzwcki received many lovely and unexpected gifts. Buffet-style refreshments were served, and particularly enjoyed by their seven grandchildren. Much happiness is wished Mr. and Mrs. Nierzwcki in their home here in Wedgewood.

ADIEUX AND farewells were wished Arthur and Virginia Cisewski, who moved from Wedgewood Saturday. They had lived here nearly six years and will be missed by their many friends in the Terrace. However, they did not move too far away, Westgate, Arlington Heights. Best wishes go to Art and Virginia in their new surroundings.

A happy seventh birthday was celebrated Sunday by Pamela House, who entertained several playmates at her party, served them special birthday cake and ice cream and played birthday games. Guests were Barbara and Jeff Schneider, Mary Alice and Christine O'Geary, Debby Haapoja, Debby Melvin, Jimmy Merritt, Eddie Becker, Janice Kwiecinski, Lynn Marchetti, Pamela Miller of Arlington Heights, Kurtis and Bradly Oertil of Chicago and, of course, Pam's brother and sister, Sherry and Jerry House.

NEEDLE in the GROOVE

by PAUL LITTLE

by PAUL H. LITTLE

MGM's gifted new young president has already shown his keen interest in usual programming on lp by offering us the 12-inch discing of Leonard Bernstein's recently commissioned opera for TV premiere, "Trouble in Tahiti."

Bernstein is our generation's version of the late Sergei Rachmaninoff; like the great Russian, the tireless and brilliant musician is composer, conductor and pianist. And if you've watched "Omnibus" on TV, you know he's also one of the most expressive commentators on music we've had in many a year. "Trouble in Tahiti" is a real musical gem, and represents the finest creative achievement of Bernstein's career. Highly recommended! And it's opera in English which will convert many who say they hate opera because they don't understand it.

FROM COLUMBIA, a splendid reading of Tschaikowsky's "Pathetique" Symphony by the New York Philharmonic under Dimitri Mitropoulos; avoiding the morbid sentimentality with which many conductors endow this music, Mitropoulos emphasizes the passionate, dramatic core of the music and with a virtuoso orchestral performance matched by Columbia's best hi-fi sound. A loud Bravo!

Also from Columbia, the Philadelphia orchestra under Eugene Ormandy brings us a magnificent program of music by the late Finnish genius Jan Sibelius; the 12-inch lp programs a fiery, thrilling performance of the early tone poem, "En Saga;" the mystic, primeval beauty of "Tapiola," a work which Sibellius wrote to epitomize the spirit of the forest which the Finns still revere; and the majestic ardor of "Pohjola's Daughter." Hi-fi addicts will be playing this platter for many a moon; "En Saga" alone is worth the album's cost!

IF YOU HAVEN'T heard Spanish zarzuelas (Spain's equivalent of our Broadway musicals), then it's high time you investigated Montilla Records' splendid catalog. Try Ernesto Lecuona's "Maria la O" and "La Cafetal"; he gave us "The Breeze and I." These two operettas are enchantingly melodious. Twelve-inch lps featuring noted Spanish singers and a fine orchestra, with very good sound. There's an uproarious comedy in "La Verbena de la Paloma" on Montilla that's a listening treat!

Reading tips of the week: from Popular Library in pocket-size format, we cite Noel B. Gerson's swashbuckling historical thriller, "The Silver Lion"; Thomas H. Raddall's colorful novel of a South Sea island love, "The Nymph and the Lamp;" and Francoise Mallet-Joris' brilliant study of a Parisian girl's attempt at sophistication, "The Red Room." Read while you listen to hi-fi!

Road-E-O Cancelled In Arlington

Only two contestants turned out Sunday for Arlington Heights' teen-age Road-e-o.

Bloomingdale Home Gives Hope to Afflicted Child

by BUD BOOTH

A special Bloomingdale home will be dedicated Sunday, for the love, help and understanding of children hopelessly inflicted with incurable diseases.

The wonderful story of the Mark Lund Hilltop house now open at the south end of Prairie ave. in Bloomingdale began at Christmas, 1954. Infant Mark, born a mongoloid, was only a few days old when he met his foster parents, Claire and Stanley Haverkampf.

THEY WELCOMED him wholeheartedly as their own in their Northlake home. Now, less than 4 years later, the Haverkampfs have followed the same process with some 30 unfortunate youngsters ranging from babes to nearteenagers.

The largest percentage are mongoloids, but there are also a number afflicted with other hopeless handicaps. To treat them as human beings and not as black sheep shut off from the world is one of the foremost aims of the couple who have 2, normal teenagers of their own.

The need for the Mark Lund Hilltop house became apparent less than 2 years ago when all available space in the Haverkampf's licensed foster home in Northlake became exhausted with the increasing youthful population.

"WOULD YOU believe it, we raised the money to build Hilltop house in just a year," says Haverkampf. The donations have largely come, he explains, from the parents of Hilltop's children and include everything from laborers to missionaries to well-to-do business leaders.

The home is situated on 4 acres at the southeast tip of the Bloomingdale corporate limits. Resembling a large ranch-type residence, it has been built at a cost of about $71,000 which includes 4 acres of land, but not the large amount of necessary equipment.

Rooms are all basically nursery for the youngsters who are seperated by age groups or types of affliction. There is also a kitchen where Haverkampf reigns as chief cook and a laundry where virtually thousands of diapers are washed daily.

THE HAVERKAMPS are using some lower level space as an apartment now, but this area is planned for future expansion for the youngsters. On the wall is a bell alarm which can call them for an emergency in any part of the building at any hour.

An outer room is devoted to visiting parents for those cherished moments of limited reunions. Every room devoted to the children is included in a valuable intercom system for constant communication.

"Each of these children and their history is a story in itself," says Mrs. Haverkampf who takes a few moments from her busy schedule to join her husband in explaining the operations of Hilltop house. She is a registered nurse.

Picking up one cute little mongoloid child, she goes on . . . "This is Debbie. She's 2 years old now and came to us when she was just 4 days. She suffered a heart attack on the way home in the car and has had several more since then.

"Her father is a guest every Christmas eve when he arrives loaded with packages. He spends an hour or so with Debbie and then talks briefly with us before departing. We never see him again until the following Christmas.

"When we open the packages we find all sorts of clothes that apparently were bought for her before she was born. I don't think his wife has ever known about his visits."

IT IS PATHETIC that in addition to their handicap at birth, the mongoloid victims also for some reason always seem to have additional problems of serious natures. Debbie's heart troubles are just one example.

The dedication and open house Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. will officially present the Hilltop facilities to the north Du Page and Chicagoland public. Prairie ave. extends south from Lake st. at the east edge of Bloomingdale.

A special dedication service is scheduled at 3 p.m. in the Baptist church in Bloomingdale. The Rev. Milan Swasko will officiate. The Rev. Karl Geartner and the Rev. G. Harry Nelson will be among other clergymen taking part.

AMONG PROMINENT people taking an active interest in Mark Lund Hilltop house are veteran stage and screen actor Sidney Blackmer and television's Kay Westfall, an Elmhurst resident, who will serve as hostess and greeter Sunday afternoon.

Blackmer will appear in a special Hilltop house parent's benefit of Clarence Darrow's "Inherit the Wind" at Salt Creek theatre in Hinsdale June 8. Proceeds from the stage play will go to help the parents of Hilltop residents of limited financial backing. (B12 APPROPRIATELY, Mark Lund Hilltop house is at the top of a knoll that overlooks some beautiful countryside in the southeast corner of Bloomingdale. The upper level porch is on the west and north sides of the building where the children can get plenty of sun when the weather is warm. (Register photos

"HI! HOPE YOU can come Sunday," beams little Mark Lund by way of invitation to the dedication and open house at Mark Lund Hilltop home for incurable and handicapped children in Bloomingdale Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. Kay Westfall, television personality, will serve as hostess. Mark is a mongoloid child.

THE KITCHEN at Hilltop is completely equipped to serve the 30 young appetites at the home. All food is specially prepared. Putting a supply of milk together for distribution is Mrs. Marilyn Johnson, Hoffman Estates, one of six practical nurses employed at the home to help Mr. and Mrs. Haverkampf with the many daily and special duties.

Realtors to Hear Air Corpsmen

A complete "sell-out" of all available display space at the Northwest Home and Garden Show was announced this week by Robert J. Zeller, show director. The show will be held May 16, 17 and 18 at the Arlington park race track.

The show will feature hundreds of displays geared to the interest of the modern-day home owner.

ZELLER, IN reporting the sale of more than 120 exhibit booths, stated "The enthusiasm with which this show has been received is almost unbelievable." He pointed out applications had been received for more than three acres of display area and advance ticket sales had "gone beyond expectations."

Special features of the show will include personal appearances by Mary Hartline and the "Princess Mary Show" on television, many leading radio and television "disc jockeys," and the Eddie Hubbard amateur show.

A suburban-living show will be another prominent feature.

A SERIES OF exhibits entitled "Tools for the Defense of Our Homes" has been set in cooperation with the Army, Navy and Air Force. Included will be jet aircraft, Nike launcher and other service exhibits.

All proceeds from the show will be used for community and national Jaycee projects according to the Rolling Meadows Junior chamber of commerce, sponsors of the show. (B8

Illinois Bell, Union Agree

Agreement on a new wage contract, calling for weekly increases of from $1 to $3.50 was reached Tuesday by Illinois Bell Telephone co. and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO).

The union represents 12,500 Plant Department employees in Chicago and 370 communities, served by Illinois Bell in Illinois and Lake and Porter counties in Indiana; including linemen, installer-repairmen, cable splicers and clerks. There are 82 plant department employees in Arlington Heights.

THE 12-MONTH wage agreement, effective to April 30, 1959, will go into effect May 4 if ratified by the union membership before May 12. Total cost to Illinois Bell in wages and related costs is $2,000,000. The negotiations, in progress for two months, involved only wages and town reclassification, under a wage-reopener clause in a contract signed a year ago.

A reclassification of top craftsmen in Cook county resulted in an additional 50-cent weekly increase. Craftsmen in Sterling and Canton also were reclassified into a higher group; as were clerical workers in Quincy, Danville, Geneva, Chicago Heights, Summit and Oak Lawn.

Maximum basic wage rate for skilled craftsmen in Arlington Heights will be $120.50. This rate excludes overtime and premium pay. (B8

Gale Winds Shatter Glass In New Store

Gale force winds blew in a huge plate glass window at the new Jewel Tea grocery in Arlington Market shopping center shortly after the store opened Saturday morning.

Store manager Ferd Blohm said there were few shoppers in the store when the window shattered and crashed inward at 9:10 a.m. A mother snatched her young son out of the way as the pane, 10 square feet, started to give.

The window which broke was one of eight that size. Blohm said replacement would cost about $300. (AF

Home and Garden Show 'Sold Out'

Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors will hold its regular monthly dinner meeting Thursday, May 8, at Old Orchard country club, Mt. Prospect.

Speaker will be James E. Strunck, assistant corporation counsel for the city of Chicago for aviation matters, who will give the realtor members the "inside" information on "What goes at O'Hare Field, Chicago's International Airport."

Strunck is a graduate of the University of Illinois, Chicago Kent College of Law, and attended Command & Staff School U.S.A.F. He also was a combat pilot in World War II, and a Korean War Veteran, and a former member, Judge Advocate Generals Division U.S.A.F.

COL. EVART W. Hedlund will also give a talk on the subject of "Jets and Climatic Testing." He is a graduate of the University of North Dakota, Advance flying school, Kelly Field, Texas, and was commissioned in the Regular Air Force October 1, 1938, and has been on continuous active duty since that time.

His present duty is with the Illinois National Guard.

As an added attraction, "The "Harmonettes" from Arlington high school will entertain. This group, consisting of 11 girls is one of the outstanding high school harmony groups in the state.

The Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors now has a total membership of 184 members in the three classifications, realtors, associate members (salespersons and affiliate members.) (B8

St. John's Will Institute Priest-in-Charge Sunday

Rev. Roberts Edward Ehrgott begins his duties May 1 as priest-in-charge of St. John Episcopal church, Mt. Prospect.

Father Ehrgott attended Roger C. Sullivan high school in Rogers Park and graduated from Northwestern university and Seabury-Western seminary. Before entering the priesthood he was in the business world for several years and also served in World War II as an infantryman in the European theatre. He is a member of the Armed Forces Division of the National Council of the Episcopal church and is presently chairman of the Armed Foorces Division of the Diocese of Chicago and a member of the Diocesan council.

Following his ordination in in 1949, Father Ehrgott was rector of St. Ignatius, Antioch, for two years and rector of St. Mary Magdalene, Villa Park, for three years, subsequently going to Grace church, Hinsdale. Father and Mrs. Ehrgott are the parents of Barbara Anne, 10, Robin, 6, and Timothy, 2.

The Very Rev. Frederick W. Putnam, rector of St. Matthew's, Evanston, and dean of the Lake Shore deanery, will institute Father Ehrgott as priest-in-charge of St. John's at 3 p.m., Sunday, May 4. The Rt. Rev. Gerald Francis Burrill, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago will be present at the institution and address the mission. A reception for Father Ehrgott and his family will follow the service.

Our Lady of the Wayside Church Dedication Sunday

Bishop Raymond P. Hillinger, auxiliary bishop of the Chicago archdiocese, will dedicate Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic church in Arlington Heights at noon Sunday, May 11.

The pastor, Rev. Harold O'Hara, will be the celebrant at a solemn high mass to follow at 12:30 p.m. Some 50 clergymen are expected to attend.

BISHOP HILLINGER will begin the ceremony outside the modern Romanesque church with a blessing of the front door. The bishop and accompanying clergy will then walk around the exterior of the building, pausing to bless it at several points. The ceremony will be repeated in a circuit of the church interior.

Father O'Hara said Brookfield Studios has "promised" completion of a fourth stained glass window for the church in time for the dedication.

"The window depicts the coronation of the Virgin Mary, the mother of Christ, as the Queen of Heaven," he said. "Thus it is particularly fitting the window should be ready for Mother's day."

A DINNER FOR the clergy will be held in the parish hall at 2 p.m., served by women of the parish.

Ground was broken for the $300,000 edifice November 4, 1956. The cornerstone laying was held March 17, 1957, and the first mass was said last September 29. The church at Mitchell and Park sts. seats 950. The parish serves an estimated 1,000 families in Arlington Heights and Elk Grove. (ACK

Accidental Death Is Jury Verdict

A coroner's jury ruled the death of 12-year-old Jose L. Salazar was accidental at an inquest held the afternoon of April 23 at Arlington Heights village hall.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Justino Salazar of the Vernon Deeke farm, Dundee rd., was killed instantly March 24 when struck by a car driven by Mrs. Marcella Billens, route 2, McHenry.

ACCORDING to information given at the inquest, the boy had crossed Dundee rd. to mail a letter and had started back across the road when hit.

Mrs. Billens told county police she swerved to avoid hitting the boy, but saw an oncoming car. The right bumper of the car struck the lad. (ACM

Variety Show Is Hospital Benefit

Arlington, Barrington, and Palatine students will combine talents to aid the Northwest Community Hospital fund drive.

Sponsored by the three schools' student councils, "Backstage Variety," an hour and a half talent show, will be presented May 10 in the Arlington gym. All proceeds will go to the hospital campaign.

Each of the three schools will provide 30-35 minutes of its best talent. Numbers will vary from "singles" to group acts, and will include everything from pantomime to the "Charleston."

Chairman of Arlington's contributions is Ed Whitelaw, who has a committee of Don Ahmer and Bob Barbour.

SINCE THE SHOW is to be held at Arlington, AHS ushers will be in charge of handling the crowd. Palatine teens will take care of tickets, posters, and programs, while Barrington provides some attractive usherettes.

At the recent master of ceremony tryouts, Dave Wortheimer of Arlington and Jack Hogan of Palatine were selected to handle the parts.

Group acts from Arlington include the Harmonettes, the Choraliers, and the Dixiecats. "Singles" include Linda Clemens, Jeff Inkley, Marilyn Hagberg, Judy Glaser, and Charlene Halama.

Tickets are available at Arlington high school and will be sold the night of the performance.

Witnesses Name Minister For Arlington Congregation

William J. Narve has been appointed presiding minister of the recently formed Arlington Heights Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. The appointment was made by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York which is the governing body of Jehovah's Witnesses world wide.

Narve was formerly a ministerial assistant at the Central Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses in Chicago for many years. He will be assisted here by Albert Erickson, 237 E. Golf rd., Arlington Heights.

Narve announced the securing of facilities for their Kingdom Hall meetings in Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez, Arlington Heights. He stated that the first meeting of the new congregation will take place Friday, May 2, at 7:30 p.m. Thereafter meetings will be held regularly every Friday as well as Sunday at 4 p.m., when a different Bible talk will be given each week and Sunday at 5:15 p.m. when the regular Watchtower Bible study will be conducted. He indicated that these meetings are always open to the public and are designed for the edification of persons of good will toward God. The meetings, of course, are free.

Those who will comprise the new congregation were formerly associated with the Des Plaines Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses at 1652 Rand rd., Des Plaines. The congregation there, which was formed in October, 1947, has grown rapidly over the years, resulting in the necessity of forming the new congregation in Arlington Heights.

Narve said that besides the meetings in Pioneer Park, other Bible study classes will be conducted in various homes of Jehovah's Witnesses in Palatine, Rolling Meadows and Arlington Heights. (AP

THE STREET OF ECONOMY

Student Fee Is Increased 1 Dollar

Arlington high school district board of education last week approved a one dollar increase in the student fee. The hike from $10.50 to $11.50 per student takes effect this fall.

The student fee includes book rental, student newspaper, accident insurance policy, assemblies, and towel rental. The yearbook, not included in the fee, will remain at $4.50.

The board said the increase was necessary because of a 25 cent raise in insurance premiums and higher textbook costs.

Lynn Coopmans — CLearbrook 5-5940

News Of Prospect Meadows

There will be a directors meeting at 8:30 p.m. Thursday at Burt Ruther's home.

At the spring dance Saturday night there was a big turnout and $186.13 was made free and clear. Thanks for a job very well done go to the committee, Gloria Campbell, Nora Roths, Anne Incinelli and Ethel Larson, and to Russ Newmen's band. Prizes were won by Robert Sears, John McGivney and Mrs. Frydis Schune. Anne Incinelli won the $5 piggy back prize and the shoes were won by Marie Kempf of Chicago and JanScott, a newcomer of a few weeks. Numerous former Meadowites also came to renew old acquaintances. Needless to say, the balloon drop went off with a big bang.

AFTER THE DANCE Saturday the McNaughtons, Larsons, Maisels and Seebers went to the Maisels' for "coffee and."

Seven couples from Chicago stopped at the Nolan home for a cocktail party Saturday evening before going to the dance.

Stan Polly's brother, Gerald Polly of Waupaca, Wis., suffered severe injuries in an automobile accident last Tuesday. The car was totally demolished. Ruby and Stan spent the weekend there.

Burt Ruther's mother, Mrs. Helen K. Ruther of Chicago spent the weekend in the Meadows.

Velma and John Sage attended the annual potluck dinner of the Square Dance club Sunday at the Arlington field house.

GUESTS OF KAY and Art Sepke for the dance were Art's cousin, Larry Lolli and his fiance, Phyllis Kaplan, of Chicago.

Monday David Sepke was five. There to help him celebrate were Billy and Jimmy Wilkins, Chipper Ruther, Stevie Hemesath and Dennis Kamps.

Neighbors of Dolly Soduski surprised her with a birthday party at the dance Saturday. Dolly's mother, Mrs. Cele Kenar of Chicago spent the weekend.

Rita and Chuck Durec served supper to Lorrie and John Mikal of Elmhurst Sunday.

Marie and Andy Kempf of Chicago were guests of the Incinellis at the dance.

Dennis Kamps celebrated his fourth birthday with a luncheon Friday. Guests were Susan Hoglund, Eric and Amy Mueller, Karen Murdock, Chipper Ruther, Peggy Wrath, David Sepke, Stevie Hemesath and Kristie Ehlke. A family party was given in the evening and was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kamps of Prospect Heights, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Morand of Arlington Heights, Mrs. John Styller of Oak Park and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Morand and baby, Jeffrey, of Arlington Heights. Mr. and Mrs. Schoendeck of Arlington Heights took Dennis on his first shopping trip to the dime store and told him to take his pick. Dennis came home with quite a collection.

Marge and Bill Murdock gave a before the dance cocktail party and the Durecs, Wraths, Ruthers, Sepkes, Webbers were there.

Friday evening Rosemary and Bill Vosburgh visited in Elmhurst with Mr. and Mrs. Wagner and their new daughter Diane.

WHEELING—Mrs. Periolat will go to Chicago to live with her daughter after her auction. R. H. Periolat has moved here from Libertyville and occupies his mother's house. He is quite weak since his operation.

Indoor baseball continues to be the leading amusement. The club of 16 have arranged with Mrs. Mors to have the new creamery transformed into a large hall for their use. It is fun for both audience and players to see the fine plays made by Messrs. Holt, Schminke, Schmidt, Lips, etc. They would like to meet any other club in a match game.

Henry Metz and bride nee Mathilda Lemke who weer married March 1, are now nicely settled on the H. W. Busse farm near Wm. Schoenbeck, where they will make money and enjoy life while reading the Cook County Herald.

Mr. Marsh, the old reliable pickle man, is still in the field doing a bigger business than ever before. "I am now ready to make contracts for 1908 and will pay the highest market prices for all the pickles and cabbage raised in this vicinity. Don't make contracts with any other party under any consideration until you have seen my representative." Call W. A. Pfluger for contracts and seed.

A hundred and seventy-two persons are believed to have been killed and 460 injured, many fatally, in a tornado which Friday swept 13 States of the Union from the Dakotas to the Gulf of Mexico, leaving a trail of destroyed villages, farms and bereaved households.

PALATINE Village Board met Monday evening for the purpose of paying outstanding bills, receiving annual reports from officers. The annual report of the water works department showed annual receipts of over $1100. Salary of firemen of $216 was allowed. Salary list of president and trustees of 18 meetings at $1.50 each amounting to $187 was ordered paid. President Olms voiced the regret of the board members of the retirement of trustee Comfort. He has been the watchdog of the treasury.

Palatine — Lightning struck a pole of our lighting system at Slade and Benton, this week, severing the wire holding the lamp. The pole was shattered, but the lamp was uninjured. The large number of poles and wires around town is no doubt a great protection to the residences.

Only two fire alarms the past year according to the fire chief's report. The first one at Henry Wolf's was not especially dangerous, but the Thies Mercantile Company's (brick block) blaze might have assumed large proportions, but for our fire protection.

South Barrington — Geo. Humphrey says he hopes the nice young ladies will remember that this is Leap Year and exercise their perogative. He is in the market for some desirable lady who wants a good husband and don't want to wait for the Leap Year babies to grow up.

ITASCA—Mr. Walter Meyer and Miss Rosen were united in marriage by Pastor F. Zersen at the Lutheran church April 26.

The school board met Wednesday night at the schoolhouse on business and re-engaged the two teachers for next year and taught the new director how to buy coal.

There were three very disappointed ladies at the depot Saturday night, they came out of Chicago on the last train. On account of parties failing to meet them, they returned home via Elgin, and the electric, reaching home Sunday a.m.

Wm. Rosenwinkel from Bloomingdale drove to Itasca Monday to get some malt, left his team in a shed without tying them, they backed out and took a hike; got as far as Aug. Goeddecke's place, run down two nice trees and other damage. When they reached Goeddeck's barn they were captured by Henry Mess. If the trees die, it will mean quite a damage for Rosenwinkel.

ARLINGTON Heights Volunteer Training Corps of course always pay strict heed to orders from Capt. Best. But Wednesday evening it was not necessary for the captain to call the roll as the boys gathered at the village hall looking spick and span in their uniforms. There was no need for inspection because all shoes were shined, hairs combed and clothes carefully brushed from the Lt. down to the youngest private. Everyone was present for their duties, which were never more pleasing, called them to the banquet hall to honor and bid farewell to Merle Guild and James McElhose. In addition to being a send-off to these two, the affair was likewise in honor of the nine other members who are in Class 1 and expect to be called soon.

The company formed at the village hall, marched to the Presbyterian church with the honor men in the lead, Sergeant Kuhs, Corporals McElhose and Russell, Privates Guild, Elfeld, Crant, Loomis, Wheeler, Kost, Lauterburg and Duthorn.

SELL BUICKS—Wm. Busse & Son have sold their 32nd Buick this year. Two more International trucks will be delivered this week. That was the excuse Albert Busse gave the editor for not having time to write a new ad.

Tom Leland of Aurora was thankful Tuesday when he arrived in sight of Mt. Prospect. He had come all the way from Aurora on a gas tank driving a new International truck to the Busse garage. Between the rain and the roads Tom says it was only the knowledge of his welcome his truck would receive at Mt. Prospect that kept him going. The truck, itself, enjoyed the trip and only needed a washing up to place it ready for delivery to the lucky man who had ordered it.

The pupils of the lower grades of the public school paid visits to their friends Wednesday night, but went no further than the doors where they fastened dainty May baskets of various designs and contents and then vanished like little fairies.

Miss Lillian Dieball and Mr. Henry Pohlman were united in marriage April 24. Mr. Pohlman left Monday for Camp Grant.

Mr. George Higgins, formerly of Arlington Heights and now a soldier, and Miss Eula Perrego were married April 25.

There is probably more building activity in Arlington Heights this spring than in any other northwest community. Scarsdale has been the scene of the larger share but Sherwood is showing some real life. Homes in Sherwood are in the $7,500 class.

The vote cast on the sewer project for Wheeling revealed a 5 to 1 majority opposed to the proposition as presented, the vote being 102 no and 20 yes. Only 50 per cent of the registered voters cast a vote.

Mr. and Mrs. August Frederick Sr. quietly observed their fifty-seventh wedding anniversary Thursday. Mr. Frederick has served as president of the Itasca village board.

Peyton Place

The people of "Peyton Place" are now on the screen in Jerry Wald's CinemaScope production, starting Friday for one week at the Catlow theatre in suburban Barrington.

Co-starred in this Twentieth Century-Fox drama about the manners and morals of a small New England community are Lana Turner, Hope Lange, Lee Phillips, Diane Varsi, Lloyd Nolan, Arthur Kennedy, Russ Tamblyn, and Terry Moore, featuring David Nelson, Barry Coe, Betty Field, and Mildred Dunnock.

Since "Peyton Place" is recommended for adults only, there will be a special matinee for the children Sunday, May 4. Details can be found in the ad with feature and starting time. (Bill

Pedestrians May Tiptoe; Swiss Crack Down cn Noise

by BILL DILLINGHAM

The Swiss believe there is far too much noise in the world. Wherever one goes, they say, noise is in the atmosphere. Only the mountains remain peaceful.

To do something about it, they have established the "Anti-Noise Campaign." At the end of this campaign, it is expected that Switzerland will be as quiet as it was one century ago.

THE FIRST NOISE to stop has been the horns of automobiles. Next, their silencers have come under detailed police scrutiny. Motorcycles and trucks are given special attention. Horse-drawn vehicles banging over cobblestone streets are subject to fines. They have to get equipped with rubber tires.

"We expect to put a rubber cushion under everything that moves," states Zurich's police chief.

A new type of pneumatic hammer for tearing up streets has now been put into service. Called the "H-Hammer," it is boastfully said to sound something like a baby tapping on his pillow.

NOISE IS PARTIALLY blamed for constantly increasing the nervous disorders of people. City dwellers have poorer nerves than country ones. This seems to be even more evident in a place like Switzerland where the contrast between city and mountain people is sharp. The anti-noise campaign intends to combine the peace of the country with the progress of the city. Noise is the single difference. Officials state that city people are no more busy than country folks — they just make more fuss doing things.

Police no longer blow their whistles, clanging trolley cars are being replaced by soundless busses, taxicabs are noted by police if their drivers slam the doors, mechanics or shopkeepers no longer are permitted to use the sidewalk for swinging a hammer at anything, garbage collectors have rubber railings on which to tap their cans when emptying them, and so forth.

"If this keeps up," a cab driver complained, "pretty soon people will start tiptoeing down the street." (B12

The Mailman's Corner

Think Carefully Before Confiding

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Each person, in certain respects, lives to himself alone. It is better to keep our thoughts, fears, hopes, mistakes and disappointments to ourselves. The person who talks about his troubles is sometimes the healthiest emotionally; but he can also get himself into some predicaments. When people know too much about your hopes, plans, loves and hates, you can easily incur their ridicule and dislike, or even rouse their anger and opposition.

That is why it is generally best to keep your thinking to yourself. Once you have reached a decision about what you are going to do or what you think, it is a different matter, for you have then thought about all of the angles, have ceased to vacillate from one opinion to another, and can follow a direct line of action, or make a definite statement; but it is always best to keep quiet until you are sure of yourself; and even then it is foolish to make a statement without good reason.

I HAVE KNOWN people who have made intimate confidants of other people whom they believed to be good friends. They have told secrets that are damning, and which put them in their "friend's" power. They have expressed dislikes for other people, told stories about them which, when carried back to them by the "friend" and confidant of yesterday but today is an enemy, cause arguments, hatreds, fights, even law suits.

If you can not say something good about a person, then for goodness sake keep still or be non-committal, even to your friend. The only exception would be when by keeping silent, your friend might be hurt because of his ignorance.

It is a good rule always to think twice before giving out personal information of any kind about anybody. Just talking to win attention or praise is foolish, and can be harmful. (B12

Musicians Select 1959 Operetta

Another Victor Herbert operetta was chosen as Music-on-Stage's spring production, 1959, at the April 23 meeting of the group held at the home of Mrs. M. S. Feltz in Prospect Heights.

In making this selection the members of Music on Stage recognized the fact that any of this master's writings has wide audience-appeal and give those who perform in it an opportunity to use their varied talents in singing and acting.

GROUP ALSO further discussed the fall variety show which, at their prior meeting, they had elected to give. First tryouts for acts will be May 25.

Mrs. Alfred Loll, chairman of the nominating committee, presented slate of officers for next year which included: Jack Wassmer, Palatine, president; Robert Reed, Arlington Heights, vice president; Alfred Loll, Arlington Heights, treasurer; Mrs. Ray Blakeman, Prospect Heights, secretary. (B8

At Des Plaines

YUL BRYNNER as Dimitri Karamazov, leading character in Dostoyevsky's great novel, "The Brothers Karamazov," now brought to the screen as an Avon Production for M-G-M. The new picture follows Brynner's outstanding portrayals in "Anastasia," "The Ten Commandments" and "The King and I," for which he won the Academy Award. Opens Friday at Des Plaines.

LANA TURNER rebuffs the advances of Lee Phillips is one of the many dramatic scenes from Jerry Wald's "Peyton Place," opening Friday for one week at the Catlow theatre in suburban Barrington. The adult drama is filmed in CinemaScope and TechniColor, and is presented in Stereophonic Sound. Please notice ad in this section for special feature hours.

Circus Coming May 26

Spangled glamour girls, magnificent horses, fun-filled clowns and those perennial favorites, the elephants, spell circus.

All these will appear in Palatine Monday, May 26, when Mills Bros. Three Ring Circus appears under the big top at Glencoe and Leonard for 3 and 8 p.m. performances.

Palatine chamber of commerce is sponsoring the world's largest motorized circus on that date. Members have special reduced price advance tickets on sale now.

FROM "FIESTA" musical opening to the array of alluring elephant girls in the grand finale, the three ring program is studded with selected circus champions from 18 different nations. Clowns, aerialists, jugglers, a 40-ton herd of elephants, liberty horses, trained animals and all the traditional favorites will appear.

Mail orders will be accepted by writing the Palatine chamber of commerce, Dept. C, 12 N. Bothwell, Palatine. (B8

Nat'l Home Show Week Of May 5-12

National Home Demonstration week, May 5-12, will be observed by homemakers across the nation, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska.

The theme is "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World." More than six and one-half million homemakers participate in the Home Economics Extension program.

The Council directs its interest and action to special emphasis for strengthening and promoting the areas of its program having to do with family life. In these times of swift changes, the family, enshrined in a good home, is a first haven of real and satisfying security.

Extension work in Illinois is statewide with more than 55,000 homemakers and their families sharing in the program. (BB

Begin Home-Garden Show Ticket Campaign Sales

Robert J. Zeller, show director for the Northwest Home and Garden show, is swamped with enthusiasm as each of his seven committeemen try to sell him the first ticket to the show.

Sponsored by the Rolling Meadows Junior Chamber of Commerce, the show will be held at the Arlington Park race track, May 16-17-18.

The event, scheduled to be the largest Home and Garden show ever held in suburban Chicago, will include displays by approximately 120 northwest-area home and garden suppliers.

A series of special programs are tentatively planned for all of the family, including an appearance by Mary Hartline and her "Princess Mary Show," a "Suburban appearances by Eddie Hubbard, Jim Lounsbury as well as other celebrities.

Rejoins Firm As Head of Advertising

C. E. PARSON

C. E. Parson of Arlington Heights, former advertising manager for Chambers Built-Ins., inc., of Chicago, has rejoined the firm as director of advertising and sales promotion.

Parson, who was with the firm for six years, had more recently been in charge of advertising for Avco's American Kitchens.

A. H. Scheffer, general sales manager of Chambers, announced that Parson will devote his activities to the promotion of the firm's newly introduced complete line of packaged built-in kitchen appliances. The line includes built-in ovens and surface units in gas and electric, refrigerator-freezers, dishwasher-dryers, ventilating hoods, and disposers.

Parson originally joined Chambers in 1950 to help organize the firm's cooking demonstration program. Prior to joining the company, he was in charge of advertising for the Edwin Flato co. retail appliance stores in Houston, Beaumont, and Corpus Christi, Tex. He also was copy chief for a Houston advertising agency.

Born in Birmingham, Ala., Parson is a graduate of Birmingham Southern college. With his wife and three children he lives in Arlington Heights. (BB

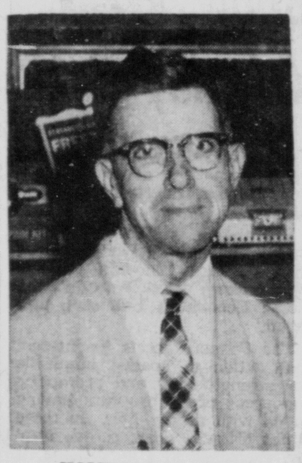
New Appliance Store to Open

ROBERT NOVAK



HOMER DOUGHTY

A new appliance sales and service shop will open soon in Mt. Prospect at 133 W. Prospect ave., as the Doris Kirkeby shop moves into larger quarters.

Novak and Parker of Park Ridge will open a branch store, announces Robert Novak, a Mt. Prospect resident and owner of the Park Ridge company founded by his father, Joe Novak, and Robert Park in 1913.

Homer Doughty of Arlington Heights formerly associated with Rhodes Appliances, will manage the store, which will open on or about May 4.

THE FIRM has built a reputation during its 45 years of good service and fair prices. They operate one of the most complete service shops in the northwest area on appliances and television.

The new store will carry a complete line of miscellaneous items such as odd size light bulbs, vacuum sweeper disposable bags, small appliance parts and fixture glass not available at most other stores.

Both stores are agents for Public Service Company, and customers may pay bills and exchange bulbs at either location.

Less Meat, Florida Freeze May Put Food Costs at All-Time High

Temporarily shorter meat supplies plus the continuing effect of the Florida freeze may result in a new all-time high for the food price index of the Department of Labor this week, predicted H. V. McNamara, president, National Tea Co., Chicago.

Pointing out that price is not the whole story, he declared that food purchasing power remains at a high level. He reported that it takes only 29 minutes of work to pay for a pound of round steak today compared with 36 minutes in 1948, according to Labor Department statistics.

A quart of milk costs seven minutes now, against 10 minutes in 1948, while the comparative cost of coffee is 22 minutes in 1958 versus 24 minutes ten years ago.

EMPHASIZING that the period covered by the new index would be mid-March, McNamara added that local homemakers can take heart from the news that currently - six weeks after the index period - spring vegetables are beginning to move to market in quantity.

The food chain executive said he expected increases in meat and produce prices, along with marketing cost pressure, to provide the impetus in moving the food index up again. Total red meat production during the month to be covered by the new index averaged 9 to 17 per cent below a year ago, which accounts for the better returns to farmers after a period of abnormally low prices during 1955, 1956 and early 1957. Choice grade steers (900 to 1,100 pound average) at Chicago rose from $28.18 per cwt. on Feb. 15, 1958 to $30.68 on March 15. The March 15 average compares with $22.52 a year ago, he reported.

Damage to the winter vegetable crop by three consecutive freezes in Florida reduced supplies available to an increasing population by 15 per cent and upped prices, continued McNamara, president of the Chicago based chain of 905 food stores.

"Despite the impact of these supply conditions on many perishable products, the real control over any family's 'cost of living' rests with the homemaker and her shopping cart when she visits her supermarket," the food chain spokesman asserted. He observed that modern markets offer a choice of 4,000 to 6,000 items, as compared with the 70-odd priced regularly by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

This huge variety gives thrifty shoppers selectivity from hundreds of alternate foods. For example, poultry and some cuts of beef, lamb and pork offer good values currently in the meat department, while canned and frozen food department "specials" are available from week to week during the period in April and May when fresh produce pipelines are being filled, he added. Let $4 Million Toll Contracts

Contracts totaling $3,935,321.97 for the furnishing of part of the Illinois tollway's lighting system and for the fabrication and erection of traffic signs were awarded here April 18 by the Illinois state toll highway commission.

The Federal Sign and Signal corp. of Chicago was awarded a contract in the amount of $733,326.06 for the supply and installation of the traffic signs.

Six contracts totaling $3,201,995,91 of a total of eleven contracts involved in the lighting of all interchanges, toll plazas, and service areas along the 187-mile tollway were awarded as follows:

G. A. Rafel co., Chicago, $386,888.00; Meade Electric co., Chicago, $1,834,500.00; Premier Electrical Construction co., Chicago, $266,200.00; B and F Hi-Line Construction corp., Rockford, $428,040.00; Efengee Electrical Supply Co., Chicago, $212,368.20, (Mercury Vapor ballasts); and Wetinghouse Electric Corp., Pittsburgh, $73,999.71, (exterior steel cabinets).

Charles L. Dearing, executive director of the commission, said that the commission is proceeding now with the awarding of all final contracts necessary to complete the tollway as scheduled.

"The only major contracts left to be awarded are the five remaining contracts for the lighting system and contracts for the construction of eight maintenance buildings," Dearing said.

Worker 5 Times as Safe On The Job as at Home

Industry learned in 1957 that, indeed, there's no place like home—if you want an accident!

That fact came out in a survey by the National Safety Council of the off-the-job accident experience of 78 companies.

The companies surveyed, representing a cross-section of U.S. industry, were of two categories—75 companies employing a total of 155,000 persons, and three with about 132,000 employes.

The companies—including some from Canada and the U.S. territories—are engaged in activities ranging from manufacturing heavy machinery to operating paper mills. Even stevedoring operations are included in the Council survey.

The survey showed these facts:

1. Working for the three big companies was 12 times as safe in 1957 as being at home or in public places.

2. Injuries to workers employed by the 75 smaller companies occurred nearly five times more often off the job than on.

3. Old-fashioned slips and falls nosed out modern traffic as the No. 1 hazard to employees of the 78 companies. They injured 1,982 workers off the job in 1957, as compared with 1,967 persons injured in off-the-job auto or truck accidents.

4. Traffic was, however, the chief off-the-job death-dealer. It took more than eight times as many lives as did falls and slips.

5. The 75 smaller companies reported that each off-the-job injury kept employees away from work an average of 18 days.

"All this," said Harry C. Johnson, staff representative of the National Safety Council's Off-the-Job Safety Committee, "emphasizes the need for greater effort to prevent accidents outside the factory.

"A worker injured away from work is just as absent from his job as one who has been hurt while working.

"More and more, industry is extending its safety know-how and resources beyond the factory gate throughout the community as a public service.

"This is one of the most encouraging developments in the safety movement today. America desperately needs the leadership in prevention of accidents of all kinds that business and industry can give and are giving." (BB

TWA Increases O'Hare Flights By 300 Per Cent

Trans World Airlines announced today that beginning April 27 it increased from 2 to 8 its daily flights through O'Hare International Airport.

George V. Lambert, district sales manager here, said the new flights were effective April 27, with the change in local time. He added that all TWA flights will operate on local time, whether it be standard or daylight.

The new O'Hare flights will include a non-stop Jetstream to Los Angeles and San Francisco, which will operate on Friday only. The daily westbound flights include a low-cost Sky Club coach to Kansas City, Los Angeles and San Francisco, and a twin-engine flight to Peoria and Kansas City.

Lambert said the eastbound flights will include a daily trip to Dayton, Pittsburgh, Hartford, Springfield and Boston. In addition, there will be two non-stop coach flights—one to Newark and the other to Boston.

Lambert said TWA will also increase its Midway Airport flights to Pittsburgh, Dayton, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Kansas City. (BB

American Airlines Adds New Flight at O'Hare

American Airlines added a third four-engine DC-6 flight at O'Hare field Sunday with the changeover to daylight time an summer flying schedules, Chicago district sales manager Clarke Ferguson announced.

The standard-fare flight will originate daily at New York's LaGuardia Airport, leaving there at 2 p.m. (EDT), and operating nonstop to O'Hare, where it will arrive at 4:15 p.m. (CDT). It will leave at 4:45 p.m. for St. Louis, Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Dallas and Ft. Worth. The flight gives northwest Chicago and suburban area travelers their first four-engine service from O'Hare to St. Louis and the Oklahoma and Texas points.

As in the past five years (beginning with the daylight time period in 1953), timetables of American and other scheduled airlines will be on local time — arrivals and departures will be shown in terms of daylight time for Chicago and other cities switching to fast time, and in terms of standard time for those cities remaining on standard time.

A fourth DC-6 schedule — this one an 80-passenger aircoach service — will be added at O'Hare on May 24, Ferguson said. The flight will originate daily at New York's LaGuardia Airport, arrive here at 11:15 a.m. (CDT), and then leave at 11:45 a.m. nonstop for Los Angeles. (BB

Winston Unveils New Home

THE FALMOUTH is the sixth and newest model in Winston Park's line of homes in Palatine. The 3-bedroom, 3-bathroom, 2,100 square foot home is the highest priced model in the subdivision at $27,290.

The sixth, largest, and highest priced model in Palatine's Winston Park subdivision will be shown to the public beginning Friday, Robert Richards, vice president and general manager of N. K. Winston - Muss corp., announced today.

With the builders re-emphasizing their confidence in customer buying power despite a "recession," Winston has built a house which includes 2,100 feet of living space, three bathrooms and a two-car garage.

THE MODEL, NAMED the Falmouth, is priced at $27,290.

Richards said he expects Falmouth models to be completed for home owners beginning in late June. Homes of the sixth model in the firm's line will displace a proportionate share of other models.

Winston Park officials were careful, Richards noted, not to place homes similarly designed side by side.

At the same time, David Muss, president of the corporation who recently returned from Washington, D.C., said his firm will offer Veterans' administration financing plans to Winston Park customers. This move is anticipated to open up further sales advances since the new government regulation makes it possible to purchase a home with five per cent down and a 4¾ per cent interest rate.

UNDER CONVENTIONAL and FHA financing plans, Winston Park Northwest has sold 240 homes in the first unit of 559 homes, all east of Salt creek north of Chicago ave. and west of Wilke rd.

The Falmouth is actually a quad-level house. On the lower level is the basement. On the ground level is the reception foyer, a recreation room, den and bath. On the intermediate floor is the living room, kitchen and dining room, and on the top floor are three bedrooms and a bath with an additional bath off the master bedroom.

The Falmouth, including garage, is 59 feet wide by 30 feet. It is situated on an 80-front-foot lot which is 105 feet deep.

IN FLOOR SPACE, the Falmouth model has 200 more square feet of living space—this does not include garage or basement—than the Dover model which had 1,900 square feet. The price is $1,300 above the $25,990 Dover model.

Richards said that now, more than ever, the American public is cost conscious, "But, the average customer has the money and is willing to spend it for a product that meets his needs. The demand for better housing is on the increase and builders are constructing more higher quality homes." he added. (BB

Service Station Outlook To Be Better in 1958

Four northwest suburban Shell Oil co. men heard company officials report that service station business will be better in 1958 than in 1957 despite stiffer competition.

Hearing the remarks were Richard M. Abbott, 210 N. Schubert, Palatine, assistant retail manager for Shell; Eugene Christie, 641 S. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, sales representative; and Wally McCall and Virgil Horath of Horath service station, 400 Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

More than 600 service station dealers and distributors of Shell Oil products heard this prediction April 21-23 at a series of dinner meetings in Chicago.

It is part of a 10-year forecast, based on an anticipated 35 per cent increase in the number of licensed drivers in the next decade.

G. E. Keister, Shell's sales manager, welcomed the dealers, who then saw a series of skits depicting the service station of the future. The service station will become more important as the nation's population grows and more people move to th esuburbs, dealers were told.

H. O. Krass, 418 W. Wilson st., Palatine, retail manager, reviewed the latest results in the company's fuel research program. He said Shell laboratories will continue their research on improving automotive fuels and lubricants. (BB

JOHN J. SOKOLOWSKI

The Sperry and Hutchinson co. today announced that John J. Sokolowski, 102 S. Elmwood, Palatine, has been named merchandise manager in charge of all S and H redemption centers in Chicago, metropolitan St. Louis and Rockford.

Frank E. Smith, S and H district merchandise manager, said Sokolowski will devote much of his time to supervision of the seven S and H redemption centers in Wieboldt stores in the Chicago area.

Smith said the increasing circulation of S and H green stamps has produced a large volume of business in the Chicago redemption centers.

Sokolowski, who has a Master's degree in merchandising from the University of Pittsburgh, has been with S and H two and a half years and formerly was associated with Carson Pirie Scott and co. (BB

Horticultural Society Planned For Northwest Suburban Gardeners

A group of active members of the Chicago Horticultural society are leading a movement to establish a suburban garden council in this area.

The purpose is to provide year-round garden service and information especially tailored by the society for the convenience and needs of residents of the northwest suburbs. All residents of Palatine, Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows, Mt. Prospect, Barrington, Des Plaines, Park Ridge and neighboring suburbs are invited to join.

AMONG THE activities contemplated are garden sessions in spring and fall led by recognized specialists in the subjects to be discussed, and including interchange of ideas and experiences among the members. There will also be visits to neighboring gardens distinguished for their excellence and the lessons they provide for others. It is planned eventually to establish a small but useful shelf of garden books and magazines in a convenient place.

Specific programs and activities will be developed in accordance with the wishes of the members of the council, as determined by a representative program committee. The council will have its own general chairman and other officers and committees as approved by the society, and will conduct its own meetings, tours and garden events in the northwest suburban area.

ALL EVENTS AND services will be free of charge to those who now are, or who later become, active members of the Chicago Horticultural society, with annual dues of five dollars, which covers both husband and wife under a single membership, and automatically makes them members of the northwest council.

Besides the local and regional events and services, members of the council will have all privileges of active membership in the horticultural society itself, including the right to vote and hold office. They will also receive a free subscription to the society's regular monthly publication "Garden Talks."

THEY WILL BE welcome to use the garden library and information center at society headquarters, 116 S. Michigan ave. Both husbands and wives may attend, free of admission, the society's lectures anywhere in the Chicago region, as well as its tours of exceptional gardens of prominent horticulturists, amateur as well as professional. Free admission does not apply, however, to occasional benefit affairs conducted by the society or its woman's board.

Among the events scheduled for the immediate future are an all-day visit Saturday, May 17, to the 60-acre estate of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Griffenhagen on Lake Geneva, where outstanding specialists on wildflowers will conduct parties through the woods to answer questions and discuss the widely varied vegetation.

A TOUR OF the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert A. Fischer on Route No. 63, just outside of Hinsdale Saturday, June 7, where a profusion of Oriental poppies in full bloom, representing many varieties, will be featured. This garden is nationally known for its many kinds of peonies, iris, daylilies, and other popular perennials.

These are representative of the summer events offered to society members, who must always have their membership cards with them for presentation at the entrance, although others will be admitted at a fixed charge, or may enroll at the gate.

AN ORGANIZATION committee has been formed to complete initial plans for setting up the Northwest Suburban council and for recruiting members. This committee held its first meeting Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald V. Walters, 305 Lonsdale rd., Prospect Heights.

Although the membership of the committee is being enlarged, the following members of the horticultural society are now functioning:

Joseph Babs, 507 N. Douglas, Arlington Heights, CL. 3-6656.

Mrs. Louis Brabec, 409 Go-Wando, Mt. Prospect, CL 3-0836.

Thomas F. Fussell, 331 S. Forrest, Arlington Heights, CL 5-4331.

N. M. Graves, 106 E. Clarendon, Prospect Heights, CL 3-0262.

Mrs. W. R. Greene, 909 Highland rd., Mundelein, Mu 6-8757.

Otto Kopp, 9 Kenilworth, Prospect Heights, CL 3-2767.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph J. Mohr, 602 E. Chicago ave., Palatine, FL 8-0430.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Scharninghousen, 396 N. Quentin rd., Palatine, FL 9-0228.

Mrs. Florence Selke, 3708 Oriole Lane, Rolling Meadows, CL 5-9498.

Mrs. D. V. Walters, 305 Lonsdale rd., Prospect Heights, Cl 3-2799. (BB

Red Cross Aid Course

Three Arlington Heights women will be better able to cope with sickness should it strike in their homes, due to the Red Cross course they have just finished in home care of the sick and injured.

Mrs. Huntly H. Gilbert, volunteer chairman of Nursing Services for the Chicago Red Cross Chapter said that the course was recently completed at the Evanston Branch office of the Red Cross.

Simple nursing skills taught in the Red Cross course include preparation of special diets, improving sick room equipment from common household articles, such as a backrest from a cardboard carton, and lifting and turning the bedridden patient. Also taught in the course is the correct method of taking pulse and respiration, and how to give a bed bath.

Among those certificated in the course are Mrs. John Smith, 305 E. Euclid, Mrs. Irving Ellifsen, 1221 Prairie, and Mrs. Gordon Ward, 309 S. Vail, all of Arlington Heights. (BB

Named TV Travel Ed

Wayne Griffin, veteran local and network radio and television personality and currently head of the Wayne Griffin Travel Service in Arlington Heights, has been named Travel Editor for WBKB by Sterling C. Quinlan, ABC Vice President in charge of the station.

Griffin's duties will be to format shows of a travel nature for special telecasting over WBKB.

Griffin became interested in traveling when he served for five years during World War II as announcer for the Blue Network's famed "Spotlight Bands" show, which featured name band music from a different armed forces base each night, six nights a week. Griffin estimated he spent four nights a week on trains going all over America from one camp to another.

WHEN TELEVISION began after the war, Griffin attained additional renown as commentator of the lively wrestling matches telecast over the ABC Television Network – a role for which he also had to travel from city to city in following the top matches.

Utilizing the vast experiences he's acquired in portal-to-portal traveling over the years, Griffin opened his Arlington Heights travel agency a year ago, and is now devoting his full resources to the travel industry – an important part of which will be lent to various WBKB travel series.

Turner Named To Alcoholic Committee

J. Howell Turner, 49 S. Brinker, Barrington, has been elected a member of the board of directors of the Chicago committee on Alcoholism, Wesley K. Lunt, the organization's president, announced today.

The alcoholism organization is a private non-profit organization concerned with education, research and treatment in the field of alcoholism.

Turner has been director of employee relations for the Standard oil Company of Indiana since April 1956, coming from the same position at California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corp. in San Francisco. Previously he had been with Industrial Relations Counselors, inc., in New York City, and Columbia Steel Company at San Francisco.

Turner was graduated from Stanford university and received his master's degree from Stanford university graduate school of business.

Turner and his wife Bettie have two young daughters, Nancy and Sandra.

The Chicago Committee on Alcoholism conducts an education program to increase public understanding of alcoholism. It also operates Portal House out-patient clinic for the treatment of alcoholics. Offices are located at 46 E. Superior st. (BB

At Wisconsin

Elfriede Kull, 118 S. State rd., Arlington Heights, and Jean M. Edgcombe, 511 S. Pine st., Mt. Prospect, were among 268 freshman women who were honored for their outstanding work in their studies at the University of Wisconsin this year at the annual women's Freshman scholarship luncheon April 19.

All freshman women students who maintained a scholastic average of "B" (good) to straight "A" (perfect) in their studies during their first semester in the University were honored at the luncheon held in Tripp Commons of the Wisconsin Union.

Honoring of the freshman women students for their high scholastic attainments is sponsored each year by the Associated Women Students (AWS) organization and Sigma Epsilon Sigma, freshman honorary scholastic sorority at the University. The AWS, of which all undergraduate women students are members, regulates matters pertaining exclusively to undergraduate women and plans and coordinates numerous activities for women students at the University. At Indiana

John R. Lee, senior at Indiana university and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lee, 608 S. Pine, Arlington Heights, is among the 128 Indiana University students chosen for the travel group of the "Singing Hoosiers" and "Hoosier Queens" who this summer, under auspices of USO Camp Shows, Inc., will entertain American servicemen stationed in Europe.

Under the direction of George F. Krueger, the entertainers will leave New York by air July 7 and will return Aug. 17. They will give concerts in France, Germany and Italy. Mrs. Krueger will accompany the group as chaperon.

This is the first I.U. group selected for a European tour by USO. Arrangements for the trip are being made by U.S. Defense Department.

In the summer of 1956 the "Singing Hoosiers" and "Hoosier Queens" made a USO tour giving concerts at American military installations in Korea and Japan. They presented 60 concerts while traveling 25,000 miles. (CC

At Macalester

Macalester college news service reports that Lavonne Den Beste, sophomore at Macalester, was named to the dean's honor list for the first semester of this school year. To qualify for the dean's list, a student must have maintained a grade point average of 2.5 or better, based on a scale which gives 3 honor points for a grade of "A". One hundred thirteen students were able to acquire that standing last semester.

Lavonne is majoring in sociology and religious education at Macalester. She is an active member of Westminster Fellowship and Cosmopolitan club.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Den Beste, 13 N. Elmhurst rd., Prospect Heights, Lavonne was graduated in 1956 from Arlington high school, where she was a member of National Honor society and won senior French and English awards. (CC

Relocate 5 Long Range Radars

Five long range detection radars used for early warning detection in the Chicago-Gary Air Defense system, have been moved from local installations to new sites ringing the Chicago-Gary and Milwaukee areas. The AN/FPS-36 is a new, improved, surveillance radar having almost twice the detection range of its predecessor.

This announcement was made today by Brigadier General Peter Schmick, commanding general of the 45th Artillery Brigade (Air Defense) at Arlington Heights.

This completes the relocation of ten radar sets which will provide a more effective radar "fence" which enemy bombers must pass through before attempting a surprise attack against the Chicago, Gary and Milwaukee areas.

"This shift of our long range radar sites will give us many added minutes of warning time in which to meet an enemy attack," General Schmick said.

The ten new sites now occupied by the long range AN/FPS-36 radars are in four states, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan, and extend from Ludington, Mich. on the north to Rossville, Ill. on the south. (WUS

Urge Polio Shots For Young Adults

"It is most important that everyone under 40 years of age complete the series of three polio injections immediately," according to Dr. John B. Hall, director of the Cook county department of public health.

"In spite of the fact that there was less poliomyelitis in suburban Cook county in 1957, than in the past 20 years, the picture can readily change if people do not receive adequate protection," Dr. Hall pointed out.

"It has been estimated that 48.5 million Americans under the age of 40, the group most susceptible to polio, have as yet not had a single dose of the Salk vaccine," Dr. Hall stated. "One out of four persons under the age of 20 years has not been vaccinated at all and 40 per cent of the children under the age of five years are still completely unprotected. If this picture does not change, a serious outbreak of polio may occur this summer."

"CHILDREN AND adults who have had polio should still have a series of three injections," Dr. Hall stated. "There are three types of polio virus and a person who has recovered from infection of one type is not necessarily immune to the other two types."

"Many questions have been asked regarding the need for a fourth polio immunization or a booster polio shot. The answer to this question depends upon the interval since your original immunization. You can get further information regarding this matter from your family physician," Dr. Hall stated.

"THE GREATEST need at this time is for all those persons who have not had any injections to begin them now. This is especially important for persons under the age of twenty but the most crucial age group is preschool children.

"Those persons who have had one or two injections must realize that maximum protection can only be attained by completing the series of three injections," Dr. Hall concluded. (B8

Girl Scouts Council to Hear Of Chalet in Switzerland

Girl Scout council of Northwest Cook county will hold its spring meeting Wednesday, April 30, at 8 p.m., Rand Park field house, 2025 Miner, Des Plaines. Mrs. W. O. Leitherer of Skokie, president of the council, will preside.

Telling about her trip to the Girl Scout Chalet in Switzerland will be Mrs. Vincent Adams who visited Europe two years ago with her troop of senior Girl Scouts from Indianapolis. The Chalet is a meeting place for Girl Scouts from countries all over the world to spend time together promoting better understanding and lasting friendships.

WINNER OF THE camp site name contest will be announced by Mrs. O. B. McDonald of Prospect Heights, chairman of the public relations committee. This contest has been sponsored among all Girl Scout troops in the Northwest Cook county area, and the name chosen will privilege the girl submitting it to the honor of raising the flag at the dedication ceremonies in July, 1958, at the new Girl Scout campsite located in Wisconsin.

Mrs. Bruce Corbett of Barrington will present the two senior girl scouts who have been selected to attend national camping events to represent Northwest Cook county.

PRESENTATION OF a 2-year plan of work and budget for the council will be made by Mrs. John Crawford of Arlington Heights. There will be a report on the progress being made at the new campsite by Mrs. H. G. Mackintosh of Skokie.

Names will be drawn to select seven Council representatives and seven alternates for the Detroit regional conference to be held this fall. The names have been suggested from neighborhoods and from standing committees. (B8

Sheriff Publishes Delinquency Book

A just-released booklet, "Law Enforcement and Delinquency Controls in Cook County," written by Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman, is now available to the public upon request to the Sheriff's office.

In it Lohman states, "If the delinquency rate does not decrease very sharply during the next ten years, we are in trouble."

THE 27-PAGE booklet is divided into three sections: "The Delinquency Problem in Cook County," "The Responsibilities and Roles of the Law Enforcement Agencies in Cook County" and "Proposals for Action."

Other booklets produced by the Sheriff's office and available to the public include "Juvenile Delinquency" and "The Cook County Jail." (B8

Youngsters Thrive on Aid of Volunteers

RECORDING THE WEIGHT OF BABIES and pre-school children is part of the volunteer work done by members of Mount Prospect Infant Welfare group who one day each month donate their time to helping in the Armitage station of the Infant Welfare. Youngsters are children of underprivileged mothers in the low income and crowded sections of Chicago, who cannot afford medical supervision for themselves and their offspring. Mrs. William Stanton and Mrs. Kenneth Sophie, members of the Mount Prospect group, are shown weighing one of the infants during regular checkup.

MEASURING HEIGHT of pre-schooler at Armitage Infant Welfare station in Chicago is Mrs. Kenneth Sophie, a member of the Mount Prospect center. Women from the local center volunteer their time the third Thursday of each month to help with the station work. Besides working with the children, the volunteers also help prepare charts for the doctors and do book work for the nurses.

In cooperation with Baby week, April 27 to May 3, and to acquaint readers with the work of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago, Paddock Publications is printing here, an account of the work of the local center, the Mt. Prospect Infant Welfare center.

The woman's auxiliary of the society is composed of 44 centers with 3,200 active members who assist at the conferences and do clerical work in the stations. Mt. Prospect center does volunteer work the third Thursday of each month at the Armitage center in Chicago. Members help the nurses by weighing and measuring the infants and pre-schoolers, do book work and prepare charts for the doctors.

OBJECT OF the society is to "improve the health of coming generations by caring for the mother before the baby is born and, with a competent professional staff, to teach her how to care for herself, her child and her family and to provide regular physical or mental health supervision and instruction."

The society operates 17 stations which provide personal and medical supervision by a professional staff for infants and pre-school children. Stations are located in the low income and crowded sections of the city where the greatest health problems exist.

PRENATAL CARE includes regular medical examinations and advice plus nursing, nutrition and mental health help in the home. From the earliest age at which the baby can be brought to the station until he is six years old he is brought to conferences in the station at regular intervals. There, he is exameind by the doctor, his growth is watched and the mothers receives instruction and guidance from both doctor and nurse covering the special needs of the child.

Nurses also make regular visits to the home to teach parents how to care for their children and to offer bedside care when needed.

THE CENTER also serves as a teaching locale for the Infant Welfare staff and for the purpose of research by studying the development and behavior of well children to learn more about the factors which promote or hinder the growth of healthy personalities. The program permits careful studies of children and their families by psychiatrists, psychologists, pediatricians, mental health consultants, nursery school teachers, nurses and nutritionists.

MEMBERS OF the local center help raise money for the maintenance of the stations through their annual "Spring Fling" dance held each April, a luncheon-fashion show in September, the sale of paragon candles at Christmas time and numerous smaller projects. Remainder of the society's support is derived from voluntary contributions, Commuity Fund and income on small endowment fund.

Joyce Weidner Becomes Bride of Bill Long

Miss Joyce Weidner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weidner of Palatine, became the bride of Bill Long, son of Mrs. Minnie Long of Grayslake in St. Mary church, Buffalo Grove, April 12. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. David Walsh of Chicago.

Miss Weidner wore a long-sleeved chantilly lace gown over white satin. The gown was styled with an Elizabethan collar touched with iridescent sequins and a bouffant skirt ending in a sweep train. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a crown of pearls and sequins and she carried a bouquet of white-feathered carnations, pale pink sweethearts and lily of the valley.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, was attended by her cousin, Ann Happ as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Barbara Ann Raupp, and the bridegroom's sister, Minnie Tiblier. All wore floor-length chiffon dresses with softly draped bodices and full flowing skirts. A satin bow was attached to the V-back of the gowns. Respective colors were mint green, orchid and pink.

Junior bridesmaid was Karen Weidner, the bride's youngest sister. She wore a ballet blue floor-length chiffon gown. Matching picture hats completed the ensembles and pink carnations and red roses made up their bouquets.

JERRY LONG, nephew of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were the bride's brother-in-law, Robert Raupp and Joe Nolan.

Supper was served at 5 p.m. to 75 guests in the church hall where a reception was held later in the evening. The bride's mother received in a skipper blue sheath dress with navy accessories and the bridegroom's mother in a powder blue lace-effect dress with beige accessories. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Frank Weidner, wore a blue suit with yellow carnation corsage.

After a honeymoon in the south, the newlyweds will reside in Grayslake.

Barbara Bartuska Is Bride of G. Graumann

St. Alexis church in Bensenville was the scene of the wedding February 15 which united Barbara Rose Bartuska, daughter of the Joseph Bartuskas of Bensenville, and Gerald Graumann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Huizinga of Itasca. Rev. Matthias Kauth performed the double ring ceremony at 11 a.m. high mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was preceded down the aisle by her sister, Carol, maid of honor, and Phyllis Koch, bridesmaid. Both attendants were dressed alike in street length bouffant gowns of aqua taffeta. They wore large aqua picture hats and carried spray bouquets of yellow tulips.

The birde wore a floor length full-skirted gown of white silk taffeta ending in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was trimmed with lace from her mother's wedding dress, and she carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid from which hung white hyacinth buds representing rosary beads. The rosary crucifix itself was taken from her grandmother's rosary.

"Panis Angelicus" and "Mother At Thy Feet I'm Kneeling" were sung by Stanley Kaminski, uncle of the bride. James Huizinga was his brother's best man, with two fraternity brothers of the bridegroom and Joseph Masotti of Bensenville seating the guests.

Mrs. Bartuska wore a street length silk print in blue and lavender with lavender accessories and a white orchid. Navy blue silk crepe was Mrs. Huizinga's choice with an orchid corsage. The mothers received at the wedding party which followed at Glendale country club for 140 guests. The newlyweds then left on a week's honeymoon at the Northernaire hotel in Three Lakes, Wis. Upon their return they will be at home at 3209 Bowser ave., Ft. Wayne, Ind. where Mr. Graumann has accepted a position with the W. T. Grant Co.

Upon graduation from Bensenville high school the bride was employed by the Greyhound Corp. The bridegroom also graduated from Bensenville high and later from Tri-State college in Angola, Ind.

Kappa Council Holds Bi-annual Meeting Saturday

Chicago Area Council of Kappa Kappa Gamma held its bi-annual meeting at the home of Mrs. James Knight in Hinsdale, last Thursday.

Representing the northwest suburban alumnae association at the meeting were Mrs. Charles Strothers, retiring president, Mrs. Fred Empkie, recommendations chairman of Arlington Heights, Mrs. John McCallister, newly elected president, Mrs. Melvin Lannert, recommendations chairman of Park Ridge.

THE COUNCIL is made up of Kappa organizations in the vicinity of Chicago. Besides coordinating Kappa interests in the Chicagoland area, an important part of the council is the support of Mary Thompson hospital in Chicago. The project of the council for this year was for each group to raise money and donate proceeds as a combined contribution to the hospital.

Northwest suburban alumnae group donated its proceeds from "Husband's Night" held last October, and the white elephant sale this spring.

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

Church Guild Efficiency

Dear Peg,

"One of the marks of a good president," I was saying, as I looked down from the stage into the faces of the 530 ladies gathered for our church guild's fashion show and luncheon, "is her ability to select responsible, capable and enthusiastic committee and benefit chairmen. I thought after our very successful bazaar that I would never again be as fortunate in my selection of a chairman as I was when I chose Gladys to head the fund raising affair, but I did it again! As you look around you at the decorations and table arrangements and when you taste the luncheon and see the show you'll know that my selection of Cathy Cornell as general chairman of this benefit was a stroke of pure genius!"

It was true. The gymnasium of the school had been magically transformed into an enchanting spring garden. Giant artificial red and yellow tulips (procured from the local grocery store) stood in groups around the edge of the room and over the doors leading to the wings of the stage.

On one side of the stage stood a huge "hat box" in which Caremlita Pope, our commentator, was to stand. One of our artistic couples built the red and white striped hat box with corrugated paper wrapped around a semi-circle frame of wood and wire. You stepped into it from the rear. The top of the "hat box" was suspended at an angle over it—but well over the head of the person standing inside. On the opposite side of the stage stood the folding screen—made from old screens nailed together, hinged and painted pink—on which clung a "vine" filled with pink and green "blossoms" (the "vine"—crepe paper—wrapped wire and the "blossoms"—pink and green Kleenex rosettes).

For efficiency and speed, two buffet tables were prepared. They were so pretty and springlike—with their lovely arrangements in the center of the individual tables for four—which filled the gym, our decorations chairman and her committee made miniature arrangements of tiny flower pots, from which "grew" a pipe cleaner forked twig. On one side of the "twig" was fastened a tiny bunch of flowers and on the other side a spring bonnet about the size of a 50-cent piece. These beautifully done tiny hats were all made from old hats, veiling, ribbon, artificial flowers and such. From the flower pot a pink crepe paper streamer was laid facing each person at the table. If the streamer facing you had a number on the end of it, you won a door prize.

The fashions were lovely and spectacular. The show was especially nice, as it included children (have you seen those new "Eloise" styles?) teenagers, young matrons and older ladies. As you would guess, by far the most important "look" of the show was the chemise—fortunately our models were selected with this in mind.

The children stole the hsow—as they always do—little boys in Eton suits led by little girls in bouffant skirted dresses. The little girls loved it, the little boys suffered silently and the mamas and grandmas had a wonderful time.

My love,
Patty

Bernice Germer Is Now Mrs. Edward Vrablik

(Jenart Studio

A pink and white wedding took place January 25 in Slovak Trinity Lutheran church, Chicago, when Bernice Germer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Germer, 214 E. Palatine rd., Arlington Heights, became the bride of Edward Vrablik, son of Steve Vrablik of Niles.

In a setting of white mums and candelabra on the altar and aisle baskets at the family pews and entrance, the bride was escorted down the aisle on the arm of her father. She wore a candlelight satin gown with long pointed sleeves and scalloped neckline with an insert of net. Hand appliqued lace extended from the bodice to the floor. Over the bridal gown she wore a fingertip imported French illusion veil with a pearl tiara headpiece. The bride's bouquet was a large crescent of gardenias.

Her attendants were all gowned in pink satin trimmed with a deep pink velvet band across the bodice which extended to the back and formed a large bow with ribbons falling to the hemline. Maid of honor, Mrs. Joseph Dister of Prospect Heights, wore a pink velvet jacket with boat neckline and elbow length sleeves over her dress. Bridesmaids were Marilyn Fernstrom of Arlington Heights, Nancy Schroeder of Wheeling and Olga Vrablik of Niles, the bridegroom's sister. Each attendant carried a crescent of white carnations and baby pink roses.

Rev. Pelikan united the couple in a double ring ceremony at 4:30 in the afternoon. Eleanor Kostalney sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," and Andrew Socha was organist.

The flower girl, 3½-year-old Julie Suvada in white nylon organdy with a pink velvet sash, carried a basket of pink roses and carnations. The bridegroom's nephew, Howard Nelson Jr., of Chicago was ring bearer.

John Vrablik served his brother as best man, and ushers were Gil Meyer and Clem Trout of Chicago, Fred MacWilliams of Evanston, the bride's brother, Roy, and the bridegroom's brother, Steve.

At a reception for 350 guests the bride's mother received in a champagne satin jacket dress. Her accessories were in pink, and her corsage was a pink camellia surrounded with tiny pink roses. The bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Julie Suvada, received guests in a periwinkle blue satin dress and accessories, and she had a gardenia corsage.

Now at home at 432 S. Donald ave., Arlington Heights, the newlyweds are both employed locally. Mr. Vrablik works at Eimco Corp., Palatine, and attends the University of Chicago graduate school. His wife attended Arlington high school and Valparaiso university in Indiana and is employed by the American Breeders Service in Arlington Heights.

Former Joan Prouty Living in Chicago

Now living at 6150 N. Winthrop ave., Chicago, are Mr. and Mrs. James Stuart Backoff, since their marriage April 12 in the First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights. Rev. George W. Kincheloe united the former Joan Mary Ella Prouty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira C. Prouty, 42 S. Ridge, Arlington Heights, and Mr. Backoff, son of the William J. Backoffs of West Lafayette, Ind., in a 2:30 p.m. ceremony.

(Jenart Studio

The bride wore a princess style white silk taffeta gown trimmed in alencon lace and a fingertip veil held in place with a pearl crown. The bridal bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by feathered carnations and lily of the valley.

Bridal attendants were Miss Carmen Edmundson of Fox Lake, maid of honor; Mrs. Alfred Goebbert of Elk Grove, bridesmaid; and the bride's cousin, Miss Kimberly Colby of Bethpage, N. Y., junior bridesmaid. Each wore a white organza sheath embroidered in shades of pink with a white organza overskirt. The attendants' picture hats matched their gowns, and they carried bouquets of shaded pink feathered carnations and ivy.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, Robert, and ushering the guests to their pews were the bride's brothers, Richard and Robert Prouty, and Howard Bonk of Des Plaines.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Prouty wore beige lace with matching accessories, a flowered hat and a corsage of beige cymbidium orchids. The bridegroom's mother chose light blue linen trimmed in white lace with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The couple departed on a week's honeymoon in the Smoky mountains following a reception for 150 guests in the church parlors and a dinner for 50 at the Crabapple in Old Orchard.

The bride is a graduate of Arlington high school and attended the University of Illinois where she was affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta sorority. Mr. Backoff was graduated from the University of Illinois and was a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. The new Mrs. Backoff is employed by American Steel and Wire Co., Chicago, and her husband is associated with E. M. Combs and Son, grain brokers.

Sorority Alumnae Plan Annual Kids' Party

Northwest suburban alumnae club of Kappa Alpha Theta is giving its annual party for children of the Illinois Surgical institute Friday, May 2. Mrs. H. J. Jebens and Mrs. E. M. Wilson of Mt. Prospect, and Mrs. W. H. Carns, of Arlington Heights, will represent the Thetas at the hospital party where they will serve ice cream and cake and will play games with the children.

This year marks the 16th year of the Illinois Thetas project for handicapped children. The project functions through a central council composed of representatives of alumnae groups, elected officers and committee chairmen who meet monthly in Chicago. In addition to its work in the surgical institute, the group also aids the Illinois Children's hospital and gives assistance to individual cases of handicapped children.

THETAS HAVE GIVEN assistance to the Illinois Children's hospital-school in Chicago since 1946. The group worked for the passage of the bill creating the school by state legislation and its growth has attracted nation-wide interest. Jacksonville pre-school blind institute has long been one of Theta's main interests with a clinic held each June for parents of pre-school age blind children.

'Fin and Feather' Luncheon May 8 For Panhellenic

For its last meeting of the season, the Des Plaines Panhellenic club will meet at the Milk Pail restaurant in Dundee at 11 a.m. Thursday, May 8. Members will enjoy a "fin and feather luncheon," after which they will tour the Haeger Pottery and then will see a demonstration of flower-arranging in Haeger containers.

At the April club meeting, the following officers were elected for next year: president, Mrs. R. Daniel McMichael; vice president, Mrs. Jack Sneeden; recording secretary, Mrs. Richard C. Cooper; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Walter J. Imig, and treasurer, Mrs. Maurice E. Hardy.

All members of a national panhellenic sorority living in Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Arlington Heights, Palatine and the general northwest suburban area are invited to join the club.

Luncheon reservations and transportation requests should be given by May 6 to Mrs. W. L.

Loyola Luncheon

A Loyola alumnae "Welcome Graduates" luncheon and reception is on the calendar for May 10 at the Opera Terrace room of Kungsholm restaurant. The reception will commence at noon with the luncheon following at 12:45 p.m.

Arlington's Virginia Koeppen Earns Title of Mrs. Virginia

An attractive young housewife and mother who was born and raised in Arlington Heights, has won out over hundreds of other contestants to earn the title of Mrs. Virginia.

Mrs. William A. Patton, the former Virginia Koeppen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Koeppen, 1006 N. Chestnut, was crowned the outstanding homemaker of the state of Virginia April 18 and will represent the state in the national Mrs. America contest in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. in May.

Mrs. Patton was graduated from Arlington high school in 1951 and then was employed in Arlington Heights village hall and the business office of Illinois Bell Telephone Co. The following winter she accompanied two girl friends to Miami, Fla. to spend the season. It was while working at a Miami bank that she met and married William A. Patton, a federal bank examiner.

TWO YEARS AGO Patton accepted the post of executive vice president of the Petersburg Mutual Building and Loan association and the family moved to Petersburg, Va. The Pattons have two young sons, Larry, 4, and Chuck, 2.

To win the state contest, Mrs. Patton was required to demonstrate three different hair styles and show some article she had dyed as well as exhibit her skill in cooking. Mrs. Patton is also an accomplished seamstress and makes almost all of her own clothes and many for her husband and sons, as well as slip covers and draperies.

MRS. VIRGINIA PATTON

CLIMAX OF THE state contest was the Cookorama during which the contestants were given 1½ hours to prepare a meal, settings and serve the food for the judges to sample. A meal of pan fried sirloin steak in mushroom sauce, twice-baked shrimp, stuffed potatoes, french asparagus with cream sauce, tossed salad, cheese biscuits, hot gingerbread with lemon sauce and hot coffee, was the menu Mrs. Patton prepared.

"I'm a self-taught cook and seamstress," she confessed after the contest. Mrs. Patton has had no formal training in cooking or sewing, "all I know has been what I have learned in my six years of married life."

IN ADDITION to receiving a home organ, a sewing machine, a complete set of aluminum ware, sterling silver and an automatic clothes dryer, Mrs. Patton receives an all expense 2-week trip to Florida for the national Mrs. America contest.

The new Mrs. Virginia will celebrate her 25th birthday while a contestant in the national finals in May.

Hospital Plans Grand Slam Card Week May 18-24

Mrs. Myron Custin, ways and means chairman of Northwest Community hospital women's auxiliary, has announced that the week of May 18 through May 24 will be Grand Slam Card week.

Cards, morning, afternoon or evening will be the goal and will include bridge, canasta, pinochle and other games. Table prizes will be furnished by the auxiliary. Mrs. Charles Purvis, 506 N. Pine, Arlington Heights, and Mrs. Ralph Adams, 1101 W. Lincoln, Mt. Prospect, are in charge of the affair.

The auxiliary pledged $25,000 toward the equipment of the emergency room and all proceeds from the card party will go towards the pledge.

GRADUATING SENIORS of Arlington high school who are interested in college sororities were entertained April 24 at a coke party given by Wheeling township Panhellenic club members. Mothers of the girls were also present to receive information on college sororities from the club members who are also members of their individual sorority alumnae groups. In the photo are Sally Moore, Joyce Olson, Mrs. Thomas Olson, Mrs. Charles Close, Mrs. Leslie Behrend, counselor of women at Arlington high, Mrs. Chester Moore, Celia Ann Close and Mrs. Stanley Myers.

Experts Provide Some Hints On How Baby Should Sleep

Bone specialists have discovered there is often a link between deformities in youngsters' legs and feet and their sleeping habits during infancy.

One orthopedic surgeon says, "I think that is a baby always sleeps in the same position, deformities can result. If he sleeps in various positions, which most babies do, it's unlikely there will be a problem. Chief criticism is that of always sleeping in the 'knee-chest' or in the so-called 'frog' position."

WHEN A BABY SLEEPS "frog fashion" on his stomach, the legs and feet are turned outward, almost parallel with the bed. The muscles and ligaments may become stretched and set in this outward-turning position. Later, his legs and feet may turn out when he stands, requiring extensive treatment. He also may become flat-footed.

The reverse effect may result if a baby persists in sleeping in the knee-chest position, with his knees drawn up under him, hips up in the air, and feet turned in toward each other, in a pigeon-toed fashion.

Pediatricians may suggest this position "to help get the gas off the stomach." And mothers like the knee-chest position because baby is less likely to kick off his covers in his sleep.

BUT, CHANCES ARE that the baby who sleeps in this position will crawl with his feet turned in toward each other, and will sit back on his lower legs with his feet turned in. This twists the lower leg inward. When he walks, the entire leg turns in from the hips and the child has the appearance of being bow-legged. He also may be pigeon-toed, the article says.

The condition can be corrected by manipulation of the child's feet and legs, but it may take months.

To prevent the development of either inward or outward rotation of the legs, it is recommended that the baby be taught to sleep on its side, with hips and knees gently flexed. After one feeding, place baby on one side; after the next feeding, on the other side, so that he doesn't form the habit of always sleeping on the same side.

Until baby is accustomed to it, he can be kept on his side by tucking a small pillow or rolled baby blanket behind his hips and shoulders.

SLEEPING ON THE SIDE, alternating from one side to the other, also prevents deformities of the jaws and gives a better shaped head.

Baby should never be placed on his back after feeding, until he is able to turn over by himself, because of the danger of regurgitation.

Let the baby exercise on his stomach when he is awake. Sleeping on his stomach can certainly be allowed occasionally, but be sure it doesn't become a habit.

SAKS FIFTH AVENUE will furnish the fashions for the fifth annual Grant hospital auxiliary's luncheon and style show to be held at noon May 2 in the Grand ballroom of the Conrad Hilton hotel. Mrs. Edward C. Hume Jr. of Rolling Meadows, right, will be one of the amateur models participating in the show. Mrs. Hume, pictured here with Mrs. Joseph W. Stecker, president of the women's auxiliary of the Northwest Community Center hospital, will represent the local auxiliary and will be eligible for a prize.

Can Psychiatrist Help Her?

I have need of a good psychiatrist and I don't care if he does charge $25 a half hour. I need him badly, and soon. I have just found out that I have a sloppy mind and I want something done about it right away. If not sooner.

I have known for years that I was not too efficient. But, now it seems to be spreading, like a virus, to my mind. Here is a little example. What kind of a mind would prance itself into a book store and come out with "The Brothers Karamazov," "Day of Infamy—The Story of Pearl Harbor," "Detecting the Illnesses of Children" and Dorothy B. Hughs' whodunit, "Ride the Pink Horse"?

The only one I can explain is the whodunit. I just plain like a good chiller once in a while. But, this children's illness tome has me buffaloed. I can detect a measle or a pox from a mile off. I have a sort of sixth sense about them. I also know quite a lot about aspirin and antibiotics having invested heavily in the companies who manufacture them.

It is the "Brothers" that sort of has me rocking. I have never been enamored by Russian writers. I finally had to take "'Anna Karenina" strictly the way Greta Garbo dished it out. Greta I understood. Tolstoi, never. I have a niggling hunch that Dostoyevsky and I aren't going to make such beautiful music together either.

As for "Day of Infamy," I just don't know. I don't even approve of war. Something of a pacifist, you know. People get killed in wars and it always seems like such a waste of life and money. And anyhow, I just hate doing without bobbie-pins.

Other little manifestations of an unsteady mentality have reared their ugly heads this past month or so. I like to think this thing is recent. If it is recent it may just be a sign of approaching senility. If it is something of long standing, I may be insane but covering it rather cleverly if I do say so myself.

Anyway, I guess it really doesn't matter that I went to a luncheon 2 days early and sent one of the younger ones to a birthday party 2 days late. It's that daylight savings time that throws me way off.

The Way We See It

Will County Buy Trailer Property?

The Cook county board of commissioners, at its monthly meeting next Tuesday, will make a decision of vital importance to everyone who values Busse Woods.

Will the commissioners vote to acquire 10 acres on Higgins rd. owned by a trailer camp operator for conversion of the land to forest preserve?

Or will they permit the trailer camp to continue to exist and perhaps expand, despite the fact that the camp and two businesses across the road are surrounded by forest preserve?

Last week the mayors of Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows and Elk Grove Village wisely took the stand that the property should be converted to preserve.

The mayor's stand was taken after Paddock Publications disclosed that the camp has grown from 15 to about 65 trailers in the past year and that the owner has plans to expand to 200 trailers.

The mayors' position looks even better with an announcement that came from the county building and zoning bureau this week. The bureau will ask State's Attorney Ben Adamowski to prosecute owner Louis Gauger on a charge he violated county laws three ways: he failed to obtain a building permit for a sewage treatment plant recently constructed; he violated the county electrical code by installing improper wiring and trailers were put onto land not zoned for trailers.

The fact that these charges were belatedly filed several months after the violations allegedly occurred reflects to the discredit of the bureau but does not lessen the seriousness of the charges.

How did the camp and the two other businesses come to be located in the middle of Busse Woods? The answer is simply that they were there first. In 1956 the county board began to buy, by condemnation when necessary, farmland west of Busse Woods. Most of the land west of Salt Creek to Rohlwing rd. now has been acquired for eventual reforestation.

In 1956 the preserve bought 27 acres back of the trailer camp, leaving untouched 10 acres along Higgins rd. Four of the 10 acres were zoned for B-2 business in which a trailer camp is a permissable use. So the owner of the 10 acres was left with six acres of farmland at the rear of his property.

This decision of the forest preserve district not to buy back the six acres has now come home to roost in another county department. For the building and zoning bureau now claims trailers are standing illegally on part of the back six acres.

The 1956 choice not to buy those six acres might be likened to a city's buying up most of the vacant land around a small factory for a park, but leaving the factory enough room to expand. What happens later when the factory expands? Irreparable damage is done to the surrounding park and the public has a right to become sore at the short-sighted officials who let this deplorable situation occur.

There is only one way in which the tremendous public investment in Busse Woods can be protected—by acquisition of the entire 10 acres as public lands.

Although State's Attorney Adamowski may be able to force camp operator Gauger to come to terms with county laws, the threat of future expansion will remain. Further, Adamowski has certainly not prosecuted all other trailer camp owners with vigor. Another Elk Grove township camp owner hasn't been brought to trial although his alleged violation of building laws is of some two years standing.

Thus the only sensible, long-term solution is for the county board to buy the entire 10 acres.

In his 1957 annual message, Daniel Ryan, president of the county board and board of forest preserve commissioners, wrote:

"The forest preserve district is not a park as that term is commonly employed in urban areas. It is a naturalistic reservation and forested sanctuary with recreational facilities for appropriate forms of intensive use of the fringes.

"Though spaciousness and naturalness, the preserves furnish the contrasting element to the artificiality of the city."

We hope Ryan and the other commissioners remember these fine words when the question of buying the trailer camp property comes up.

Housewives in Suburbia

Having read several articles on the subject of "Suburbia" recently, I have come to the conclusion that Suburbia isn't doing a thing to housewives and children. Some research could be done on what the housewife is doing to suburbia, though.

Look-alike houses aren't new. Think of the blocks of brownstones. Look around in Chicago, any section. Apartment buildings, two-flats and 1-family dwellings are alike there too, exactly alike.

Let's ask ourselves about suburban living. Outside of dads' commuting problems, I see nothing wrong with it. The air and freedom are good for children, but so are setting a good example and discipline. Many development homes are facsimile because a fine healthy woman that can bear four or five children hasn't the strength to lift a hoe. About all some of them have the strength for is the weight of a coffee cup and a cigarette.

The attitude of the housewife today is what's wrong with Suburbia! Where is the understanding, love and muscle our grandmothers used to demonstrate? The courtesy to neighbors? The unspoken social code they lived by? Women today have their hands out for sympathy, moral support and flattery from their husbands, parents and neighbors. Grandma's hands were out to aid anyone in need, including grandpa.

Every home in any suburban development could be different. A simple formula might be: A little paint lovingly administered with some muscle, minus self pity; add a few minutes a day to work in the yard subtracting weeds; and time spent in exploring new hobbies and the art of housework multiplies the years our husbands live and subtracts hours spent on gossip which reaps dividends of time in which to love and teach our children. Done by women, it all adds up to healthier, happier suburban living. I know—I live there.

An Individualist
Rolling Meadows

Flee Unincorporated Area

It may interest you to know that two years living in an unincorporated area has sent us back to Chicago. We do not want any part of it.

I would like to enumerate a few reasons, as follows:

The children have no respect for law and order. They all have guns and knives and do not hesitate to use them. I have seen them shoot doves and various other birds. I have also seen them throw knives at rabbits and let them die, in agony, and seemingly enjoyed their doings.

We have had our dog shot at by seemingly respectable citizens in the area with a 22 rifle. Even now there is a bullet hole in our kitchen window (our house is in the hands of realtors).

And the water in the ditches is positively disgraceful. How can humans live this way?

We do feel that incorporating the area would take care of many of these ills. As it is now, to whom can you turn when something is wrong?

It seems to me that the folks who care to live in unincorporated areas are a "law unto themselves." Fortunately we were not flooded during the heavy rains, but I do feel for the folks who had to move out during the floods.

It's grand to be back in the city, where one is not afraid of being shot at and seeing the children grow up learning cruelty—at least not being restricted. I always thought living in the country would be ideal and the people wholesome. What an awakening we had.

Sorry to complain, but now you have the opinion of one of your ex-citizens. Perhaps not important, but am glad to have told about it to an influential source.

'Great Consolation'

Even though I have been away from Rolling Meadows some time now, I still consider it my home town. I visit out there every opportunity I get and hope some day to return.

There is a great consolation in knowing your good paper looks after things while many of us are away. We must watch the men in which we place our public trust. We must be alert at election times to see we get the best of representation and get what is best for the community.

Right now it seems there are too many office clerks as councilmen and zoning board members. Other villages see that they have attorneys and men of learning as their representatives. This is brought out every time we have a council meeting.

We need help. I know, for I was there. Keep up your usual good work. We depend on you.

Barber Shop Mystery

Some people (men) have objected to the word "beautified" in last week's story of the art exhibit that I placed at the Highway barber shop.

This is not (so they say) what happens to them when they go to a barber shop. Well then, what is it?

Sometimes they smell nice when they come out and usually they seem a little more chipper — sprightly — a little more bounce to the ounce, shall we say? Do we imagine it or is there sort of an extra gleam in the eye—even a SOTTO VOCCE, whistling or "humming" sound-effect?

Is it possible the barber is a psychologist in disguise who gives them a painless shot in the ego?

Anyway they also object to "dolled up" or "prettied up" nor do they like "hersute removal." They seemed to like a word not even in the dictionary "NEATEN-ED up" as well as anything.

Catch us gals objecting to a lil' old word like beautify! We know we NEED every possible aid and what a large howl of protest goes out if we feel the operator falls down on the job! Let's face it—females are realistic. Isn't that the real difference? (Vivi la difference!)

Prompt Attention

In the issue of April 24, Dr. John Hall indicated that the Cook County Department of Public Health offers prompt attention to any complaints on possible health hazards. He seems to feel that I had been ignorant of the service (in a column on April 10).

I should not like to seem to be in the position of ignoring the excellent work of the county health department. Indeed, the lady who was mentioned in the column was referred to the department, and, I understand, was visited by its representative within two or three days.

The point I was making may not have been adequately indicated by the use of a situation requiring health department attention. I was dealing with the fact that there are many county offices, many nearby village offices, and individuals do not often know which office to call; nor do all of them receive courteous attention when they call seeking information.

If the average person wants to know whom to call, he is better off talking to a non-government person who is informed before he calls the government office.

Far too few offices offer the immediate service that can be obtained at the Cook County Department of Public Health.

Arlington Heights Discovers 'Art'

Community Concert Is Suburb Symphony Hall

by TOM BRENNAN

People — and towns — discover the arts in unpredictable ways.

No discovery of a budding talent by an impresario was more unusual than the manner in which Arlington Heights found "good music" in the Community Concert series.

BACK IN 1947 the Arlington Heights Garden club was struggling to stay alive. Its two dozen members paid dues of only 50 cents a year. It was hardly enough with which to pay rental for a meeting room at North school, meet minor expenses and still pay a stipend to an out-of-town garden authority.

There was a reorganization, and Gale Blocki took over as president. Searching around for ways to fatten the treasury, he heard that an outfit called Community Concerts had brought soprano Gladys Swarthout to Flossmoor.

Recalls Blocki: "This sounded like a means by which the garden club could sponsor such talent and at the same time replenish the till so that outstanding speakers could be provided for the monthly meetings of the club."

INVESTIGATION proved otherwise, for Community Concerts is not a money-maker for either the local sponsors or the national organization. It is set up on a non-profit basis. Its purpose is to make concerts possible on a basis which eliminates financial risk through repayment of "dues" and offers economy through a sort of national musical talent pool.

Though the Community concert plan didn't fit the needs of the flower fanciers, Blocki was enthused with the prospect of bringing "Orchestra Hall" type concerts to the northwest suburbs. He called a meeting of a dozen acquaintances who went for the idea and 50 persons attended a second meeting to hear a Concert firm speaker explain the scheme. That was in May.

The following September the first campaign was held and the 1,000-seat goal was oversold inside of a week. The Arlington high school auditorium-gymnasium offered the only available home in 1947, and the situation remains unchanged today.

AS THE OUTSTANDING musical presentations of the intervening 10 years, Blocki, now in his eleventh year as president, ticks off The Men of Song, the late pianist William Kapell, bass Igor Gorin, the dance team of Mata and Hari, Gladys Swarthout, the DePaur chorus, the Gerschwin concert orchestra and the Rochester, Cincinnati, and St. Louis symphony orchestras.

The 1957-58 season concluded March 23 with the St. Louis symphony under the direction of Vladimir Golschmann.

So much for the past of the concert series. What of the future? Admittedly, the membership has failed to keep pace with population growth in the series' home town and the other communities it draws from Rolling Meadows, Palatine, Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights and Wheeling.

In fact, a drop in membership from 1,256 in 1954 to 1,003 in 1957 ran counter to the growth trend in the area. Much of the drop from 1956 to 1957 was due to a price rise of one dollar for the series, Blocki feels. But at $7.50 adult admission for 5 concerts, the price of a single concert is still a bargain.

THE CALIBER of the attractions for next year will be strictly determined by the number of subscriptions sold in the week-long membership drive May 11 through May 17. Blocki is confident the number will rise this year because the Community Concert series folded in Barrington.

Perhaps the toughest problem for the local group to overcome —although this is not the attitude of the president—is in the home of the concerts. The gymnasium, with its barn-like proportions and metal folding chairs, is the best there is right now, however. Two 300-seat "little theaters" at Arlington and Prospect high schools aren't large enough to accommodate the audience needed for expensive talent.

Most other suburban high schools have large auditoriums and concert series tickets are snapped up quicker than World Series tickets. Maine and Glenbard high schools are two nearby examples.

Confirmed local concert-goers counter with the statement that the surroundings are forgotten after the conductor raps his baton for attention and the ceiling lights darken.

UNTIL THE suburban school crush eases up, the problem of facilities will plague the series board of directors. In the meantime, strangers to "good music" will find it well worth their while to subscribe.

Pulling a well-worn clipping from an inner pocket, Blocki cited this tribute to the Community Concert series from a Houma, La., newspaper:

"It is only because of misconceptions and false impressions that the public shies away from concerts or anything that smacks of culture . . . No one need be a so-called highbrow to enjoy a concert. The highbrows of today are the lowbrows of yesterday. The fact that a prospective subscriber does not know the difference between a concerto and an opus should bother no one. It is not necessary to know the year Bach was born to enjoy his music nor is it necessary to know the language of music and musicians . . . Concerts remain strange and forbidding until we begin attending."

In The Shadow Of The Steeple

Some Twentieth Century Clues to Reading the Bible

by WILLIAM O. McGILL

Many persons tell me that they find it hard to read and to understand the Bible. This has often been the case both for Christmas and would-be Christians.

There are times when it seems that we have become much too involved in the effort to interpret. We expect hidden meanings, or we look for teachings which are beyond the written word, or we assume that a "religious" book like the Bible must necessarily be difficult.

IT'S NOT THAT I intend to suggest that the Bible is either obvious or easy to read and understand in all its parts. But I cannot escape the story of the old Scottish farmer, as John Oman tells it, in his book, "Concerning the Ministry."

The minister had just completed a long series of sermons based on the Letter to the Colossians, and this devout old farmer had heard every one of them. At the end of the series, he delivered himself as a judgment.

"The Colossians must have been very clever folk. If, as we are told, the epistle was just a letter written to be read to them, I suppose they would understand it when they heard, while we have been three months at it and don't understand it yet."

Of course, there were some things which the Colossians knew all about, and Paul knew they knew it, so he did not explain for future generations what these references were. And it is true that translation normally loses something of the flavor of the original.

THESE MAY BE part of the reason why the Bible seems difficult to read. Another part may be suggested by the fact that we have a Letter to the Colossians (as well as others): the churches saved these letters because everything did not come through clearly at the first reading.

For example, once you've read Mickey Spillane, you've read him and can throw the book away. You can't be quite so casual with Thomas Mann or St. Paul.

They saved the letter for their own reading again, and it was saved for posterity. They saved it because their understanding of the meaning grew with each succeeding readings.

AND YET THERE is one thing that is true, they understood the intent on the first reading, or they would not have re-read it and saved it. They read it in a way that we seldom do - as a personal letter. Without chapter and verse divisions (which are not part of the inspired text anyway) they read it through at one sitting.

They had an understanding before they started to look at specific paragraphs and sentences for further understanding. This is an excellent hint on the way that twentieth-century Christians might read their Bibles.

German Scientists Working On Device for 'Tiredness'

by BILL DILLINGHAM

German scientists are now working on a machine that tells when a person is tired.

It has been obvious for a long time that just asking a person outright is not enough. Too many people who think they are tired are not, and too many others think they are not when they are. This might lead to a physician's despair. The answer is a machine that measures precisely just what's what, or the exact degree of fatigue.

SCIENTISTS working at the University of Bonn consider such a machine of vital importance to many aspects of work and pleasure. Thousands of people, for example, pass days feeling sluggish and weary, believing that they are victims of physical disorder or vitamin deficiency. But their tiredness may be purely psychological. Such a machine would save months of diet experiments and physical check-ups.

Students about to take important examinations might not be up to physical par. They might not feel tired, but the affects of a long study could be present anyway. An otherwise good student, therefore, could not be judged too harshly if his examination mark were low when his tiredness rating was high.

Many factory accidents happen because a man is tired. With a machine of this type on the premises, it would be unnecessary to assign a man to a dangerous job when it suddenly arose without first testing him. More than one employee has been killed while handling high tension wires, for example, merely because he was fatigued and did not realize it.

ANOTHER important use for such a tiredness-measuring instrument has been suggested by physiologists working at Bonn University: It will inform an individual just how many hours of sleep he or she personally requires at night.

Many people imagine that they need nine or 10 hours of sleep. Without it they convince themselves that they feel "just all in." The wonder machine might inform them that seven hours or less was quite sufficient. It might even detect those who would best be served by taking their sleep in two periods instead of one.

Considerable enthusiasm surrounds this project at Bonn University. This is because fatigue is one of those conditions that can be seemingly created or removed through pure suggestion.

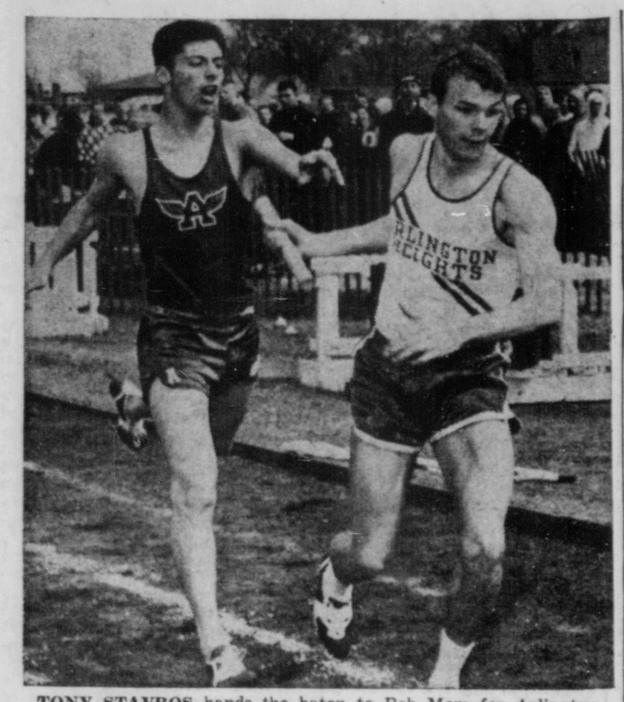
Card Thinclads to Run at Hinsdale Saturday

PART 4



TONY STAVROS hands the baton to Bob Mors for Arlington in the mile relay at Palatine Saturday, the Cardinals placing third in the event, just 1.8 seconds behind Maine.

Heights Trackmen Split With Maine

Maine Demons, showing heavy power in the distance events and the high hurdles, took the measure of Coach Russ Attis' Cards to the tune of 68 to 50. Arlington was without the services of Bob Mors, who has a pulled leg muscle.

Maine piled up a total of 33 points in the 880, 440, mile and high hurdles. This lacked 1 point of being half of their total.

SEVERAL BOYS turned in excellent performances, Jack Weber hitting his best mark of the season in the shot with a 53'11½" throw. Bob Lockwood was a three event winner, the lows, high jump, and broad jump. His :20.1 in the 180 low hurdles is one of the best marks in this event to date in the state.

Dick Bader came up with good times in the 100 and the 220, marking him one of Arlington's best sprinters. Ed Wilson cleared 11 feet to win the pole vault.

Second places in the meet were taken by Chuck Yager and John Torrens. Thirds by Ed Whitelaw, Jon Hawkins, Bob Taggert and Jack Weber.

THE ARLINGTON frosh-sophs continued undefeated in dual competition as they beat Maine 64½ to 53½. Arlington scored heavily in taking nine firsts, four seconds and seven and one-half thirds. Particularly outstanding for the Cardinals were Mike Dundy, Dan Striegel, Mike Phelan, Tony Stavros and George Allen.

Dundy won the 100 in :10.6, the 440 in :53.4; Striegel won the shot with 45'1½" and the discus with 122'10½"; Phelan won the 880 with a time of 2:10; Stavros won the 220 with a time of :23.4 and George Allen took the pole vault at 10 feet.

Seconds were scored by Stavros in the 440, Westergaard in the low hurdles, Roller in the shot put and Dundy in the broad jump. Thirds were taken by Field in the high hurdles, Dryjanski in the 100 and 220, Terbell in the mile, Phillips in the discus, Fahrner in the pole vault, Grams in the broad jump, and Stavros tied in the high jump. ED WHITELAW holds the starting block as Arlington teammate Bob Lockwood takes off in the Class A high hurdle shuttle relay at the Palatine Relays Saturday. The Cardinals placed third in their division, after taking second in the high hurdle shuttle, just one-tenth of a second behind Bloom.

Arlington Could Win 5 Trophies In Big Meet

Arlington tracksters will compete Saturday in the eighth annual Hinsdale Relays, the meet that confuses more people than any other.

This is the relays that adds up the distances and heights of four boys from each school in the field events to gain the winning totals. It is the meet where the winning high jump will be just over 20', the broad jump 80', the discus over 500'.

HINSDALE RELAYS give more boys the chance to gain honors than any other event, with large traveling trophies given for each event other than the 100 yard dash, an individual event. Arlington has "two legs" on five of the trophies, and could cop permanent possession of these by winning the events again this time.

Cardinals are weaker in the field events this year than the past few seasons, without the depth normally needed to win these events. Locals should cop one or two of these trophies, however, and stand a chance to retain the relays championship gained a year ago.

FIELD EVENTS will start at 12:30 Saturday, May 3, with running events slated to begin at 2:00. Schools entered include Arlington, Downers, Glenbard, Glenbrook, Highland Park, Hinsdale, Leyden, Riverside-Brookfield, Rich and Wheaton.

Vast array of awards includes large, three-figure traveling trophies in nine events; permanent team trophies for first, second and third; medals to the four boys making up the winning team in each event, and ribbons to each of the four boys making up the second, third, fourth and fifth place teams in all events.

Arlington to Host Baseball Regional

Arlington high school will play host in regional baseball this year, with winners of four district tournaments meeting for honors May 19-20-21 at Recreation park.

Almost 400 schools are participating in the state tournaments this year, with 112 district meets slated for May 12-14. Many districts have four teams in each, some just two. Sections are scheduled a week after the regionals with the state finals a week later.

ARLINGTON REGIONAL will include district winners in tournaments at Maine, Palatine, DeKalb and Crystal Lake. No. Chicago regional will include district winners at Waukegan, Woodstock, Glenbrook and Antioch.

Oak Lawn regional will include district winners at Evergreen Park, Orland Park, Bloom and Thornton Fractional. District winners at Riverside - Brookfield, Niles, Proviso and Leyden will compete in the Oak Park regional.

ANTIOCH DISTRICT: McHenry, Grayslake, Round Lake, Antioch.
Bloom district: Thornton, Crete-Monee, Rich and Bloom.
Crystal Lake district: Hampshire, Crystal Lake, Huntley, Dundee.

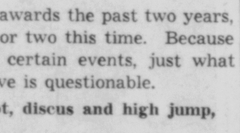
Waukegan district: No. Chicago, Libertyville, Waukegan, Warren.

KICKIN' IT AROUND



by BOB PADDOCK

ARLINGTON has again been chosen to operate a state tournament, this time the regional baseball meet May 19-20-21. Winners in four districts will come to Arlington on those dates for regional competition, with the winner going on to the sectional and state finals. Heights will also play host to district golf this season, with state finals in wrestling and sectional basketball long gone.

Big change in baseball tournaments this year is in having four districts in this area with just two schools competing in each.

In the past the state office has attempted to have four schools compete in district, and four in sub-district, the winners meeting for the district title. Bad weather intervened so much in playing all of these games within an eight day period, that the same amount of competition has now been extended over two weeks, with district and regional competition involved.

This should mean an easier schedule for players, coaches and athletic directors in scheduling contests in spite of rain, etc.

The change is right in line with the state office's plans to operate all sports along the same lines of basketball, with district, regional, sectional and finals. That system was used in wrestling for the first time this past winter.

CARD TRACKMEN of Arlington have the golden opportunity to bring home "a whul passel" of trophies from the Hinsdale Relays Saturday, six of them permanently. This is the meet where large traveling trophies are given the winning team of four boys in each event. A school has to win these trophies three times to gain permanent possession.

Heights already has two legs on the 440 frosh relay, 880 frosh-soph relay, shot put, high jump and discus trophies. A win in any of these events will mean these trophies will come home to stay.

Cardinals have won all five of these awards the past two years, and stand a good chance of copping one or two this time. Because these events require so much depth in certain events, just what chance Cardinals have of retaining all five is questionable.

Arlington holds the records in shot, discus and high jump, plus a tie in the high hurdle shuttle.

Of the record holders, Ed Whitelaw and Bob Lockwood will be back in the high jump, Jack Weber in the discus, and Weber, Lockwood, and Whitelaw in the high hurdle shuttle. Arlington boys holding the best individual marks of the meet include Carl Klehm, shot put, 48' 2"; Bill Palmer, high jump, 6'; and Bob Lockwood and Stan Norman, broad jump, 21' 1". Arlington won the relays last year with 102 points, 27 more than second place Glenbard, then went on to win the WSC track championship.

GLENBARD WON the Wheaton Relays, followed by Wheaton, Downers, Hinsdale, Elgin and R-B . . . Winning times were :44.5 high hurdle shuttle, 1:35.3 880 relay, :50.2 frosh 440 relay, :10.5 100, 8:56.0 two mile relay, 3:42.4 mile relay, and :41.5 low hurdle shuttle . . . If you've been around here as long as we have, you'll remember the Palatine Relays record of 12' 7" in the pole vault, set by Merwin of Woodstock in 1935, and still on the record books . . . It's the oldest mark of the meet.

Another Merwin of Woodstock, nephew of the earlier one, placed fifth in the Class B pole vault Saturday, and filled us in on a bit of the background about his uncle.

Palatine's Hale Hildebrandt and Arlington's Wally Grace have once again been asked to officiate in the state tournament May 16 and 17 . . . Hale will probably handle the discus event, while Wally will be at the finish line, stop watch in hand . . . That junior high school relay at the Palatine Relays Saturday was the thought of Hildebrandt, who thought an opportunity of recognition in grade school track should be given . . . It's a way to promote interest in track, already a strong sport at Palatine . . . Winner's time was less than five seconds slower than the winning frosh-soph relay time in spite of the boys wearing tennis shoes, and some of them in street clothes.

Mt. Prospect Pony League Tryouts Again

Mt. Prospect Pony league tryouts, originally scheduled for Sunday, April 27, were postponed because of rain and have been rescheduled for this Saturday and Sunday, May 3 and 4.

All boys registered for the Pony league program in Mt. Prospect should appear at Owens field at 2 p.m. both days. Teams will be formed Monday evening at a special "player auction."

Pony league will play in a league composed of five squads from Mt. Prospect, two from Prospect Heights and one from Wheeling. Each team will play a 21 game slate. (Sp

Little League Umps' Sessions At Arlington

To aid the men who have volunteered to umpire in the Little League program the league is conducting a special training program to teach techniques which have been used successfully by men experienced in the field.

The training sessions will be held in the field house at Recreation Park, Arlington Heights, at 8 p.m. on Thursday evenings of May 8, 15 and 22.

ALL UMPIRES should be present at these sessions. Managers and coaches are invited to attend.

Anyone interested and willing to umpire in Little League is invited to attend the meetings and to call Howard Jarvis at CL 5-5446 to register. (Sp

Arlington Netmen to Open District Play Saturday

Arlington's tennis team will compete in district play this Saturday morning, May 3, at Evanston high school, with Evanston, New Trier, Niles, Maine and Elgin also on hand.

This district is admittedly one of the two toughest in the suburban area. Evanston and New Trier are strong year after year, usually knocking each other out of state title contention in the district.

ARLINGTON tennis is on the upswing. Coaches Ken Schaller and Rick Farris have pushed the sport far forward the past couple of years, with a share of victories coming Heights' way after several lean seasons.

Coach Schaller has entered eight boys with eliminations to the final six to be made the end of this week after more matches. Boys will compete in two singles and two doubles.

JUST WHICH boys will compete where is a question. Here are the eight named as of Tuesday of this week: Thurston Brown, Keith Butterfield, Jim Erickson, Bob Inman, Tom Von Boeckmann, Bruce Law, Warren Myers and Jim Graves.

Drawing for matches will be held at Evanston at 8:30 Saturday morning, with competition slated to start about 9:00.

Gene Dahlquist No-Hitter Starts Sophs' WSC Action

Sophomore Gene Dahlquist hurled a no-hitter Friday as Arlington's young Cards knocked off Downers Grove 4-0 here.

Dahlquist walked 4 in an otherwise perfect contest. Only 22 hitters faced him in 6 innings of play. He fanned 9 opponents and was in trouble only in the third inning.

Meanwhile, Dahlquist's mates were providing him with some cushion. Fred Empkie's single with teammates on first and second base brought home the first run in the second inning.

Arlington sent 7 hitters to the plate in the third frame but managed to score only one, leaving the bases loaded. Gustafson, who singled to start the stanza, advanced on a pair of errors and brought home run number 2.

Blake's triple scored Garafolo, who had walked, in the fourth inning. Blake scored on Gustafson's sacrifice, fixing the final score at 4-0. Lind got the Birdies' final hit in the last of the fifth, a single to left field.

The no-hitter was especially sweet for coach "Bus" Ormsbee's boys since they had been on the other end of a perfect game in their opener this year. In 3 games this season the locals have been involved in two no-hitters.

Arlington's record now stands at 1-2 for the season. This was the first conference encounter for the winners. (Sp

OTHER GAMES in the WSC:
Downers disposed of Glenbard, 11-5, with the game called at the end of five innings because of darkness.

York edged Hinsdale, 2-1, with young Duke twirler Ron Rau striking out 12 in seven innings. He also batted in the first York run.

Lutgens Bests Cards 4-0; Rain Halts Other Action

Lee Magnuson's first inning single proved to be the Arlington Cards' only hit off the offerings of Downers' Ken Lutgens as the Trojans captured a 4-0 victory at home last week.

RAIN CANCELLED Arlington's other scheduled games, leaving the locals with a record of 3 victories and 6 losses for the season and a 3-5 mark in WSC play.

Dennis Thill was the victim of the Downers match, although he hurled a creditable game for the losers. With the exception of the fourth inning, when he hit two and walked one, Thill pitched well enough to win.

DOWNERS GOT its first run in the third inning without registering a hit. A walk and 2 errors provided the unearned score.

Schoenberg's leadoff single started a 2 run rally in the fourth for the victors. Thill proceeded to load the bases and walk one run in. Another tally came on a sacrifice before a double play killed the uprising.

Schoenberg, who got 2 of the Trojans' 3 hits, doubled home the final marker in the fifth inning but was thrown out trying to stretch his drive into a triple.

ARLINGTON'S only serious threat to score came in the top of the sixth. Al Hutchinson walked to start the frame and Dick Nickelsen was safe on an error. However, Magnuson flied to center, Al Sander hit into a forced play, and Zimmerman fanned to end the inning.

Ken Lutgens threw the masterful one-hitter for the winners, striking out 8 Cardinals. Although he hit 3 and walked 2, his catcher, Schoenberg, kept him out of trouble by throwing out 3 would-be stealers. (Sp

THE WINNER of Class A 100 yard dash was LeRoy Jackson of Bloom, with these three West Suburban conference boys coming next. Bob Mors of Arlington finished fourth, Rich Bader of Arlington second and R. Atkinson of LaGrange third.

Maine, Arlington Follow Bloom in Palatine Relays

Both Bloom and Palatine high schools took home the travelling trophies "for keeps" as each won their respective divisions of the Palatine Relays Saturday for the third time.

Bloom's victory in Class "A" marked their third consecutive relay title. Palatine's surprisingly easy Class "B" win was the Pirates' third over a five-year span. The other two wins came in 1954 and 1955.

FOR PALATINE, it will probably be their last Class "B" title since next year the school's enrollment will surpass 1,200 and put the Pirates in Class "A" competition.

Bloom, favored to repeat as the best track team in Illinois, won on the strength of individual efforts as six of seven trackmen came home first in their specialty. 9s a result, Bloom scored 88½ points to 64 for Maine, 58½ for Arlington, and 52¾ for La Grange.

PALATINE SCORED 59 of its 76 points by winning five relays and finishing in a dead heat in the sixth relay. St. Charles, which took early lead following the field events, was second with 46½ points. North Chicago was third with 43½. Thereafter, 14 teams scored two or more points with Crystal Lake heading the list with 27.

Only one record was broken during the day-long affair. Palatine's 400-yard low hurdle relay team knocked 4/10 of a second off the old Class "B" mark of :48.2 set by Naperville in 1952. Palatine's relay team of Bill Sailor, Lloyd Roberts, Jordan Danforth and Ken Gordon skimmed over the lows in :47.8.

PROBABLY MANY more marks would have fallen had not 40 degree weather prevailed throughout the day. Also handicapping the trackmen was a 15 mile per hour wind out of the east.

Even so, nearly 500 fans turned out for the 26th running of the Palatine Relays on Ost field, most of them cheering on the Palatine and Arlington runners.

ARLINGTON'S 880-YARD relay team probably would have topped its previous mark of the year except for the joint-stiffening cold breeze. Bob Lockwood, Dick Bader, Bob Mors, and Bob Yager ran a 1:33.4 half mile, just a half second slower than their best for the season. The Cards' 1:32.9 is the second best 880 run in the state thus far this year.

La Grange's Phil Wooledge ran a 4:40.5 mile, third best in Illinois this year. He topped his previous best of 4:41.7 in besting Lynn Griffin of Bloom by more than five seconds.

STATE DASH champion Leroy Jackson of Bloom ran a :10.1 100-yard dash, just a 1/10 of a second off his best time this year. Arlington's Bader, also one of the state's leading dashmen, finished about three yards behind Jackson.

Bloom's Bob Boling surprised everyone by pushing the shot 54-1. This was the fourth best mark in the state in the 1958 season. In so doing, he beat Maine's Bob Neuman who has the third best state mark at 54-10 and La Grange's John Dostalek who was fourth in the state with a 54-4 heave. Saturday Neuman hit 52-11½ and Dostalek 52-9¾.

BLOOM IN THE 320 high hurdle and La Grange in the 400-yard low hurdle shuttle relays came close to breaking existing records. Both schools were just 1/10 off relay records. Bloom did :43.6 in the highs and La Grange :47.9 in the lows.

Arlington's 880-yard relay team was just 8/10 of a second off the relay record, and its 440-yard frosh-soph relay team of Mike Dundy, Allen Westergard, Dennis Dryjanski, and Tony Stavros gave a good accounting of things to come for the Cards by taking 440 in :46.4.

KEN GORDON'S final burst of speed gave Palatine a dead-heat win with North Chicago in the 320-yard high hurdle shuttle relay. Both teams were just half a second off the mark, being clocked at :44.6.

The most exciting win of the day came late Saturday morning when Jim Eldridge turned on a burst of speed in the last 150 yards to give Palatine the Class "B" two-relay championship in 8:42.7.

ON THE BACKSTRETCH Eldridge also seemed lost, running third, 10 yards off the pace set by Dick Miller of Oregon who finished second in last year's 880 finals in Champaign. Eldridge didn't spend himself until he had the wind at his back. Then he came roaring home to edge Miller by a chest.

The most surprising win of the day was turned in by the Pirates' 440-yard frosh-soph relay team of Bill Smith, Jon Fabri, Tom Wagner and Bill Reisenbuchler. After finishing third to North Chicago and Ottawa in the morning's preliminary, the four Pirates, all of them freshmen, came home a yard in front of Crystal Lake, tied at :47.9.

PALATINE WON both the mile and 880-yard relays in easy fashion. The Pirates were nearly five seconds ahead at the finish line in the mile and nearly two seconds ahead in the 880. Palatine was clocked in 3:36.8 in the mile and 1:36.3 in the 880.

Sycamore's Albrecht took the Class "B" 100 dash in :10.3, nosing out Palatine's Dick Welty by three inches.

Two Pirates captured individual events. Dan Kusek had an easy time in winning the mile in 4:51.6, and Jordan Danforth leaped 20-6½ to win the broad jump.

Arlington was nosed out by inches in the 320-yard high hurdles, finishing just a 1/10 of a second behind Bloom which was just a 1/10 of a second off the relay mark. (Sp

THE CHAMPIONS of Class A of Palatine Relays was Bloom once again, the third year in a row. Palatine high school superintendent G. A. McElroy, microphone in hand, turns over the two big trophies to co-captains LeRoy Jackson and Bob Bolins, while Trojan coach Ralph Steben looks on.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

OUR CONGRATULATIONS to Coach Dick Welty and members of the Palatine high school track team on a decisive victory in the Palatine Relays. Palatine has won the meet 6 times in 26 years and no team ever won in more convincing fashion. The Pirates won or tied for first in every one of the 6 class "B" relays besides taking first in 2 individual events and a second and a third in 2 others.

Palatine won the most trophies ever taken by one team as they won 6 individual relay awards, the championship trophy, and the George Spies traveling trophy permanently by taking it for the third time in 5 years.

It was Palatine's third win under Welty's coaching and the sixth for Palatine. The Pirates won in 1941-42-43 when such stars as Anton Cipri, John Senne, Si Trepus, Bob Hollinger, Ray Hahnfeldt, Dick Stinson, Klaus Timmerhaus, the Field brothers, John Warder, Bob Thieme, Harold Schwolow, Clarence Vogt, Les Guenther, George Cramer, Jim Langhoff, and many other fine athletes were competing.

However every relay event was run faster by the champs of 1958 than in those meets in the early forties and this in spite of extremely cold windy weather.

Palatine's decisive victory was due to an all out superior effort by all the Palatine runners. In the record breaking low hurdle shuttle, as an example, only one hurdler competes in this event regularly but all 4 boys had perfect stride and not a single hurdle was touched. Palatine started off in the morning by taking the 2 mile relay in remarkable time as Capt. Jim Eldridge came from behind to break the tape in a final lunge and win by inches over Oregon. This seemed to set the pace for the Palatine team.

PALATINE WILL GO after more trophies this week in the big DeKalb meet Saturday with a good chance, if last week's effort can be repeated. The Pirates should also get some boys in the state meet if they do not rest on their laurels as some athletes have been known to do after winning the Palatine meet. Palatine has an especially good chance in the mile relay in the state district as well as in the mile, 880, broad jump, and 100 yard dash individual events.

Dick Welty, son of the Palatine coach, is the most improved member of the Pirate track squad.

Last year Welty, who is now a junior, could not run the 100 yard dash under :10.7. This year he can consistently hit :10.4 or better. His best has been :10.2 for a new Palatine record, breaking the :10.3 set in the Palatine Relays many years ago by Bob Theime. Welty was barely nosed out of first in the individual 100 yard dash Saturday by Albrecht of Sycamore.

BLOOM LOOKED GOOD winning class "A" but does not have the individual class of a year ago. Their 880 and mile relay teams were beaten by Arlington and Maine, respectively. Leroy Jackson may win both the 100 and 220 yard dashes in the state and Homer Thurman is a high jump and broad jump standout.

Bob Boling put the shot 54' and John Persiana vaulted 11' against a stiff cold wind, cutting his height by at least a foot.

Ed West and Charles Thomas in the 880 and Lynn Griffin in the mile are state meet possibilities. Coach Ralph Stebbin has won the Palatine Relays and then the state meet the past 2 seasons and is on the way to a third state title with his colored boys from Bloom.

ONE OF THE GREATEST pieces of humor . . . dry humor . . . we have ever read on the old argument over intercollegiate athletics appears in the publication, College English:

Dear Coach Musselman:

Remembering our discussion of your football men who are having troubles in English, I have decided to ask you, in turn, for help.

We feel that Paul Spindles, one of our most promising scholars, has a chance for a Rhodes Scholarship, which would be a great thing for him and for our college. Paul has the academic record for this award, but we find that the aspirant is also required to have other excellences, and ideally should have a good record in athletics. Paul is weak. He tries hard, but he has trouble in athletics.

We propose that you give some special consideration to Paul as a varsity player, putting him, if possible, in the backfield of the football team. In this way, we can show a better college record to the committee deciding on the Rhodes Scholarships. We realize that Paul will be a problem on the field, but—as you have often said—cooperation between our department and yours is highly desirable.

During intervals of study we shall coach him as much as we can. His work in English Club and on the debate team will force him to miss many practices, but we intend to see that he carries an old football around to bounce (or whatever one does with a football) during intervals in his work.

We expect Paul to show entire goodwill in his work for you, and though he will not be able to begin football practice until late in the season, he will finish with good attendance.

Benjamin Plotinus
Chairman,
English Department

OUR THANKS to the faithful group which works year after year at the finish line at the Palatine Relays. This included Wally Grace, athletic director of Arlington, Sam England, athletic director of Leyden, Milt Sprunger, assistant secretary of the state association; Homer Sweasy, sporting goods executive; Tony Sacco, basketball-football official; Leighton Mangels, Palatine school board member; Richard Warfield, superintendent of Wauconda schools; Dick Barton of Palatine and former Big Ten 880 champ at Michigan; and Marsh Miller of Palatine who set a state record in the 440 of :48.5 years ago, competing at Maine under Sam Marzula who was starter of Saturday's meet.

As usual, manager J. E. Stutzman, Hale Hildebrandt and Howard Stinson; the Palatine coaches and teachers; and loyal people of the community; collaborated to make the meet run off smoothly and finish in record time on a cold windy day, typical for a spring in Chicagoland.

10 YEARS AGO: Grant, a team without a track, won the "B" class in the Palatine Relays when both Palatine and Princeton lost first places in relays and 10 points by disqualifications. A too fast touchoff in the low hurdle shuttle cost Palatine the meet. Palatine lost also in 1940 when a relay team dropped the baton out of the passing zone. Grant had 30½ points, Palatine 29, Batavia 28½, Mooseheart 26, and Princeton 25 . . . Arlington won class "A" with 60 ahead of Niles 52 1/7.

Arlington and Niles tied at a new frosh-soph relay record of :46.5. Arlington competitors were August Krause, Bob Packard, George Kovacik, and Gordon Busse . . . Fred Becker of Grant scored 15½ points by winning the 100 and broad jump and running on 4 relay teams. A total of 29 schools competed.

20 YEARS AGO: Burleigh of Grant won 5 first places as his team beat Palatine 76-51 . . . Palatine firsts were by Hollinger, Nangle, Senne and Freise . . . Elgin beat Arlington 93-34 but Milligan of the Cards set a school high jump record of 5' 10" . . . Robert Busse, Mt. Prospect soph, allowed 2 hits and fanned 11 as Arlington beat Warren in baseball 8-2. Carl Granzin got 2 doubles and a single. Henry Buesing allowed Niles 3 hits and shut them out 7-0 as O'Hagen connected for 2 singles.

Naperville won Class "A" at the Palatine Relays but won only one first place. Arlington was third and Lake Forest second. Geneva won the "B" class with 49 points to Grant's 22¾. Gallery of Bensenville won the mile at 4:53 . . . Zacco of Geneva set the best of 6 records high jumping 6' 2", a mark due to stand for many years. Palatine was fifth in class "B" . . . Dufault of Grant scored 11 points and O'Hara of Lake Forest 10. There were 19 schools competing in the meet which is growing year by year since its start in 1933.

Arlington Netmen Top La Grange, York

Card Frosh-Soph Runners Defeat Glenbrook by 64

Arlington frosh-soph trackmen found Glenbrook to their liking last week, 89-25, with the young Cardinals copping all but two firsts, plus a tie for first. Turek won the 100 for the Spartans in :10.9. Kafka took the low hurdles for Glenbrook in :23.4. Slayton of Glenbrook and Tony Stavros of Arlington tied in the high jump at 4'10".

Otherwise, it was all Arlington with ten different boys taking the ten blue ribbons. Mike Field won the high hurdles in :18. Chuck Phelan took the 880 in 2:17.3. Mike Dundy copped the 440 in :53.6.

YOUNG CARDS won both relays in 1:43 and 3:52.6. Bud Terbell won the mile in 5:08.6. Dennis Dryjanski copped the 220 in 2:46. Jeff Fahrner won the uncontested pole vault, with Stavros tying the high jump.

It was Keith Grams in the broad jump at 18'9½", Darryl Phillips the discus at 105'8" and Ralph Roller the shot at 39'. Arlington tallied grand slams in shot, discus and the mile.

ND Wins Baseball, Golf, Loses Track

by LARRY PAKYZ

Inclement weather curtailed much of the baseball scheduled this past week at Notre Dame. However, the varsity managed to play three games, beating Waukegan 8 to 1 and Elmwood Park 5 to 3 but losing to Lake Park 5 to 2. In spite of two brilliant pitching performances, the frosh-sophs were only able to win one of their two games played last week.

Dave Brodnan of Arlington Heights pitched a one-hitter against Elmwood Park but lost the game by a score of 2-1 due to errors in the field. Bob Calamari of Morton Grove followed against Lake Park high, also pitching a one-hitter, striking out 15 batters and winning by a wide margin of 16-1. The freshmen participated in only one contest, winning their first game of the season by putting across seven runs in the last inning to beat Elmwood Park 7-5.

THE VARSITY has four games scheduled for this coming week.

Friday, May 2—Wells, there.

Monday, May 5—Immaculate Conception of Elmhurst, there.

Wednesday, May 7—Joliet Catholic, here.

Friday, May 9—Maryville, there.

The frosh-soph team has no games scheduled but the freshmen have the following two:

Tuesday, May 6—Leyden, there

Wednesday, May 7—Joliet Catholic, here.

NOTRE DAME'S golf team was victorious over Lake Park by a score of 8-7 after being defeated by Glenbrook last Thursday. Mike Sweeney of Arlington Heights and Mike Starshak of Mt. Prospect along with Dan Conway of Prospect Heights were members who shot in the eighties.

Although Notre Dame's inexperienced thinclads did not gain any points in the Palatine Relays last Saturday, they will compete in the Waukegan Relays Thursday, May 1, and in the Mooseheart Relays Saturday, May 9. Ken Semnitore of Stonegate was a member of the relay team who won its heat at Palatine.

WITH FORMATION of the Notre Dame rifle club, marksmen now have an opportunity to demonstrate their skill while under safe shooting conditions and competent supervision. The newly formed club consists of about 60 members divided into several groups, so that all will have an equal opportunity to shoot without overtaxing facilities or sacrificing safety.

Since the club is now affiliated with the NRA, the club's members are eligible to compete in NRA matches, gain awards and certificates of accomplishment and to purchase rifles and ammunition at special NRA discounts. "Safety with firearms is the most emphasized factor of the club's program," said faculty advisor Rev. LeRoy Clementich under whose supervision this club will progress. (Sp

Lake Park Golfers Lose

Lake Park golfers bowed to Notre Dame last week, 8-7, at Rob Roy country club, with the two schools breaking even in the frosh-soph half of the match.

Low man for Coach Jerry Carpenter's Lancers was Terry Sopko with a 63 in 14 holes. All of the varsity matches went just 14 holes, Gene Volkman also took 3 points for Lake Park with a 68. Jay Kelley was on the short end of a 2-1 count with a 72.

THE WINNERS for the frosh-sophs were Wolf and Sievert. Conway and Starshak were winners for Notre Dame. Lake Park losers were Stevenson and Knyal with Reading and Ogle the losers for Dotre Dame.

Kinander and Christiansen bowed for Lake Park varsity, with Sweeney and Ramsay doing the same for Notre Dame. Notre Dame winners were Busscher, Orsi and Burgereau. (Sp

Gain Even Split

Lake Park diamondmen edged Notre Dame last week, 5-4, with the Lancer frosh-sophs bowing, 12-1.

Marshall singled in the third for Coach Mickey Lile, eventually touring the bases for the locals' first run. In the fourth Bergin walked, Reeves singled, and Rubin doubled to drive in the two runs.

HE SCORED, too, on an error with Hacke then singling. He later scored to give Lake Park what proved to be the winning margin.

Notre Dame tallied 4 runs in the fourth on a single by Keenly, walk to Bordes, double by Bachmann and a double by Knittle.

FROSH-SOPH game was a lopsided one with Notre Dame scoring a singleton in the first, four in the third, two in the fourth and five in the fifth. Only Lake Park run was tallied in the sixth when Siegbahn singled and Raney doubled. (Sp

Redwings Combine With Black's Boosters for '58

by RANDY THOMAS

For the third time since 1952, the Arlington Heights Redwings will launch their annual summer baseball campaign with a new manager.

Not only will they have a new manager in youthful Lloyd Meyer, himself a former Redwing, but chances are the Redwings will have a new title and won't even be Redwings when they open shop against Moran Supply May 11.

As confusing as the above paragraph may seem, the whole mess is factual.

THE SITUATION was brought about in July 1956 when Dave Ryden and Arlington funeral home director Dick Black huddled and together came up with the name Black's Boosters, expressly adapted for the purpose of providing a baseball team for local talent who couldn't make the Redwings.

Dick Black
Instigator

The Blacks split ten games in '56, winning five and losing five. They really swung into high gear in '57 when 45 games were scheduled in an attempt to supplant the Redwings as the town's lone representative. At the conclusion of last year's action both clubs were still around and nothing very definite had been settled. News soon came through that Bud Blumenthal, Redwing manager, was moving and the club would break up, leaving only the Blacks. Exactly that happened, but too much Redwing talent was going to waste so Blumenthal named Meyer successor to his throne and then Meyer combined with Randy Thomas, Booster head, to form the 1958 organization that will be known as Black's Boosters.

THE BOOSTERS have replaced the Wings in the Greater Midwest semi-pro league and also in Arlington, which had known only the Redwings for the past 50 years.

Managing ball clubs will not be a new experience for Meyer, who had extremely successful American Legion teams in '51, '52 and '53 before departing for a 2-year, all-expense paid trip to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He returned in the spring of '56 well rested and married and tackled the Legion job for the next two seasons, relinquishing his command in favor of Dave Lynk in 1958.

Lloyd Meyer
New Boss

IN THIS initial year as skipper of a semi-pro club, his job will not be nearly as tough as was Blumenthal's in '55 when he began with absolutely nothing. Meyer will be aided by the return of six Wings from the near championship squad of 1957 that won 20 of 30 games. Including himself, he has righthander Dick Bokelmann, shortstop Tony Esposito, versatile Bill Sprinzc, who can play anyplace and outfielders Bill Shepps and Arlington high teacher Lou Schiers.

From the Boosters, Meyer has gained six players plus sponsor Black. Outfielders Dan Vittum, the leader in about every department last year, Ron Ashley, Bob Getts and manager Thomas, who is handier with a typewriter than with a bat, despite his .260 plus mark last season, comprise a quartet of handy personnel that can perform equally well at just about any spot on the diamond.

In addition to these assets, the fortunate new manager who is expecting his third child in May (a boy he hopes), can expect John Sujack and Bob Miller, both effective hurlers last season against formidable opposition to be a big aid to Bokelmann. For the past three seasons the former St. Louis Cardinal has been the pitching staff of the Redwings.

QUITE A BIT of the club's success will rest on the shoulders of three newcomers. Centerfielder Bill Suthurland, new to Arlington but an old pro who has been a standout in league play the past three years, brings a .300-plus batting average to town. With one of the strongest and most accurate arms in the league, Bill was acquired during the winter from the Oak Park Sox that broke up because of insufficient funds.

Newcomer
Bill Suthurland

Ray Thonn, Sox first baseman, currently completing his last year at Illinois is the second newcomer, but no stranger to the strong league that has carded 21 games apiece for the eight teams. Third baseman Brad Taylor is the only one of the three without prior experience in the Greater Midwest that includes the defending champion Skokie Indians, Black's Boosters, Kolski Boosters, Chicago Vets, all three finishing in a tie for second in '57.

MORAN SUPPLY and three new clubs that have been among the "cream of the crop" in Illinois baseball for the past several seasons, Cavilinni Villa Nova, Kenny Construction, and the powerful amateur ball club, the Chicago Yankees, make up the rest of the league.

With winter apparently not far off again, it's difficult to comment on the club's future as poor weekend weather has hampered full team drills. However, a practice tilt with the Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce is set for this Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in Recreation Park as a final tuneup for the league opener a week later.

Football Game Saturday At NU

Northwestern's 1958 football team will be unveiled publicly in a full-scale intrasquad game that will climax spring practice in Dyche stadium Saturday, May 3. Admission will be $1.

The game will also highlight Northwestern's second annual two-day coaching clinic which will be attended by several hundred high school and college coaches. Speakers at the clinic which will start Friday morning are Ara Parseghian, Northwestern; Dan Devine, Missouri; Bill Hess, Ohio University, and Ray Graves, Georgia Tech. (Sp

Prep Track Honor Roll

by BILL BECKMAN

The weather of the past weekend in the northern part of the state did nothing to help lower the marks in the state. Conditions last Saturday being far from ideal found the large relay meets at Palatine and Waukegan showing little in the way of outstanding individual performances. This did not appear to be the case in central Illinois where several outstanding individual performances were turned in.

The big meets on tap this coming weekend are the Hinsdale relays, Mooseheart relays and the DeKalb meet. Contestants and coaches are hoping for a return of the warm balmy weather of the last several weeks.

SEVERAL NEW leaders appear on this week's honor roll. Ballinger of Mooseheart, defending state champion in the mile, ran a 1:58.7 in the 880 to lead this field. Mullen of Mt. Carroll tops the mile with a 4:34.9. Terry DeWitt, the California transfer competing for Galesburg burned the track with a :14.8 to regain the leadership in the high hurdles.

It looks as though Jeff Gaines of Mattoon has found his last season's form as he has the best mark in the high jump with a 6' 3". Joe Connelly of Heyworth continues to improve his shot put distance with a 56' 8½" at the Normal relays last week. The Centralia mile relay team replace the Oak Park Huskies in this event with a fine 3:30.4 effort.

WITH THE STATE meet two weeks away we find that defending state champion Bloom does not appear to be as powerful as last year. Bloom has men on the state honor roll in seven of the individual events and has both relay teams represented.

However, it looks as though the Trojans will have to rely heavily on the fleet legs of LeRoy Jackson and on their field men such as the Boling brothers in the weights, Thurman in the high jump and broad jump, and Ed West in the hurdles and 880. There's no doubt that Jackson is the key to the successful defense of this crown.

Stock Car Races At O'Hare Sunday

Fast and furious new and late models and daredevil amateurs are scheduled to get the 1958 stock car racing season off to an exciting start this Sunday afternoon, May 4, at O'Hare Stadium, the only speedway in the northwest Chicago area. Gates will open at 12 noon with the first race at 2:30 p.m.

Launching its third year of speed activities under the ownership-promotion of Bill Cherney and Tex Wooten, prominent Chicagoland manufacturers, O'Hare Stadium is a highly banked, quarter-mile asphalt oval on Mannheim rd., just south of Irving Park rd. and only a few minutes from Windy City limits.

Old Orchard Scratch League Opens Friday

Old Orchard Scratch League held its inaugural meeting for 1958 at the Old Orchard Country club Friday, April 25.

Main topics of business were the picking of teams and the adoption of a set of by-laws governing the league's activities. Due to increased membership, the league was expanded from ten to twelve teams; and each team, from four to five men.

means
BETTER USED CARS

Here's why you'll want one of our All Square guaranteed used cars—

BETTER CARED-FOR—these autos were owned by carwise owners—the kind that keep their cars in good shape.

BETTER CONDITION—after we took them in, we had trained mechanics inspect them, give them a 33-point reconditioning, then check them with a final road test.

BETTER VALUE—our used-car operation is a necessary part of our new-car selling—so we price all our buys for quick turnover, not for big profit. Your present car will more than cover the down payment in most cases.

BETTER ASSURANCE — our higher-grade used automobiles are all sold under our All Square used-car policy —which means:

(1) Reconditioned for appearance, performance, safety.
(2) Road-tested for a double check after reconditioning
(3) Dealer Guarantee covers car firmly for 30 days
(4) Customer satisfaction same as new-car buyers

For an honest value in a beautiful buy—see us first!

The Last Real Estate Tax Bill Was Pretty Rugged wasn't it?

If you have $5,000 more or less to pay down, should you own a home or buy an apartment building?

Let's Analyze The Facts:

A $25,000 home with $5,000 down will cost $137.58 per month including principal and interest for 20 years at 5½%. At the end of 20 years you will own a home free and clear and that represents a great deal of security. However, it would cost you a great deal more to live in this home per month if you include taxes and maintenance. This brings up a question—Can you afford a home under present and continued inflation and rising real estate taxes?

Let's see what owning an apartment building will do for you in providing more security, income and how you might beat inflation and rising real estate taxes. Almost everyone today anticipates the problem of living on a fixed pension, social security or income from investments. It is possible that a pension of $200 per month today will provide adequate living. However, if inflation continues, what will $200 per month buy in 1965? Most experts believe that inflation will continue and therefore the $200 per month could shrink to $100 in actual purchasing value. It is our belief that rather than invest in a home, or even owning a home, you will be better off to buy an apartment building whereby you can keep pace with inflation and/or rising costs.

According to experts, there is an increasing demand for rentals in the suburban areas and they say that this trend will continue many years to come.

We have worked for one solid year on planning and designing these 3-apt. units. They are most unusual because they do not look like row houses or ordinary apartments. We get the most for the least by good planning plus quality construction.

Assuming that if you purchased this apartment building with only $5,000 down, your total monthly payments would be $349.67 including princ. and interest. If you rented two apts. for $160 per unit on a temporary basis, your total outlay would be $29.67 per month for the whole bldg. excluding taxes and insurance.

Again let's assume that you would live in one unit yourself, and that you took full advantage of depreciation, taxes, etc. on your income tax. We have figures that will substantiate that you could live in the 3rd unit yourself for less than $125 per month including taxes, upkeep and insurance.

All units are self-contained insofar as heat, light, etc. We will give you bona-fide renters to rent all of the units on a 3-year basis from $160 to $175 per month. All units will be in top locations so as to insure top rentals for years to come.

Our last ad in this paper regarding these apartments had tremendous response, which indicates that there are a large number of people who are thinking about their present as well as their future problems. If you are subjected to limited income, rising costs and many of the facts that we have pointed out, why not come in and talk it over.

Get Tools Ready for Gardening

Gardening season will soon be here. Soon enough, in fact, for farmers and town gardeners to get gardening tools ready.

O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois, says that local gardeners should be sure to replace split or broken handles on tools and to tape splintered handles so that they won't harvest a bad crop of accidents this year.

Go over all equipment. Repair, sharpen, and cover it with grease to prevent rusting. If you don't have a good storage rack, build one in the farm shop or garage to keep garden tools where you can find them when needed.

Once the gardening season begins, be sure to put scythes, sickles, hoes and other cutting tools away immediately after use. Hang or store them where no one will bump into them or be hurt if the tool should fall.

Get into the practice of doing things the right way. The right way is the safe way. (Fm

Announce '58 Palsy Campaign

Northwest suburban chairmen have been announced for the Cerebral Palsy drive to be held in May.

During the month, over 25,000 volunteers in Chicago and suburbs will be working toward a campaign goal of $300,000. The goal represents the amount needed to carry on services and research for the cerebral palsied in the Chicago area.

MOST OF THE FUNDS will be raised during a one-night house-to-house solicitation on Tuesday, May 20, between 6 and 9 p.m.

Local chairmen include:

Mrs. Emil Roeske, 407 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights; Mrs. Michael J. Treinen, 511 S. William, Mount Prospect; Mrs. Edward Fritzsche, 202 S. Forest, Palatine; Mrs. Oscar Schumacher, 303 E. Clarendon, Prospect Heights; and Mrs. N. Daniel Wallner, 3627 S. Wren, Rolling Meadows.

Many of the more than 18,000 men, women and children in the Chicago area handicapped by cerebral palsy need medical care, therapy, residential care, counseling and special recreation, noted drive chairman Howard S. Cartwright. (B8

University Aids Sweet Corn Crop

Commercial sweet corn growers, as well as home gardeners who raise a few roasting ears, can now benefit from the work of University of Illinois vegetable crops researchers.

C. Y. Arnold and his associates are helping to perfect a system of determining harvest dates for sweet corn before the corn is planted. Known as the "heat unit theory," this system helps the sweet corn grower predict when his crop will reach top eating quality. This is often a problem because sweet corn passes through its range of top quality in only a day or two. And this system helps the home gardener space his corn plantings in such a way that only a few ears will mature at one time.

For canning companies, the heat unit theory also is a guide for spacing corn plantings. The system will eliminate the old problem of having several fields ripen at the same time—causing processing companies to work day and night harvesting the corn while it is at its peak of maturity.

Can manufacturing companies can also use the heat unit theory. The system will serve as a guide to their production by predicting when canning companies will need cans.

Arnold explains that, although the heat unit theory is not new, it still has some "bugs" and doesn't work perfectly. He and his colleagues are trying to work out some of these problems. But before the problems can be explained, the heat unit theory must be explained. (Fm

Tapazole for Feed Needs More Testing

Tapazole needs more experimental work before it can be recommended to feeders.

G. R. Carlisle, extension livestock specialist at the University of Illinois, points out that trials so far reported using Tapazole in cattle-feeding programs have been short. One was 56 days and the other 79 days.

However, in both of these short feeding trials at the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station, Tapazole stimulated gains more in the first month of the test than later, Carlisle says.

In these two tests, Tapazole increased gains by 9 and 12 per cent and reduced feed costs 7 and 8 per cent. Average daily gains in the two tests during the first 28 days were 2.38 pounds for the control lot compared with 3.75 pounds for the cattle getting Tapazole. Averages for the second 28 days were 3.54 pounds for the controls and 3.12 for the Tapazole lots, and for the final 23 days, 2.38 pounds for the controls and 2.73 pounds for the Tapazole cattle.

Tapazole is a synthetic chemical that represses the secretion of the thyroid gland, Carlisle reports. It has been used in human medicine in overactive thyroid cases. (Fm

Is Water Adequate For Fires?

In case of fire, will your water system be ready to help you fight it?

If your answer is no or maybe, it might pay you to make some changes. Farmers especially need a good water system to control a fire until the fire department arrives, warns O. L. Hogsett, University of Illinois extension safety specialist.

The most common water system failure at the time of a fire occurs in the wiring system to the pump. If the lines carrying electricity to the pump are broken or burned in two, the pump does not work.

The best remedy is an independent power supply for the pump. If your meter is on a pole, run a separate circuit from the meter pole to the sump pit or house, and keep it away from buildings.

If your meter is on the house, perhaps you should replan your farmstead wiring. A central distribution pole will probably help you get more uses from the electricity, in addition to making it easier to run an independent circuit to your pumps.

Your local power company service engineer can help you plan a modernized wiring system.

TNT Club Names Dinner Committee

TNT 4-H club's ninth meeting was held April 14 at Pat Horn's home and committees were appointed for the forthcoming mother-daughter banquet. Also, progression of Share-of-the-Fun acts was reported to the club.

"Making a Pie," was the title given to Judy Wille and Carol Loeding's demonstration illustrating the correct and incorrect method of giving a good demonstration.

CLOVER MITES

I have had numerous calls lately concerning tiny dark red and almost black specks crawling on window sills, baseboards, and the doors of houses. These are clover mites. They feed on grass, clover and weeds in the lawn, but they do not feed on clothing, draperies, curtains, rugs, or foodstuffs, nor do they bite people. They are a nuisance only.

Control

Clean up the infestation inside the house with a vacuum cleaner. Treat infested areas, such as window sills, baseboards, etc. with a pyrethrum containing aerosol bomb, holding the nozzle about six inches from the treated surface. Repeat frequently.

Treat outside as indicated below:

1. Remove grass and weeds next to the foundation, leaving a strip of bare soil at least 18 inches wide. This strip can be replanted to such flowers as zinnia, marigold, chrysanthemum, rose and salvia which do not attract clover mites.

2. Apply one of the following treatments to the foundation and wall up to the window and to the lawn extending out from the house.

a. Dust heavily with Aramite or Chlorobenzilate

b. Spray heavily with Aramite 15-W or Chlorobenzilate 25-W at the rate of 8 pounds per 100 gallons of water.

2-4 D FOR WEEDS

If you have broadleaf weeds in your lawn such as dandelion, plantain, chickweed, etc. an application or two of 2-4D Spray, Amine type will get rid of these weeds for you. It may be necessary to repeat the application in about 10 days. Do not get the spray material near your flowers for it will kill them also. Use the Amine instead of Ester type for it is not nearly as dangerous.

TIP FOR THE WEEK

For your 1958 corn, seriously consider minimum tillage such as plow planting or tractor wheel planting. Several years of experimental work on minimum tillage indicates it is as good as conventional seedbed preparation and planting.

For the young research worker who didn't live during the draft horse age, minimum tillage is new, but, for the people who have farmed with horses, minimum tillage is not new. It was not because we wanted to use it, but because we had to in order to get the job done. The horses could not furnish enough power to prepare a good seed bed, so we plowed the ground, harrowed it once, and planted the corn. Harvest was usually good. It was a minimum tillage practice.

How times have changed, even in farming! (Fm

Alternate Grazing Gets More Milk

Alternate grazing systems help to produce more milk at lower cost.

Leo Fryman, extension diary specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says that this system insures plenty of succulent green grass and legume. And there's a direct connection between the amount of forage cows eat and their milk production.

Divide your pastures into fields the size your herd will graze off in about a week, Fryman suggests. Forage yields can be as much as 15 to 25 per cent higher in alternate grazing systems than in continuous grazing on the same pastures.

Higher yields under alternate grazing may give surplus forage early in the pasture season, the dairy specialist points out. But it can be put into silage or hay to be fed later in the summer when hot weather cuts into pasture yields.

Corn Prices Make Good Recovery Since Harvest

by L. H. SIMERL

Corn prices have made good recovery since harvest. The rise amounts to about 20 cents a bushel, starting from around $1.00 for No. 2 corn at the low. It puts prices at about the same level as prevailed last spring and summer. Future price trends will be dominated by sales of government corn, but some other factors are important.

ILLINOIS FARMERS have less corn. You can see a lot of cob piles and empty cribs on Illinois farms, but this picture may be misleading because of other changes. For example, while Illinois farmers have less corn than they had a year ago, almost everybody else has more.

Illinois farm stocks of corn on April 1 totaled 291 million bushels. This was 15 per cent less than the year before, but 23 per cent more than the average for 10 years. While the reduction in farm stocks from the year before amounted to some 43 million bushels, it was largely offset by a reduction in the amount under price support. Thus the amount available on Illinois farms for feeding and sale was not much different from that of a year before.

TOTAL FARM stocks larger. Total U. S. farm stocks of corn were slightly larger on April 1 this year than last, and less corn was tied up under price support. Stocks were estimated at 1,673 million bushels which was three per cent more than the year before and 22 per cent more than the 10-year average. But since less corn has been put under price support this year, the amount on farms available for feeding and sale is around 5 per cent more than it was a years ago.

Biggest increases in corn supplies over a year ago are in Nebraska and Iowa. Most other states west of the Mississippi River also have more corn. States having less than last year include Minnesota and Missouri and almost every state east of the Mississippi River. Thus there is a strong demand for Illinois corn from states to the east and south.

UNCLE SAM ALSO has more corn. The amount of corn owned by the CCC on March 26 was estimated at 1,056 million bushels, or 22 per cent more than the year before. Though its stocks are larger, the CCC has sold less since last Oct. 1 than it sold a year earlier. Sales to March 19 amounted to 100 million bushels, one-fourth less than last year. The reduction in sales has been in the domestic market, since more has been sold for export.

MARKET PRICE TOPS low support level. Although recent market prices of corn were about the same as those of a year before, they were considerably higher in relation to price support levels. A year ago the support for compliance corn was $1.50 and for non-compliance corn, $1.25. This year it is $1.40 for compliance corn and $1.10 for non-compliance corn. Thus a market price of $1.20 a year ago was 5 cents under the low support, while now it is 10 cents above.

The relatively higher market price for corn in Illinois this year reflects a stronger demand from the eastern and southern states and reduced sales by the CCC. If prices rise much more, many farmers who complied with acreage allotments in 1957 will wish they had planted more corn. Compliance with 1958 allotments may be small. Price support for the 1958 crop will be not less than $1.36 for compliance corn. (Fm

Pure Milk Association Objects To Cut In Dairy Support Prices

Secretary Benson's cut in dairy supports to 75% on April 1 is strongly objected to by the milk industry. Martin C. Meyer, president of District 7 of Pure Milk association has brought to Paddock Publications a statement from Walter E. Winn, president of the Pure Milk Association, which acts as the bargaining agent for dairy farmers of the Chicago area.

The association has 15,000 members. District No. 7 of which Mr. Meyer is president has 647 members. Mr. Meyer says that the cut made by Benson seriously affects the economic position of the farmers who are responsible for an adequate milk supply to the the Chicago market. Winn's statement follows:

"The announcement by the Secretary of a reduction in dairy support prices on April 1 to 75% of parity comes as no surprise to the industry. It is entirely in line with his previously oft-stated belief that adjustment of the farm price was the answer to surplus production. Under lowered prices, production is supposed to decrease and consumption increase. With some farm commodities this is true. It depends on the ease with which a change can be made to some other product at the farm level and the response to price change at the consumer level.

"Dairy products are the most "inelastic" of all farm products in both respects. Proof is plainly evident in the record of the last six years. 1952 ended a 10-year period where dairy products were in short supply or in balance, and prices relatively high. They were at 102% of parity in 1952. The surplus production since that time has averaged less than 3% on a per capita basis. But prices were at 83% of parity in 1957. These lowered prices at the farm did not reduce production which has increased each year since 1952.

"The principal reason for this is the difficulty a dairyman has in changing his line of farming. He has tremendous investments in barns, milk house and dairy equipment that are usable for no other line of farming. His herd may represent years of building and breeding.

"Facing a lowered price, he must do one of two things . . . quit the dairy business completely and absorb his investment loss, or expand. Both actions are being taken. 39,000 dairymen in Illinois quit in the last 4 years. The rate of dairy farmers leaving the business has been 4% a year — twice the rate for all of agriculture. Those who stay in the business have had to step up production sharply to meet expenses. Their increase has more than offset the loss of those who retired.

"Even so, the average hourly income on dairy farms as reported in Wisconsin and Michigan in recent years is less than 50c per hour. Under these conditions, is it reasonable to ask dairymen to adjust faster than they are now doing with another 8% cut in price?

"The story of sales is equally interesting. In the Chicago market our average price was reduced from $4.51 in 1952 to $3.47 in 1954, when supports were first lowered, and $3.69 last year (1956). In some of the eastern and southern markets where prices are much higher, no such reduction in the farm price occurred, as these markets are not so responsive to changes in the manufactured milk support prices. For example, fluid milk prices in New England were quoted for November at $6.84 compared with $4.15 in Chicago. The proposed 23c reduction in April will only widen this gap between the east and midwest.

"What makes the dairy farmer here most unhappy is that there has been no increase in sales to compensate for his loss in price. The reported per capita consumption in 1956 was the lowest of all record despite the large sacrifice in the dairy farmer's price for milk. In fact, fluid milk retail prices are higher, not lower, nationally, than they were in 1952.

"There is little in the record of the past to indicate that the proposed reduction of 23c in dairy product support prices will do anything but worsen the economic conditions of those dairy farmers in the midwest where low income per hour and per farm are a real hardship today." (Farm Page
